Message received from CCS draws attention to world wide known institute of agriculture at Rome address Villa Umberto I. Villa is property of King and contains valuable library records and equipment latter being property of Institutes 76 member nations. It is hoped that building may be used in due course by interim commission of permanent United Nations Food Commission founding of which has been decided on by first international food conference held Hot Springs. Requested therefore by CCS that subject to exigencies of military situation appropriate steps be taken when Rome is occupied to preserve Villa Umberto intact as far as possible. Stated that enemy is believed to be making pretence of keeping institute in operation. Request your assurance on matter.
