Capt. Drage -

Came in today to report on the Castellammare situation. Here are the highlights:

1. Villa Lucia - 9 beds with mattresses. Complete - 10 additional beds in servants quarters.
2. Villa Pagliaro - 10 beds. not yet furnished - will be furnished in three or four days - ~~some~~ laundry furniture, etc. from Naples. If speed is desired, transportation will have to be furnished. Pottery can be the same until all material has been brought from Naples.

The following villas are being held in reserve by the Town Major:

- Villa Sylvia - 4 beds - more or less ready for occupancy.
- Villa Lucia (farm house) - fair - Town Major says possibly get furnished - will be furnished in three or four days - ~~some~~ ^{some} ~~laundry~~ furniture, etc from Naples. If speed is desired, transport will have to be furnished. Proletarian current the shade until all material has been brought from Naples.

The following Villas are being held in reserve by the Town

Mayor:

Villa Sylvia - 4 beds - more or less ready for occupancy.

Villa Lucia (farm-house) - fair - no beds - Town Mayor says possibility of getting beds from Hospital.

Villa Caputo - occupied by refugees from Naples.

The Villa Curia is the 1889-modern building in the vicinity of the Pagani & Lucia Villa. After an discussion with the Staff Capt. J.
105-90.90. - I believe that the Brigades can still receive this via at present only the base out is occupied by troops and ~~there~~ there is no ground plan. This is merely a troop (Battery) HQ. the only communication would be the moving telephone (signal) equipment. — there are several units in vicinity of Eniweth which could be used as Troop HQ. ~~there~~ then people know all of their equipment — set — men, etc. This fact has been reported to Col.

 Albrecht. I shall try to catch you in my paper today.

Capt. Kluge

CASTELLAMARE, IT Y.

17 Jan 1944.

I, the undersigned certify that the attached list is a true inventory of the articles and accommodation contained in the Villa Lucia, CASTELLAMARE, ITALY.

As administrator of the estate of Principe Rufulo, the owner of the Villa Lucia, I understand that not one of the articles listed are to be removed by the owner without the consent of the Allied Governments. I further understand that moving any of the listed articles would subject the owner to prosecution. I further understand that the Allied Governments are responsible for all articles listed.

I further agree to release to the occupants of the Villa Lucia when necessary such kitchen utensils, crockery, bed linen, and table linen, which I have in my possession, as is necessary.

I further understand that the Allied Governments are not responsible for articles locked in cabinets, the keys of which are in the possession of the owner.

Luigi Cavarale

Administrator,
Estate Principe Rufulo.

Col. Moss. Vernon,

I am sending you the original of the Inventory of the Villa Lucia.
The Administrator has one copy,
the Town Major one, and one will be sent by the Town Major
to the Claim Office.

The Villa
Paglari has is being put in shape.
It should be ready by Friday or Sat.

Col. Rathbarn
telephoned, yesterday in my presence. Apparently I am to carry on until relieved by Capt. Jones. I explained the situation of the Villa Euriethi to Col. Albright. There is a remote chance that he may ask for a reconsideration of the Villa.

I have found two Villa which may suit the purposes of the Advisory Council, the Villa Capiero and the Villa Lucia (another of the same name); however,
it may be advisable to wait for action on these until Capt. Jones takes over.

An odd circumstance: Capt Jones (if he is the one I know) was in Brindisi on the same job to which I am being sent.

I shall await instructions from you. In any event, I shall report to you in Palermo
tomorrow.
