No objection to the signal as now drafted. They now cite our political objections in 5 & 6 and leave the door open for decision under 7. It should be mentioned that G-5's handling of this matter throughout has been comparable with the Italian Government's behaviour on the recent wage proposals. ACC were not consulted prior to the issue of the original document (AD Memo. 31-) and all our most urgent arguments, except the reactions of the Italian F.M., have been disregarded.

1. Over the telephone yesterday evening Commander Southard said that word had been received from the C.O.S. that the United States Government had signified their approval to the institution of a lira account in Italy. It was added that no action should be taken until London had expressed their views on the matter.

2. Yesterday morning Mr. Nosworthy informed me that the British Embassy in Rome had received the following cable from the Foreign Office:-

"Please telegraph your views on the question of Italian Government being required to set up a lira account to facilitate procurement of requirements of Allied Forces (MAT 353 October 12th). We incline to the view that the Italian Government should be required to do this after but not before official publication of detailed proposals for implementation of Allied policy in Italy now under discussion in Washington".

3. It is not clear from the second sentence of the cable whether the detailed proposals are in general or specific terms.

4. I sketched the background to Mr. Nosworthy, gave him a copy of MAT 353 of 12 October, and said that the position remains as stated namely, that the attitude of the Italian Government is undoubtedly unchanged in its reluctance to assume an additional budgetary charge of about lit. 18 billion per annum.

This is PAM 353.

Payment for supplies, services and facilities in ITALY is subject:

1. Since December 1943 allied local procurement of supplies, services, and facilities in ITALY has been governed by an Administrative Memorandum of the Headquarters (number 95 of 1943) promulgated on the obligation of Italian Government under Armistice Terms to make available such resources or services as the UNITED NATIONS may require. Consequently general policy was to avoid payment by Allies except in combat zones or for other day to day procurement.

2. This policy of non-payment has been subject to numerous exceptions due to serious shortcomings of Italian Government procurement services and to difficulties arranging Italian Government firms for firms supplying services, goods, or facilities to Allies and needing cash to maintain operations. 3063

3. To meet this situation, Administrative Memorandum 95 modified 1 August by Administrative Memorandum 31 of 1944 which directs the ACC to require Italian Government:

- (A) To improve procurement services
- (B) To set up a lire account to enable Allied Forces to make cash payments for supplies, services, and facilities where recourse to Italian Procurement Agencies is impracticable. General policy of consignment wherever feasible is preserved.

4. Advantage of lire account, which could operate comparably to franc account in NORTH AFRICA, is that payment would be made out of funds provided by Italian Government thus reducing expenditure funds derived by Allied Forces from AIAA which are charged to Armed Forces appropriations WASHINGTON and LONDON. Also would facilitate payments to local enterprises because no suchance on allied side to pay and long delay in Italian Government part in arranging direct reimbursement. Also (c) lire account may operate (as old franc account in NORTH AFRICA) to encourage Italian Government to improve transportation services to allied forces.

5. From protracted discussions AM and US Headquarters the following political objections to establishment of lire base of lire account have emerged:

(a) That it would reveal to Italian Government quantity and value of allied procurement, supplies, services, and facilities in ITALY;

(b) By rendering visible the present invisible deficit that is currently occurring to the Italian Government, it would focus attention on the obligations generally of the Italian Government under the Armistice.

6. Terms of Administrative Memorandum number 32 were presented informally on 9 October to Prime Minister BONOMI and Minister of Treasury. Prime Minister stated that political effect of proposed lire account would be "disastrous". BONOMI fears adverse public reaction to any step by Government to assume direct and open responsibility for allied payments in ITALY, since implication would be that his Government had abandoned efforts to secure modification of financial clause of Armistice. Also such effect on public confidence of additional deficit financing in amount involved, which would be estimated in excess of billion and a half lire per month.

7. This Headquarters considers establishing lire account desirable from financial policy and technical viewpoint, but action is being delayed pending advice from you as to whether political objections are too grave.

Note by Assistant Chief of Staff, C-S
6 October 1944

1. In accordance with the instructions on page 5 of the minutes of the Political Committee, 4 October 1944, the attached draft Civil Liberties Committee document formed on 6 October to the Minister responsible and to the Minister of Administration, memorandum No. 31 be deferred.

On 5 October I advised the Minister for concurrence.

On 9 October the Acting Chief Commissioner of the A.C.C. advised (ACC-352) that Prime Minister Bonomi stated to him before the politicians' effect of the proposed liaison account would be "assassinations". The Acting Chief Commissioner, estimating that the discussions before the liaison account would be no less than one million dollars, recommended that implementation of administrative arrangements be deferred.

On 9 October the Acting Chief Commissioner of the A.C.C. advised (ACC-352) that Prime Minister Bonomi stated to him before the politicians' effect of the proposed liaison account would be "assassinations". The Acting Chief Commissioner, estimating that the discussions before the liaison account would be no less than one million dollars, recommended that implementation of administrative arrangements be deferred.

4. G-5 has, in view of the above message from the Acting Chief Commissioner, proposed to the British Resident Minister, the proposal of the liaison account should be presented to the G.C.C.-S. proposed. Admitting the possibility that adverse circumstances might develop, sight must not be lost of the short-run political advantages of continued co-operation of the G.C.C.-S. and the G.M.C. (which always made it difficult to the British Resident Minister to present his case to the Indians), and which would not exist if the facts were disclosed. Moreover, in view of the likelihood that increased production of equipment and supplies for both sides in other theaters, there is a valid reason for not long postponing the financing of this situation and on

2. Committee of the Political Committee, 4 October 1944, the attached draft cables prepared to present in the views of the Combined Civil Affairs Committee and was forwarded on 6 October to the British Resident Minister and to the U.S. Political Advisor for concurrence.

2. On 9 October the Acting Chief Commissioner of the A.C.C. advised (ACC-352) that Prime Minister Bonomi stated to him that the political effect of the proposed line account would be "disastrous". The Acting Chief Commissioner, estimating that the drawings against the line account would be not less than one million lire monthly, recommends that implementation of Administrative Memorandum No. 31 be deferred.

3. G-5 has, in view of the above message from the Acting Chief Commissioner, proposed to the British Resident Minister and the U.S. Political Advisor that the draft cable to the CGAC be appropriately modified to indicate the opposition of Prime Minister Bonomi to the proposed line account.

4. G-5 is of the opinion that notwithstanding the unfavorable reception of the Italian Prime Minister, the proposal of a line account should be presented to the CGAC as planned. Admitting the possibility that adverse short-run political disadvantages might develop were A3065 extenuated to be revealed, sight must not be lost of the longer-run disadvantages of continued concentration of the level of allied expenditure. Continuation of the present policy invites speculation and rumor and unfavorable comparison with the German indemnity (which was always made known to the Italiens), which could not exist if the facts were disclosed. Moreover, in view of the likelihood that allied expenditures in Italy will increasingly take forms more closely related to the regular economy, such as repairs and actual production of equipment and supplies for use in other theaters, there is an added reason for not long postponing the financing of this Italian aid on a more regular basis.

2. Italian Services of Requisition.

a. The Allied Control Commission will cause to be set up within the Ministry of Finance of the Italian Government an agency, to consist of a Chief Agent and as many sub-agents as may be necessary, to accept and fill such requisitions for supplies, facilities and services, locally obtainable, as may be passed to it by the Allied Forces. This agency will obtain the supplies, facilities and services required by such means and methods as the Italian Government may provide.

b. The sub-agents will be located at convenient points where they can readily cooperate with the Allied Forces,

3. Lira Account.

a. The Allied Control Commission will require the Italian Government to advance from time to time to a designated officer of the Allied Control Commission specified sums of lire to be used by the various components of the Allied Forces to enable them to make cash payment as specified below. This fund will be known as the Lira Account.

b. Cash Payments from the Lira Account may be made in the following cases:

1. For items and services which it is impracticable to procure through the Italian Services of requisition, or which cannot be procured speedily enough.

2. For procurement in the combat zone, where payment in cash is necessary to obtain supplies, facilities and services.

3. For small day-to-day purchases, the nature of which makes requisitioning impractical.

4. For all payments to local civilian employees.

d. Vouchers for payments charged to the Lira Account are to be turned over periodically to the Italian Government through the officer of the Allied Control Commission controlling the Account.

4. Real Estate and Claims.

a. The methods for procurement and payment described above will not be employed in obtaining the use of real estate or in paying claims. The real estate sections and hirings officers of the respective Forces shall continue to acquire buildings, land, and all other types of real estate, including accommodation and furnishings thereof, through the Italian Government Commando Genio Militare.

b. Claims will be processed by the various claims sections and passed to the Italian Government for payment under the system now in operation.

5. Certain Payments Not to be Made.

Payments should not be made for the following :

a. Durable goods which are not in continuous, current production, or which the owner either will be unable to replace locally or will not need to replace at present. These include such articles as vehicles, heavy plant and machinery, constructional materials, structural steel, railway plant, stock piles and the like, not forming part of current output of an operating plant.

Such instructions will follow generally the plan outlined in Administrative Memorandum Number 13, Headquarters MATOUSA, 4 November 1943, for U.S. forces, and the corresponding instructions which were issued in North Africa for the British Forces.
