OCT 20 1945

Excellency,

With reference to the various requests made by my Company in order to be specially granted the permission to correspond with our subsidiary companies and branch offices abroad, considering that we have complied with the different conditions required, we have written a letter to the AMG 13 Corps, Financial Department, as per enclosed copy.

We shall be grateful if you will kindly see your way to intervene so that the restrictions now in force may be abolished thereby enabling us to resume our activities as soon as possible.

I take this opportunity to kindly call your attention to what "The Economist" of the 25th August published concerning the activities of the Italian insurance companies. According to "The Economist", the Italian insurance companies did not deal in foreign countries on an economic basis, but used their foreign organization as a political weapon to gather information and with propaganda aims. This is completely false, and as far as the Assicurazioni Generali is concerned, I solemnly declare that nothing of the sort was ever done by my Company. The Assicurazioni Generali have built up their foreign organization little by little in years of hard and tenacious work and always on economic and business-like methods.

I remain, Excellency,

Yours faithfully,

enclosure

Trieste, 5th October 1945

Chief Finance Officer
Allied Military Government
13 Corps
TRIESTE

Your ref. 13C/AMG/FIN/3571
Subject: Commercial Insurance

We would refer to your letter of August 21st, informing us of four conditions to be fulfilled before we can be authorized to resume our relations or undertake financial transactions with our external branches, subsidiaries or third parties.

In this connection we think that the foreign exchange control by the Allied Military Government (point a/ in your letter under reply) already exists, and so does the restoration of communications (see point c/ in the same letter).

As regards completion of epuration (point b), we would call your attention to the fact that our Board of Directors has been re-organised some months ago; it is at present formed by members whose personal position is unobjectionable also from a political point of view. In addition, some one hundred persons - between directing officers, officials and employees $\frac{1}{2}$ have been suspended from service at the request of the Internal Epuration Committees and one General Manager was dismissed in compliance with your order dated August 31st.

In view of the above and as the conditions set out at the time have been fully complied with, at least as regards ourselves, we would again kindly ask - as already mentioned in our letter of July 27th, 1945 No. 1831 - the Allied Military Government to possibly revise the regulations contained in Appendix AA and to allow a substantial relaxation of those conditions, by authorizing us to resume commercial and financial correspondence both with the countries of the United Nations and with the territories occupied and controlled by Allied troops, as well as with neutral countries, so as to place us in a position

- a. to resume our relations with our foreign reinsurers, which were left in suspense for settling the question of reinsurance both in regard to the existing portfolio and to new contracts;
- b. to restore our connections with our numerous foreign branches and subsidiaries which for months and even years have been left to themselves and without any instructions by the Central Management.

Continued

We confidently hope that the Allied Military Government will take into consideration our present request, all the more as according to a communication from the Italian Treasury Ministry under date of September 24th (see attached copy) the Allied Commission has already authorized forwarding to Italian colonies (Tripolitania, Lybia, Eritrea and Italian Somaliland) commercial and financial correspondence of any kind, it being understood that such a correspondence will be governed by the same regulations governing any similar direct communications with the United States and Great Britain. That authorization is obviously a relaxation of the present conditions on the subject of correspondence and we have no doubt that it automatically applies also to the territory of the 13 Corps; this we would kindly ask you to confirm us.

Your faithfully

Exchange rates for use by Italian Government. Confirmation requested as to whether Italian Government free to "fix or negotiate" exchange rates irrespective of whether such new rates yield a gross rate equal to official dollar-sterling rate.

To date exchange rates for other currencies have been fixed by crossing official rates with dollar. Italian Government have indicated on numerous occasions that they consider many of these official rates out of line.

It is felt that, if present exchange rate structure (dollar-sterling official rate) is abandoned, Italian Government may proceed to devalue the Lira as public opinion is well prepared for such a step and it would also tend to solve their export difficulties which they consider unfavorable at present rates of exchange.

Subject is exchange rates for use by Italian Government.

Para 1. The Italian Government, in accordance FAN 583, is now at liberty to fix, or negotiate with foreign countries, as may be appropriate, exchange rates for the lira. Prior conference with OCS is not required. You should so inform the Italian Government, and should make it clear that this is now the responsibility of the Italian Government.

Para. 2. However, you should keep the Combined Chiefs of Staff informed of all exchange rates which the Italian Government sets. You should also advise any special purpose for which the rates are fixed, when such information is available.

Para. 3. The Italian Authorities may be informed of the following official rates between the currencies mentioned MAT 882 and the U.S. dollar, subject to the above. If the Italian Authorities wish they may fix equivalent cross rates. The rates are quoted on the basis of dollars or cents per unit of foreign currency:

South African pound	4.035
Egyptian pound	4.15
New Zealand pound	3.2542
Australian pound	3.2370
Danish crown	0.2087683
Indian rupee	0.30349
Canadian dollar	0.90909

Para. four. Reference MAT 883 and 885. No commercial rates exist for the Albanian franc or the Polish zloty. For these two currencies the Italian Government should negotiate or fix its own rates.

1. I refer to your G-5/123.7 of 20 September, enclosing copies of a paraphrase of TAM 684.

2. We feel that TAM 684 is ambiguous as it stands, and before communicating its substance to the Italian Ministry of the Treasury we should appreciate clarification of a number of points:

- (a) Is the Italian Government now free to "fix or negotiate" new exchange rates for the dollar and sterling, and before of whether such new rates yield a cross rate that is equal to the official dollar - sterling rate of 4.025 dollars equal one pound sterling?
- (b) Up to the present time the exchange rates fixed for other currencies have been official rates, i.e. obtained by crossing with the dollar. The Italian Government has indicated to us on numerous occasions that they consider many of these rates out of line. It is therefore probable that in fixing new rates, particularly the one with Switzerland, the cross rates produced would differ widely from present dollar - lira and sterling - lira rates.
- (c) We would be unable to advise the Italian Government which rates should be negotiated and which rates could be fixed forthwith by them without consultation. We assume that the distinction in mind is between rates designed for commercial and remittance transactions (to be negotiated) and "internal" rates designed for converting foreign currencies held by repatriates (which could be fixed without consultation), but exact definition by CCS of their intent is desirable.

3. As you are aware, under CCS directives we have up to the present time maintained an exchange rate structure in Italy based on the official dollar - sterling rate, assuming that under the Bretton Woods Agreement there would be a general adjustment of exchange rates, but ~~3.860~~ adjustment was not to be undertaken piecemeal at this time when future trade relationships and purchasing power parities are so obscure and difficult of determination. There has been an increasing volume of discussion in Italian Government and financial circles concerning the adverse effect of the over-valued lira on the resumption of Italian exports. We understand that the Italian Government is considering the introduction of an import - export financing scheme which would compensate exports whose foreign exchange value did not cover their lira procurement cost by surcharging imports. The plan would presumably be an interim measure to be used pending an exchange rate adjustment. If, however, inter-relationship of exchange rate considerations are no longer considered of importance, the Italian Government

Italian Government still has not issued general license to cover outgoing mail. But foreign exchange control adequately reconstituted, civilian postal channels open between U.K., U.S. and ITALY, and decree soon being issued transferring dollar/sterling balances in U.S. and U.K. banks to account of Banca D'ITALIA as they accrue.

Consequently consider no objection to banks in U.K. and U.S. communicating directly through civilian postal channels with head offices of all commercial banks in ITALY, with exception VENEZIA GIULIA.

Please advise whether sterling remittances to expanded area per CIVMED 22 will be channeled only through Banca D'ITALIA or also through head offices commercial banks as above.

Also confirm whether general license 32A has been amended as proposed TAM 590 and concurred MAT 744 and whether dollar remittances to rest of ITALY (except VENEZIA GIULIA) will be effected through head offices Italian commercial banks and Banca D'ITALIA.

Dear Admiral Stone;

For your information I am transmitting below in paraphrase pertinent portions of a telegram just received from the Department of State with respect to the proposed reorganization of Istituzioni:

It is the view of the Government of the United States that since Istituzioni and its policy personnel were intimately associated with the Fascist regime, that organization, under its present name or any other title, should not be continued. Although the Government of the United States is not inclined to interfere in matters of organization of the Italian Government, its considered opinion is that it would be to the best interests of the Italian Government to liquidate entirely Istituzioni and to place with some other agency the function of exchange control. No transfer of personnel should be made to such other agency from Istituzioni unless the Italian authorities have weeded out all Fascists by careful screening. The Bank of Italy appears to be the logical agency in which the exchange control function should be placed, although it is for the Italian Government to make the choice of such an agency.

I am informed by the Department that the British concur with the views expressed above.

Sincerely yours,

My dear Mr. Prime Minister:

I am enclosing copy of a memorandum addressed to me by the Joint Director of the Finance Sub-Commission dealing with the reconstitution of exchange control in Italy. You will appreciate that the views expressed therein are based upon technical considerations.

The memorandum indicates that discussion on this matter by the Finance Sub-Commission has been restricted to conversations with H.E. The Minister of Treasury and the Commissario of the Banca d'Italia. As the question of exchange control is one of national importance, vitally affecting the economic relations of Italy with the rest of the world, I suggest that you may wish to discuss the subject on a broad basis with all interested Ministries.

Ref No : 13012/P

27 December 1944

SUBJECT: Constitution of Exchange Control in Italy.

TO : Chief Commissioner, Allied Commission.

1. The Combined Chiefs of Staff have urgently requested the Allied Commission to report on the progress of the reconstruction of an exchange control organization in Italy. Until the Armistice, the control of international payments in Italy was exercised by a semi-autonomous body known as the Istituto Nazionale per i Cambi con l'Estero (Istocambi). The Bank of Italy controlled the foreign exchange operations of commercial banks for Istocambi through the Ispettorato del Credito. When the Ministero degli Scambi e Valute was dissolved, its jurisdiction over Istocambi passed to the Ministry of the Treasury. Istocambi has never been permitted to function in liberated Italy.

2. Numerous discussions have taken place with the Minister of the Treasury and the Commissario of the Bank of Italy on the above subject. The Minister of the Treasury wishes to revive Istocambi and to centralise exchange control operations in that body for the following reasons:

(a) Exchange control is a financial function and should, therefore, be exercised by the Treasury.

(b) If the officials of Istocambi, suspended under the Defascistization programme, are cleared, it will have competent personnel.

(c) The Bank of Italy, when it exercised exchange control under ex-Governor Assolini prior to 1934, did not function satisfactorily.

3. The Finance Sub-Commission, on the other hand, believes that Italian and Allied interests would be better served if exchange control were placed in the Bank of Italy. With respect to the position of the Ministry of the Treasury, the following may be noted:

(a) The Ministry of the Treasury directs the policies of the Bank of Italy and would, therefore, assume responsibility in policy questions of exchange control. Other interested Ministries would have to be consulted as well in the formulation of policy. The Bank of Italy would only serve as the technical executive organization in Italian foreign exchange control.

(b) All competent personnel of Istocambi not separated ³⁸⁴² should be taken over by the Bank of Italy.

(c) While the Bank of Italy's control some years ago may have been inadequate, Istocambi's control was likewise unsatisfactory.

4. There are positive reasons why the Finance Sub-Commission believes that technical functions of exchange control should now be placed in the Bank of Italy:

(a) The Bank of Italy is the most effective financial organization to handle the technical side of foreign exchange control.

(b) The Bank of Italy is the least politically-inclined organ of the Government. Therefore, its operations would tend to be governed by technical considerations.

(c) The Central Banking functions of the Bank place it in a strategic position to combine internal and external monetary policies in a manner best calculated to meet the interests of Italy.

(d) The Bank of Italy still carries abroad a degree of prestige which would facilitate financial relations between Italy and other countries.

5. It is also believed that Iateambi should be dissolved. This could best be done by constituting a section of the new exchange control authority which would have the function of liquidating the Istituto as soon as possible.
