Memo:

To : Colonel Monfort:

1. Will you please take up with General Hume the matter of an advance location for Headquarters of Liguria, Piemonte and Lombardia Regions well forward where they can be in contact with the 5th Army and prepared to move forward when occasion arises. Chiavariano is too far rear. Montecatini has been suggested but there seems there is some question as to the use of Montecatini by 5th Army for rest hotels and hospitals. I spoke to General Hume at Sienna at the last meeting and he promised to give me a reply on this but I have heard nothing to date. I think that it is most important that these Regions be well forward and in close contact with the Army.

2. The situation on the 8th Army front is satisfactory. Emilia and Venezia Regions are in close proximity to 8th Army Headquarters and are now working together to their mutual benefit. Such is not the case with the 5th Army and I should like to put it right as soon as practicable.
