19 July 1945

SUBJECT: Movement of 1022d Italian Truck Company.

TO: Commanding Officer, 2695th Technical Supervision Regiment (Ovhd),
A.P.O. 464, U. S. Army.

1. On Wednesday, 18 July 1945, at 0730 hours, a German convoy of six (6) trucks arrived at Monza, Italy, to transport the 1022d Italian Truck Company to the 209th British Regiment at Forli. The convoy departed at 0830.

2. The convoy was accompanied by the undersigned and upon arrival at the British Headquarters at Forli, at 0500 hours, it was found that no such organization existed. But with further investigation it was found that the 209th Italian Division was located 15 miles east of Forli. Upon contact with the Italian Liaison Officer at the British Headquarters, arrangements were made and troops released to the 801st Italian Transit Company, staging area for the 209th Italian Division. There the troops were satisfactorily provided for.

3. The convoy arrived at the 801st Italian Transit Company at 0830 hours, 18 July 1945. Two (2) Officers and forty-four (44) men were released.

4. Paragraphs 5 & 6 of memorandum, Headquarters 2695th Technical Supervision Regiment (Ovhd), dated 30 June 1945, were complied with.

REF NO.	FROM	TO	DATE

1. Reference attached complaints.
2. Suggest that 209 Division had notice that replacements were arriving.
 - a. By NMIA letter A-113 of 27 June, copies to all concerned.
 - b. On June 30, 1945, I sent a copy of my back slip to you requesting movement by 2695 Regt giving serial numbers, destination and assignment.
 - c. On 4 July I sent a signal to you giving time of departure and arrival of units.
3. Appears to me that some Italian officer lacked initiative in not knowing his destination and assignment when he got on the train or truck. The receiving units should all stay alerted. They all know or should have known that reinforcements were arriving as individuals, and not as designated units. As NMIA originally pointed out, personnel were listed by units solely for convenience.

The 319th Co had to stay one day and a half in the railway station waiting for the decision of being picked up. The 312th Co has been taken because the Colonel has assumed the responsibility for himself.
