30/11/2
30/11/2

1. The Ministry of War advised that a certain number of men were available in depots of the Army Corps to fill allied requirements.

2. Transportation for the proper number of men was arranged.

3. Our liaison officer with Army Corps has advised that when the train departed from GUSKILL and GATLAND the required number of men had not been furnished. This shortage existed as follows:

From 16 Infantry Depot	44
From 207 Infantry Depot	70

4. The strength state of those two depots submitted 1 March shows:

16 Infantry Depot	511
207 Infantry Depot	384

5. The strength you stated would be furnished was:

16 Infantry Depot	461
207 Infantry Depot	380

5416

6. A comparison of these figures shows that there remain in the 16 Inf Depot 516 men and in the 207 Inf Depot 504 men.

7. It is apparent that the correct number of men could have been furnished from the men available in the depots, even though some of the men designated for the move were absent without leave at the time the train departed.

8. The failure of the responsible officers to carry out instructions issued by you to furnish a special number of men for movement, when it is clearly shown that the correct number was available, causes unnecessary waste of transportation, and increases work for all H.Q. to straighten out the situation.

9. I am compelled to ask that in future movements your officers be directed to furnish the correct number of men regardless of absences.

2. Transportation for the proper number of men was arranged.

3. Our Liaison Officer with XXI Corps has advised that when the trains departed from GUMENGA and DZAKAHO the required number of men had not been furnished. This shortage existed as follows:

From 16 Infantry Depot	44
From 207 Infantry Depot	70

4. The strength state of these two depots submitted 1 March shows:

16 Infantry Depot	511
207 Infantry Depot	884

5. The strength you stated would be furnished was:

16 Infantry Depot	461
207 Infantry Depot	390

6. A comparison of these figures shows that there remain in the 16 Inf Depot 516 men and in the 207 Inf Depot 584 men.

7. It is apparent that the correct number of men could have been furnished from the men available in the depots, even though some of the men designated for the move were absent without leave at the time the train departed.

8. The failure of the responsible officers to carry out instructions issued by you to furnish a specified number of men for movement, when it is clearly shown that the correct number was available, causes unnecessary waste of transportation, and unnecessary work for all men to strengthen out the situation.

9. I am compelled to ask that in future movements your officers be directed to furnish the correct number of men regardless of absences.

10. I am compelled to ask that you investigate this matter and explain why it occurred and who is responsible, and what your action has been to ensure that it does not recur.
