NUMBER 1)

DRIVER INSTRUCTIONS

1. All these instructions are based on the principles of common courtesy and decent consideration for the other fellow. Drive your vehicle with this in mind at all times. A vehicle is a weapon. We are careful with weapons among our fellows.
2. Keep your eyes and ears open and LOOK AHEAD. One second is the least time needed to recognize an emergency and make the first movements to meet it. The actual control of the vehicle may take another nine seconds. Unless you can stop within the limits of your vision at any time you are not a safe driver. It is a proved fact that 90% of all accidents are caused by poor driving.
3. Give EVERYONE the right of way. The few seconds you may lose will be repaid many times over by the fact that your load will get to the point at which it is needed—every time. This will save lives, battles, campaigns and your country.
4. Study conditions ahead and save brakes, gas and rubber. Air resistance will do 80% of your braking if you'll let it. LOOK AHEAD. Let up on your accelerator ahead of time, and you'll need your brakes for a few feet.
5. All intersections, street and railway, are natural accident hazards. Respect them accordingly. Enter them under full control. Turn your head and eyes from left to right and know you are safe before entering. Give ALL vehicles the right of way.
6. Pedestrians, both children and adults, change their minds and movements without notice. Watch for them and expect blunders and inattention. This is especially important in this country.
7. Use your horn with discretion and only when and to the extent necessary. Don't try to blow your way through traffic or open up the road by horn power.
8. When you pull out into traffic from a parked position, signal conspicuously and LOOK BACK before you turn into the street.
9. Do not yell at careless drivers or pedestrians. Give all your attention to the job in hand.

10. Regardless of speed limit, DO NOT DRIVE FASTER THAN THE CONDITIONS WARRANT. Avoid the tendency to compete with reckless drivers. Take the opposite objective and make safe driving your goal.

11. The maximum speed limits authorized for various vehicles will be taken to apply to most FAVORABLE CONDITIONS ONLY, namely, clear, wide and straight highways outside of populated districts.

12. Make a right turn from the right lane only. Make a left turn from the left lane only. When ABSOLUTELY NECESSARY, on account of towed load, to move into a left lane prior to making a right turn or vice versa, use hand signals freely, clearly and far enough ahead so that those approaching or following you will have notice of your intentions.

13. The same instructions for hand signals apply in all cases of change of speed or direction, stopping, slowing down, or starting off.

14. Use your rear vision habitually. If you have an assistant riding with you, have him watch your right side, front and rear. DO NOT VISIT WITH HIM. Your job is important enough to require all your attention.

15. When you back up, have your assistant or a nearby soldier stand back of your car on the left side for guidance. If no one is with you back a few feet at a time and check from both doors.

16. These instructions are supplemental to Driver Instructions contained in FM 25-10 and TM 10-460. Other instructions are contained in Circular #59, (Section 1, Par 1), AFHQ, dated 29 July 1943. Instructions for convoys are published in Circular #54, AFHQ, dated 6 July 1943.

MEMORANDUM:

TO : All Concerned

1. An Orientation Officer has been appointed for the 2675th Regiment, ACG. Captain Leon G. Halden, Headquarters this Regiment, has been assigned to duty in this capacity.

2. The Orientation Officer is charged in general with the planning and supervision of matters not pertaining to command which relate to the maintenance and improvement of the morale of the enlisted men. Specific functions include:

a. Research to determine attitudes or other information pertaining to morale.

b. Procedures for:

- (1) Education, orientation, and information of military personnel, causes and current phases of this war, and current events relating thereto.
- (2) Educational facilities for troops through correspondence courses, films, exhibits, lectures, and group instruction, including organization and instruction in the Italian language.

c. One meeting per week in evening. Attendance compulsory.

3. The Orientation Officer assigned to the Regiment develops the plans, specific materials, and programs through which the company commanders and platoon leaders bring the program directly to the troops in weekly discussion periods. This officer will visit the company commanders of the Regiment, and organize the work and acquaint such officers with the purposes and functions of the Orientation Division.

4. All requests for assistance and advice in carrying out the Orientation program should be addressed, through proper military channels, to the Commanding Officer, 2675th Regiment, Allied Control Commission, APO 394, US Army, (Attn: Orientation Officer).
