2. Major A.K.B. Byrne Devons This officer has been employed with the SAN MARCO Marine Regt. He possesses a very pleasant personality and has proved a success at the job. He is past the young and enthusiastic stage but is reliable. He has also applied and is likely to be accepted for employment in Civil Affairs.
3. Major A.I. Fairweather F.B. This officer has also been employed with the SAN MARCO Regt and has done very well. He was particularly useful in the initial training of the whole carrier personnel of the Group and in the early days arranged and supervised the collection of the carriers. He has sufficient practical knowledge and driving experience to teach details of maintenance and to demonstrate the capabilities of the carrier. He would like to get back to his regiment but at present no vacancy exists or is likely for some time. I am fully prepared to retain his services for a longer period to help with the training of reserve battalions.
4. Major E.A. Bradley Innisks This officer has been responsible for the training of the CROYLE Bn of the SAN MARCO Regt. He possesses a very distinct personality and might well be classified as "a type". He could not, Italians fell for this and he produced results without much effort. He could not, in my opinion, be classed as a steady and reliable officer but he undoubtedly possesses charm, a good brain, and Irish wit. He has left this training increment and is at present employed with an Italian Guard battalion. He has applied for the Staff College and I have forwarded his application, without however any strong recommendation, as he had been recommended on two previous occasions and stated that the last recommendation had been sent to the M.R. and lost.
5. Major R.C. Penn Hampshires This officer has worked well and with great enthusiasm throughout the whole period with the MARCO Regt. His knowledge is good and he has been able to give valuable assistance to the Regiment. He is young for his rank and is not always as tactful as he might be. He has applied for employment in Civil Affairs but has been informed that he cannot be accepted in his present rank and is unwilling to revert to Captain. I am willing to keep him on for a further period to help with training of reserve battalions.
6. Major T. Leahy King's Own This officer has only been with the Training Increment for about a month and I have seen very little of him. To the best of my knowledge and belief he has carried out his duties satisfactorily.

1. Ref your 5734/1/C of 28 Mar 45.

2. All officers of B Training Increment (Inf) attached to this HQ have been posted away except Major Fairweather, VC, and Major Fenn, Hampshire.

3. It is requested that the services of these two officers may be retained for a further period to deal with the reinforcement problem, for the following reasons:

(a) Information has been received that the HQ at CHAFFO, owing to accommodation and other difficulties, are only able to send forward partially trained and equipped reinforcements - attachment to your above quoted letter refers.

(b) In addition to lack of training recent reinforcements have been of very poor quality and many are not even willing to try. They therefore need firm handling and masters will have to be rejected after a trial.

(c) The Combat Group appear to be incapable of coping with the situation by themselves and unless help is given a very unsatisfactory state of affairs will develop. Close supervision by British officers is the answer.
