ALL OSC Units in Naples Area

1. I regret that I have again to write to Commanding Officers and draw their attention to my letter No A 11 of 31 March 1946.

2. Two instances have occurred recently in which it has been obvious that sufficient interest has not been taken by Commanding Officers. In the first instance a certain number of units were instructed to return repatriable SEP to 209 PW Camp. Some units did not do so with the result that a train which had been arranged left for RIMINI with roughly 950 persons instead of the 1200 provided for. It is appreciated that some units may have had difficulty in sending men back but the instructions were given on information supplied by units themselves, and it is inexcusable that units did not do as they were told or make any effort to explain why the instructions could not be complied with.

3. The second instance was the CHETNIK ballot. Units were instructed to send an officer to this HQ on a certain day to collect the papers. A large number did not do so and it was therefore necessary to send out a signal to remind units. One CO rang up the Chief Clerk of one the branches at this HQ and asked the WO to collect the papers, and several units sent other ranks. Only one CO took correct action when he found an officer was not available and that was to send a senior other rank with a letter explaining the circumstances.

As against the casual and disinterested way in which some COs acted one unit which is NOT well off for staff sent an officer at the appointed time for the papers and the following day held the ballot, sealed up the papers and had the results back in this HQ before 10 a.m.

4. The above are only 2 samples of the casual way in which instructions are carried out.

5. The District Commander has now drawn attention to the fact that sufficient care is not being exercised in accounting for PW/SEP. A separate letter is being sent out on this matter.

6. I want Commanding Officers, and in this category I place all officers who are in charge either of men or some establishment, to take quick and accurate action on all instructions and orders received

Such matters as the release of personnel, marriages, leave schemes, and in general questions which effect personnel are all covered by either General Routine Orders or GHQ letters of instruction and questions on these subjects which should rightly be answered in company offices or orderly rooms will NOT be addressed to this HQ.

7. This letter will be acknowledged personally by COs and will then be seen, read and initialled by all officers.
