No. 118/6/46
The Principal Naval Liaison Officer, Admiralty, (Copy to: The Command-in-Chief, Mediterranean.
The Flag Officer Taranto and Liaison, Italy).

QUARTERLY REPORT - ITALIAN NAVAL CRUISERS.

- The attached reports by the British Naval Liaison Officers in the Italian Cruisers DUCA DEGLI ABRUZZI and DUCA D'AOSTA are forwarded for information in accordance with C.A.F.C. 1079/41 and 2096/42.

2. These reports cover the period from arrival at Freetown on November 13th 1943 to date of reports.

3. During this period both ships have been based at Freetown and employed on anti-blockade runner patrols in the South Atlantic.

4. During the first 90 days the cruisers spent 49 and 41 days at sea respectively.

5. Rear Admiral Biancheri has always shown keenness to get his ships to sea and maintain them there as long as possible, He usually went to sea personally in whichever cruiser was out, flying his flag in the cruiser left in port, so that his "amour propre" should not suffer in the event of meeting allied ships and having to place himself under their command.

6. At first the local Government Authorities were very concerned lest incidents should arise between the local population and Italian personnel on shore, and shore facilities were extremely restricted.

7. It soon became obvious that under these conditions one could not expect these ships to loyally carry out their duties on long and entirely independent sea trips, and, as soon as I was able to allay local anxiety, these restrictions were gradually removed, and Italian personnel now move freely about the town and surrounding neighborhood.

8. My own conviction, based on previous knowledge both of the Italian sailor and the local population, backed by Admiral Biancheri's repeated assurances that his men would create no trouble, has been amply justified, and the behavior of the Italian personnel on shore has been of a very high standard.

9. So far as relations with the French are concerned, amicable meetings have taken place both at my office and my residence between Admirals Collinet and Barthes and Admiral Biancheri and his captains.

10. 10. There is no doubt that the energy, leadership and knowledge of Rear Admiral Biancheri is the primary motive in maintaning his ships and companies in their present state, and his impending departure from the station is much regretted.

11. He has been ably assisted by his captains, and particularly by his Chief of Staff, Captain Sandrelli, who has shown great common sense, knowledge and tact in his dealings with my staff officers.

12. Captain Battaglia of the ABRUZZI is a man of considerable charm who appears to be well respected and liked by his officers and men; he sometimes gets depressed, but re-acts quickly to the invigorating influence of his Admiral.

13. Captain d'Aloja of the AOSTA is of a more robust type, and not so easy to know, but, together with the others mentioned above has been co-operative in every way, and shares with them what I believe to be a genuine hatred of Fascism.

14. There has been little mixing with the more junior officers.

15. The conditions of the ships are described in the well expressed reports of the liaison officers, both of whom have the confidence and liking of the Italian Admiral and captains.

16. Admiral Biancheri is delighted at the prospect of serving nearer Italy while she is "in flames"; he professes great knowledge and experience in the matter of landing operations, has definite ideas on where these should be carried out in Italy, and hopes his experience and full knowledge of the Italian coast will be made use of.

DATE: 25th February 1944

From The B.N.L.O. R.I. DUCA DEGLI ABRUZZI

SUBJECT: 3 Monthly Report.

Sir,

The following report is submitted in accordance with C.A.F.O. 1079/41 and 2096/42. It covers the period from 13th November 1943, the date of R.I.Duca degli Abruzzi's arrival on the West Africa Station, to 25th February 1944.

A. Efficiency of Unit and Duties undertaken.

The duties undertaken have consisted of Anti-Blockade Runner patrols, which have offered no opportunity for judging the efficiency of the ship in action. The following points have been observed however:

1. Seamanship - efficient in routine, but slack in precautions against bad weather, boat handling in a tideway, etc.

2. Gunnery - practice shoots have shown a high standard in the main armament. Stereoscopic Range Finders are employed and produce excellent ranging in the initial salves. The secondary armament is less efficient but of a reasonable standard. The Anti-Aircraft weapons are well hadnled but quite inadequate in number.

3. Lookouts - the lookout positions are well planned and adequate. The lookouts are laert and efficient.

4. General appearance and smartness of Ship's Company is poor.

5. Cleanliness - the ships is kept very clean despite water shortage.

6. Communications - the V/S equipemt is inadequate and obsolete. The signalling standard is far below that of the Royal Navy. The W/T equipmet appears to be satisfactory, and the standard of operators fair.

7. Aircraft - the aircraft is an obsolete bi-plane, suitable for landing only in sheltered waters. It is at present damaged and thought to be in need of a general refit.

B. Mechanical Efficiency.

The main engines and machinery appear to be in good condition. The auxiliary machinery is in need of a general overhaul, and a number of unsatisfactory temporary repairs have been carried out.

2. Some of the more serious defects are:- many of the fuel and water pipes are seriously corroded, the refrigerators function erratically if at all, and both evaporators are unreliable.

3. The very limited local resources both in machine shops and material make it difficult to remedy this state of affairs. The ships has not had a thorough refit since the outbreak of war.

C. State of Morale and Discipline.

During the first weeks in Freetown both morale and discipline were low owing to a number of factors:-

2. The loss of morale is inevitable in a defeated Navy.

3. A long period of inaction prior to the armistice, when heavy bombing had been

The secondary armament is less efficient but of a reasonable standard. The Anti-Aircraft weapons are well hadnled but quite inadequate in number.

3. Lookouts - the lookout positions are well planned and adequate. The lookouts are laert and efficient.

4. General appearance and smartness of Ship's Company is poor.

5. Cleanliness - the ships is kept very clean despite water shortage.

6. Communications - the V/S equipemt is inadequate and obsolete. The signalling standard is far below that of the Royal Navy. The W/T equipmet appears to be satisfactory, and the standard of operators fair.

7. Aircraft - the aircraft is an obsolete bi-plane, suitable for landing only in sheltered waters. It is at present damaged and thought to be in need of a general refit.

B. Mechanical Efficiency.

The main engines and machinery appear to be in good condition. The auxiliary machinery is in need of a general overhaul, and a number of unsatisfactory temporary repairs have been carried out.

2. Some of the more serious defects are:- many of the fuel and water pipes are seriously corroded, the refrigerators function erratically if at all, and both evaporators are unreliable.

3. The very limited local resources both in machine shops and material make it difficult to remedy this state of affairs. The ships has not had a thorough refit since the outbreak of war.

C. State of Morale and Discipline.

During the first weeks in Freetown both morale and discipline were lowering 1057 to a number of factors:-

2. The loss of morale is inevitable in a defeated Navy.

3. A long period of inaction prior to the armistice, when heavy bombing had been experienced in port, and only short unsatisfactory excursions had been made to sea. This was followed by six weeks of internment at Malta, and a brief, perhaps depressing visit to Taranto. All of which provided insufficient occupation and interest for the Ship's Company.

4. Change in rations. Although the rations provided in Freetown are certainly adequate, and probably superior to those that had been received latterly in Italy, the innate conservatism of the sailor resulted in some discontent at the enforced changes in diet. Lack of green vegetables and the difficulty in making "pasta" were the principal complaints.

5. Restrictions onlleave and contacts with Allied Ships. The necessary restrictions at first placed on the movements of Italian personnel were, perhaps unjustifiably, resented. Unfavorable comparison were made with the prisoners of war ashore , many of whom were believed to have greater freedom than the Naval Personnel.

6. Concern for relatives in German-Occupied Italy.
7. Arrears of payment amounting to six weeks.
8. The provision of a number of British films did much to prevent any active display of discontent, but at this time Officers and Petty Officers did not have adequate control over their men, Notable exceptions to this were the great pesonel influence exerted by the Rear Admiral 8th Division and the Captain of Abruzzi.
9. Subsequently, as the Ship's Company became more accustomed to the new conditions, and greater activity was provided by a moderate percentage of sea time, morale, improved. Greater freedom for Libertymen, who have maintained a high standard of conduct, has been the biggest factor in improving morale.
10. With improved morale has come better discipline, and greater confidence in their authority on the part of Officers and Petty Officers. Morale is now quite high and discipline satisfactory.

D. Attitude to Current Affairs.

Both officers and men are universally, and in many cases bitterly, anti-German. This is accompanied by a moderate pro-Anglo American sentiment the true strength of which is difficult to assess. The wish to co-operate in every way is marked, and with one exception, no "obstruction" has been encountered. This single exception is access to Ships' Plans, and is possibly due to instructions received from the Italian Ministry of Marine.
2. The opinion of most officers is that Fascism did much internal good in Italy. All say that its influence on the Navy was not great, and it was recognized as being riddled with corruption and nepotism. Naturally Mussolini's Foreign Policy is universally condemned.
3. Fascist propaganda still shows in the very considerable mistrust of Russian plans, and fears of a Bolshevist domination of Europe. Russian victories are applauded but somewhat wryly.
4. The belief is held by many otherwise intelligent officers, that Western Europe together with the United States and possibly a Nazi-freed Germany, will declare war on Russia once Nazism is destroyed.
5. The Congress of Bari and Count Sforza are both regarded with mistrust, and considered to be quite unrepresentative of Italian opinion as a whole.
6. In sufficient knowledge is available to assess the political tone of the Foc'sle, but it is significant that there is a great interest in learning English, and many enquiries are received by the Liaison staff concerning the possibility of emigration to the United States and British Commonwealth countries after the war. There seems to be little faith in the future of Italy.
7. The R.A.F. offensive is followed with much interest, and it seems that the heavy allied bombing of Italian cities was a very great factor in maing an Armistice welcome.
8. It is not thought that there are any pro-fascists amongst the Officers.

E. Complaints and Grievances: Welfare.

The principal complaint is of monotony, both in the nature of the patrols at sea and thetlack of facilities in harbor. This is accentuated by returning always to the same base, and the low standard of comfort on the mess decks. These are overcrowded, and seriously short of tables, benches, etc. The provisions of more tables etc is. however, scarcely practicable owing to lack of space.
2. Mail from Italy was at first greatly delayed, but is now arriving regularly and in a reasonable time.
3. The amenity most appreciated, would be the provision of some type of small Rest Camp, together with a few acres of cultivable land.

F. Medical

The standard of health appears to be satisfactory.

G. Progress of Men Under Training.

The Training programme appears to be inadequate and unsystematic.

H. Conclusions.

Both Officers and men have shown great willingness to co-operate in every way with the Royal Navy, and have always endeavored to work with the Liaison staff. Thus the various problems that have arisen have proved quite easy to solve.

2. The political views of the Officers appear to be satisfactory. Those of the Ship's Company, although difficult to assess accurately, give no cause for anxiety.

3. The security of Officers and men is low.

4. Te equipemt and standard of efficiency of the ship is such as to enable routine patrol and escort work to be carried out efficiently. Lack of modern Radar and anti-aircraft equipemtn, together with the exaggerated reespect felt for bombing aircraft, appear to render the ship less suitable for use in areas where heavy air attack is probable.

BRITISH NAVAL LIAISON OFFICER,
R.I. DUCA D'AOSTA

3rd March 1944

Sir,

I have the honour to submit the following report in accordance with C.A.F.O 1079/41 and 2096/42.

(a) During the first few days of the passage from Gibraltar to Freetown, the general atmosphere was subdued. On about the fifth day at sea I was informed by one of my signal staff, that the crew were talking of mutiny on arrival in port., and of wanting British Officers and Petty Officers in place of their own. Many of the crew axpressed their intention of deserting if the ship should arrive in an American port. However, the only mutinous development was an attack on the cells which were broken up by a small party and the prisoners released. The leader this party has since been tried by Court Martial and sentenced to six years imprisonment. A great deal of discontent aro e from the fact that they were not allowed to go ashore. The morale has improved considerably permission was given for shore leave.

Rear Admiral Biancheri, Commander 8th Division, transferred his Flag to AOSTA after the cell breaking incident. He has made four patrols in this ship and has done a great deal to tighten up the discipline. In spi e of the original idea to change their Officers they seem to have every faith in both Admiral Biancheri and the Commanding Officer, Captain D'Aloja.

(b) The principal political impression is that the Italians are anti-Fascist, anti-Nazi, but not necessarily pro-British. The majority of the crew arepro-American, but this does not include the officers who are more inclined to be pro-British. Seemingly pre-armistice propaganda has created a fixed idea that the British forces and materials are inferior to those of the Americans and that they are taking only a secondary part in the war. Possibly this idea originated during the Sicilian campaign when the Italians were fighting the Americans and the British were opposed to the Germans.

Some Officers think that landings should have been made further up the coast during the initial stages of the invasion, thus cutting the enemy lines of communication and forcing the Germans to withdraw from Southern Italy. Both officers and men are disappointed in the progress made by the Allies and find no consolation in the fact that half a million Germans are being retained on that front. They are all hoping that northern Italy will soon be liberated. There are some who are hoping that the opening of Second Front will cause the Germans to withdraw from northern Italy with little fighting thus reducing the danger to their families. All are impatiently awaiting the Second Front but the war in Russia interests them. Some think that a landing should be made in the Balkans at the same time as the opening of the Second Front in order to join up with the Russians but they also think it will be better for the Anglo-American forces to reach Berlin first. They are afraid that immediately after the war Britain and America will have great difficulty withRussia. 1054

When Mussolini fell from power I was on board an Italian Repatriation Liner. The Italian crew had a very high opinion of Marshall Badoglio but thought that the King should abdicate in favor of his sonx, Prince Umberto. On board [illegible] feelings for Badoglio are very mixed, and the majority dislikes both

When Mussolini fell from power I was on board an Italian Repatriation Liner. The Italian crew had a very high opinion of Marshall Badoglio but thought that the King should abdicate in favor of his sons, Prince Umberto. On board Aosta however, feelings for Badoglio are very mixed, and the majority disliken both the King and his son. They would prefer to see the Prince of Naples on the throne.

(c) Rear Admiral Biancheri has listened to some of the complaints and grievances but the principal worry is one that cannot remedied yet. It is that they do not know what is happening to their families in German Occupied Italy, whether they have sufficient to live on, or even if they are alive. They want, somehow,to obtain news of their families. The complaint of those from Southern Italy and Sicily is that they are receiving insufficient mail. Some Officers and quite a large number of men have served on board Aosta for the last six years and more and are wanting to return to Italy to be based ashore. Also, Aosta left Toranto at very short notice and had no time to embark a sufficient quantity of their own stores and provisions.

(d) The efficiency of the ship as a fighting unit is varied. Their low angle shooting is very good but their high-angle is rather indifferent. The ship has no asdic or hydrophone, and, until recently, no radar. She is definitely a fine weather ship intended for high speeds for two or three days only. Before commencing her series of anti-blockade runner patrols, it was necessary to construct and convert tanks for extra fuel in order to give her an endurance of eight days at sixteen knots, and a reasonable margin in case of emergencies. Seven patrols have been carried out and most of them have been without incident. The gunnery strength of the ship was reduced to the premature explosion of a hundred millimetre shell during a practice shoot. Two men were killed and two guns damaged. New guns have been fitted.

(e) Instruction on board is not regular. It is spasmodic and the spasms usually occur when the Admiral in on board. The ship is never as clean as is desired by the Captain, so much time is spent in chipping and painting. Every day seamanship is lacking and a fryed end of rope is likely to continue to fray or to have a knot tied in the end.

(a) STORES. About 6000 tons of Naval Stores, including baulk timber and steel repair materials, have been received since the Department was set up here. These shipments were spread over 20 freightships.

(b) STOREHOUSES. Four large storehouses have been taken over from the Italians and fitted out for stowing stores.

(c) LABOUR. To unpack and stow the stores about 150 Italians have been employed every day.

6. ARMY UNLOADING.

Army unloading at six or sometimes seven berths and necessity to get their ships alongside handicaps refitting as ships have to lie at anchor with stern to wharf and consequently practically all crane work on ships afloat is by floating crane.

7. WORKING PARTIES GENERALLY.

The reduction of working parties by 25% through lack of boots and clothing has been a serious handicap though every effort has been made by F.C.T.A.L.I. to get some released as was done to Italians employed on unloading for the Army.

ITALIAN SUBMARINES AT BERMUDA

On about 3 January 1944 the following five Italian Submarines were ordered to report to Commandant, U.S. Naval Operating Base, Bermuda to aid in U.S. and British Anti-Submarine Training:

DANDOLO
MAREA
VORTICE

Later, NOB, Bermuda requested two more Italian Submarines, making a total of seven. As a result of the request, the JALEA and ONICE departed about 1 May for Bermuda. The JALEA broke down enroute and was required to return to Gibraltar for repairs. FOGMA in despatch 051046 July estimates that repairs to the JALEA will be completed 18 July.

While JALEA is under repair at Gibraltar, the ONICE is at the Azores where she is being used by the R.A.F. in anti-submarine exercises.

Upon completion of repairs to JALEA about 18 July, she will be escorted to Azores to join ONICE. Both will then be escorted to Bermuda.

POLICY OF COMMAND IN MIXED ITALIAN AND BRITISH ESCORT GROUPS.

FROM .... FLAG OFFICER TARANTO AND ADRIATIC.

DATE .... 18th April, 1944. No.T.A.1001/12.

TO .... COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, MEDITERRANEAN STATION.
Copies to: Vice Admiral Malta and Central Mediterransan.
Flag Officer, Western Italy.
Senior Naval Officer, Eastern Sicily.)

The Policy of Command as well as the proposal to introduce mixed escorts, as contained in your letter Med.30180/20 dated 3rd April, 1944, has been discussed with the Minister of Marine and fully explained to him. His reactions were not favourable.

2. The decision of the Combined Chiefs of Staff as laid down in paragraph 7 of C.C.S. 515 of the 19th March, together with the facts given in paragraph 2 of your letter were made quite clear to him. He accepted all these facts but pointed out that (1) and (2), for which he was most grateful, affected material only and did not concern the larger issue of mixed escorts.

3. He maintained throughout the interview that the proposal to institute mixed escorts was directly contrary to the terms of the Memorandum of Agreement which he had drawn up with Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham.

4. He referred to paragraph 3.(e) of this Agreement, in which it is laid down that the Italian Destroyers and Torpedo-boats "should be divided into escort groups working as units and that they should be based on Italian ports." He pointed out that these units had now been working together for six months and had been providing the escorts for the Augusta-Taranto and Auguste-Naples routes and he particularly requested that further consideration should be given before these groups are broken up.

5. From the reports received it would appear that these groups are carrying out their duties in a satisfactory and efficient manner and it is confidently anticipated that the tactical table, which is being erected at Taranto to give them practice in attack and defence problems, will increase their efficiency. 5. From the reports received it would appear that these groups are carrying out their duties in a satisfactory and efficient manner and it is confidently anticipated that the tactical table, which is being erected at Taranto to give them practice in attack and defence problems, will increase their efficiency. Their interest and enthusiasm has certainly been stimulated during the last few weeks by training on the mobile A/S attack teacher.

6. The question of command is a much more delicate problem. The Minister admitted the truth of facts (3) and (4) in paragraph 2 of your letter but after a long discussion he stated that he could not agree to the suggestion that Italian officers must always act under the orders of British officers regardless of seniority. He protested that it would be impossible for him to maintain the morale of his officers if he were to concur with and attempt to enforce this proposal. For the same reason also, he said that he would not entertain the suggestion in [illegible] paragraph 2 that the seniority of his Commanding Officers might be reversed.

Repairs required to main and auxiliary machinery of ITALIAN sloop ERITREA are of such an extensive nature that they are considered to be beyond the capacity of the already overtaxed repair facilities in this theatre.

(2) Machinery is of Italian make and all spares ~~would~~ would have to be fabricated.

(3) Early passage to a refitting port capable of undertaking this work is desired as a breakdown now would probably immobilise her arm The extent of her auxiliary machinery precludes her being used as depot ship on this station. It is proposed therefore that ship be sailed for MED for either permanent repair at an Italian port or reduction to care and maintenance

OFFICE OF THE REPRESENTATIVE AT BARI
OF THE MINISTER RESIDENT AT ALLIED FORCE HEADQUARTERS.

BARI.

17th May, 1944.

My Dear Harold:

The Italians have addressed to our Naval Authorities a complaint that three Italian motor schooners which recently escaped from the Trieste Area were seized by the Partisans at Vis, at which port they had been obliged to put in. The complaint adds that all stores on board the vessels were removed and the crews were obliged to join the ranks of the Partisans.

The names of the three vessels are : Emilia, Gagliano and San Antonio.

A signal has been sent from here to the British Commander on Vis to investigate the question and report on the facts. In the meantime I thought you might like to know about the receipt of the complaint. I imagine the matter will come up for discussion at the next meeting of Special Operations Committee.

Yours etc

Philip Brown(Sgd)

I feel obliged to point out to your Office that a situation has come about in regard to minor coastal vessels in liberated Italian ports which retards the revival of mercantile activities and the absorption of unemployed labour.

You are aware that CO.SE.NA., apart from supplying the Allies with the shipping they require, has taken upon itself the right to sub-charter excess shipping to firms and private individuals, thus taking the place of Owners and fixing arbitrary rates which do not respond to the present real monetary situation.

This system, besides being conducive frequently to Owners claiming for damage which is non-existent so as to obtain extra payment in an underhand way from the owner of the merchandise, has stopped all private initiative in connection with the salvaging and repairing of Sencoonors and new construction, as the high cost of materials and labour does not encourage investments under the system at present in force.

This stoppage in the reconstruction of the Mercantile Marine besides affecting the general traffic situation, also influences maritime and port labour which, as is well known, is passing through a very serious period of stagnation; it is this latter aspect of the problem that concerns this Ministry.

To bring about a reconstruction in shipping, I consider it essential that ships in excess of Allied requirements should be freed from every onus and be allowed to ply where commercial needs dictate, at least in regard to Sencoonors under 100 tons.

I hold that in this way, without affecting Allied needs, a decided improvement would occur in maritime traffic, in increasing the number of small coastal vessels and most of all in reducing the unemployment rife in liberated Italian ports.

I trust that my proposal may be taken into consideration by your office and I shall be glad to know your decisions on same.

A S.E. IL SOTTOSEGRETARIO ALLA MARINA MERCANTILE R O M A

Mi corre l'obbligo di segnalare a codesto Ufficio una situazione creatasi nella marina di piccolo cabotaggio dei porti dell'Italia liberata che contribuisce a ritardare la ripresa dell'attività mercantile e il riassorbimento della mano d'opera disoccupata.

E' noto che il CO.GE.NA., oltre che a fornire agli Alleati il naviglio loro necessario, si è attribuito il diritto di sub-noleggiare ad enti e a privati il naviglio esuberante sostituendosi in tal modo agli armatori e imponendo tariffe arbitrarie non rispondenti alla reale situazione monetaria attuale.

Tale sistema, oltre che ad indurre spesso gli armatore a simulare avarie inesistenti al fine di ottenere sottomano dal proprietario delle merci sovra-compensi non dovuti, ha arrestato ogni iniziativa privata di recupero e riparazione dei velieri affondati o comunque danneggiati in conseguenza della guerra, e di costruzione di nuovi velieri, in quanto l'alto costo del materiale e della mano d'opera non trova una adeguata prospettiva di utile investimento nel sistema vincolato in atto in vigore.

Tale arresto della ricostruzione del naviglio mercantile 983 oltre che sulla situazione generale del traffico, si ripercuote sulla mano d'opera marittima e portuale che, - come è risaputo - attraversa in at-

to un gravissimo periodo di stasi, ed é sotto questo aspetto che il problema interessa questo Ministero.

Al fine di determinare una ripresa nella ricostruzione del naviglio, ritengo che sia necessario che il naviglio esuberante ai fabbisogni degli Alleati sia lasciato libero da ogni onere e con facoltà di spostarsi secondo i bisogni del libero commercio e ciò almeno per quanto riguarda i velieri inferiori alle 100 tonnellate.

Io ritengo che un tale provvedimento, senza nuocere ad esigenze degli Alleati, apporterebbe un effettivo miglioramento sia al traffico marittimo, sia all'incremento del naviglio di piccolo cabotaggio e sopratutto gioverebbe a ridurre la disoccupazione in atto imperante nei porti dell'Italia liberata.

Confido che le mie proposte saranno prese in considerazione da codesto ufficio e gradirei conoscere le determinazioni che saranno prese h riguardo.

IL MINISTRO

M. Lusta
