Joe,
We are looking for an old Brindisi 201 file -- PACCIARDI.
Rodriguez had it at Salerno and he says you were the one who split up the 201 files and got rid of them. He has a record of having ^{had} this particular one, and he thinks you will be able to help us locate it. Do you know where it is?

August 8, 1944

MEMORANDUM FOR: William W. Schott, Esquire,
Political Section, Allied Control Commission,
Corporation Building, Rome.

SUBJECT: Signora Luigia Pacciardi.

Reference is made to your communication of July 30 regarding Signora Luigia Pacciardi. G-2(CI) Section of AFHQ have stated that they cannot view the proposed repatriation of Signora Pacciardi with any favor unless ASC consider that it would be in some way helpful to the war effort, but no specific Security objection is raised provided that:

a. Signora Pacciardi during the war period has not been in any country other than the United States of America, unless in company with her husband.

b. No adverse Security information about her is on record in the United States.

The attitude of G-2 AFHQ with regard to this matter is that Signora Pacciardi may be considered to come within the same category as the wife of Count Storza and Signora Togliatti, for whose repatriation permission was given simply because they were the wives of former political exiles who have been permitted to return to their native land.

MEMORANDUM TO: U. S. Political Advisor, Allied Force Headquarters.
SUBJECT : Signora Luigia Pacciardi

The Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs has requested that the necessary authorization and travel facilities be obtained for the repatriation of Signora Luigia Pacciardi, residing at 190 Waverley Place, New York City, as soon as possible.

Signora Pacciardi is the wife of Signor Sandofo Pacciardi, head of the Italian Republican party, who returned to Italy from the United States a short time ago.

It would be appreciated if the necessary arrangements could be made to facilitate Signora Pacciardi's return to Italy, should this action be considered feasible.

I've been hoping to see you at Brindisi, so as to thank you personally for your extreme kindness in forwarding letters to & from my daughter, including the one from Hamish. But I hear that you are remaining at Salerno, so I must confine myself to expressing my gratitude by letter.

I had also hoped that you would come & dine with me & simply meet at our mess, and give me the occasion to introduce you to General Berard, my chief.

I hope however that this pleasure for me may not be delayed too long.

May I again profit by your kindness and ask you the favor of forwarding the enclosed letter to Hamish?

MEMORANDUM TO: Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Rome.

SUBJECT : Garibaldi Legion, North Africa.

Thank you for your letter 1/214 of 12 August in connection with the Garibaldi Legion, North Africa.

I have shown your letter to General Browning, who is delighted not only with your clear and full explanation but also with the fact that the Legion is at the prospective stage only, and therefore all further action in connection with this matter can now be discontinued without heartburns or offence to anyone.

As you probably know, the ceiling of the Italian Army is limited and at the present moment the Army is, I believe, some 30000 over strength. Demobilization of this surplus is taking place; and further demobilization of personnel will be necessary in order to absorb volunteer patriots (whose numbers are likely to grow larger and larger as we advance North) into the Army while still keeping within the ceiling.

For these reasons, while fully appreciating the political angle and with regret for all the effort produced (without his knowledge), General Browning cannot agree to any further action being taken in this Garibaldi project.

I am sure that, in view of the above, you will agree.

Dear Caccia,

You will recall that you recently informed Del Balzo that the question concerning the proposed organization of a "Garibaldi Legion", and the return of Col. Panella to North Africa was to be dealt with through the Italian Chief of Staff, General Berardi. The latter has in the meantime asked our advice, and all the information at our disposal, in connection with the matter in general and a letter (marked: Secret) which he has recently received from Major General Browning, of which I enclose, confidentially, a copy.

We have naturally been very glad to furnish General Berardi with a full and detailed retrospective story of the matter. Since, however, General Browning appears to be labouring under some misconception as to the origin, the scope and the character of the initiative, also with regards to the part which the Ministry for Foreign Affairs has had therein. I would indeed be most grateful if you could be so good as to explain the situation in the proper quarters in order to clear any possible misunderstanding.

The points I would like, in particular, to make are the following:

stage. There is no Legion in actual formation. No steps have been taken, or, obviously, would have been taken, without consulting the competent Allied Authorities with whose full knowledge and consent Col. Panella originally came to Italy. It is also to be noted that whilst the question was raised officially with the A.C.C. as far back as March 1st, and notwithstanding the correspondence and the exchange of views which has taken place during the subsequent five months, no intimation was given before now that the plan was considered infavourably on Allied part.

20) There was never any question of organizing a "private army".

You will surely remember how very decidedly the Italian Government has always discouraged the formation of any such units. In this particular case it had always been clearly understood that the Legion would be constituted and would fight as a unit of the regular army. Indeed the whole plan was connected with the purpose of drawing these volunteers within the framework of the Italian Army to avoid that they might fight as an independent body or under non Italian orders.

30) It was similarly never the question of organizing the Legion with P.O.W.'s.

The volunteers were civilians, members of a previous Garibaldi Legion which was formed in France and who, after the Armistice of June 1940, had escaped from France to North Africa. It had been merely suggested, at one point, to draw on a limited number of P.O.W. Officers and non-commissioned officers for the establishment of the unit which, however, could also have been effected otherwise.

Apart from these points, I would also like to recall that the question had and has a political angle. The idea was, namely, not to leave unheeded what appeared to be a small but significant opportunity for a more active Italian participation in the struggle for liberation, which is, after all, also a part of the common war effort. The Red-shirted volunteers represent, moreover, one of the finest traditions of our Risorgimento and would have constituted a tangible link between the past and present wars for Italy's liberation. Under the circumstances it would be disappointing if, after five months discussing and planning, the initiative should be definitively discarded, possibly on account of lack of information as to its relevant aspects, without being given at least a first hand sympathetic consideration by the Allied Military Authorities; and I would therefore be very grateful, dear Caccia, if in illustrating the situation to the competent quarters, you could see your way to emphasizing also this side of the picture, in order that it may be taken in due account in the further exchange of views which they may have with General Berardi.

Very cordially yours

Political Section, A.C.C. has recently handed me over certain papers in connection with the above, saying, rightly, that it is no concern of theirs.

Apparently since early in March discussions have been proceeding with a view to Col. PANNELLA going to ALGERIA to organise a GARIBOLDI Legion there out of Prisoners of War. The idea apparently was that this Legion should be organised in North Africa and brought over to Italy to be incorporated in the official Italian Army.

It appears also that Comando Supremo were concerned in this though I gather from you that you had nothing to do with it.

Apart from the fact that this personnel in NORTH AFRICA is P.O.W., the whole business is highly irregular. No "private armies" are permitted under any circumstances.

The only Italian Army recognised by the Allies in Italy is the official new Italian Army.

Please therefore take steps forthwith to ensure that no further action is taken as regards this GARIBOLDI Legion which, if in process of formation, will be dissolved forthwith.

The Italian Ministry for Foreign Affairs, which was also mixed up in this business, is telling Col. PANNELLA to explain the whole situation to you and you will now know how to act.

Further to Memoranda n.2779 and n.2978, respectively dated 9th and 15th May ult. (copies are herewith enclosed), the Royal Ministry of Foreign Affairs should be grateful if the Allied Control Commission would kindly inform of the approximate date when Col. Panella, charged with the re-organization of the "Garibaldi" Legion, in North Africa, will be able to return to Algiers.

As the Political Section of the A.C.C. is aware, Col. Panella arrived in Salerno on April 25th ult., and after having had useful contacts with the Italian military authorities has been waiting, since the beginning of May, for the necessary arrangements to be made for his return to Algiers where he should take the matter up with Allied Headquarters.

The Royal Ministry of Foreign Affairs will much appreciate a favourable reply with the least possible delay.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE POLITICAL SECTION A.C.C.

Following Memorandum n.2779 of May 9th, the Royal Ministry for Foreign Affairs ventures to repeat that it would be very grateful if it could be possible for Colonel Panella to leave for Algiers without undue delay. His journey is rendered all the more necessary and urgent as, having satisfactorily concluded his talks with the Italian military authorities on the Garibaldi's Legion participation in the war, he will now have to approach on the same matter Allied Headquarters Mediterranean. Colonel Panella will in fact have to enlist the support and cooperation of Allied Headquarters in order to solve, amongst other technical details, the following important questions:

- 1) the rearmament of the Legionnaires;
- 2) the establishment of the units with Italian Officers and N.C.O. drawn from amongst the most suitable elements at present P.O.W. in North Africa;
- 3) the necessary arrangements for the transportation to Italy of the Legion, about 2000 strong.

With Memorandum n.899 of March 1st ult., the Ministry for Foreign Affairs emphasized the far reaching political importance of ensuring a speedy entry of the Garibaldi Legion in the common fight on the Italian front, in view also of the fact that the Red-shirted volunteers are the depositors of the finest tradition of the Risorgimento and constitute the best tangible link between the past wars for Italy's liberation and the present one.

This political aspect of the matter, which cannot be overlooked, induces this Ministry to hope that the Political Section of the A.C.C. will warmly support, in the most suitable and effective manner, the requirements Col. Panella will submit to the Allied Command so that they should be taken into the most favourable and urgent consideration.

COPYMEMORANDUM FOR THE POLITICAL SECTION OF THE A.C.C.

With reference to Memorandum n.1574 of March 27th ult., and while thanking the Political Section of the A.C.C. for its kind intervention in order to expedite Col. Panella's visit to Italy, the Royal Ministry for Foreign Affairs now informs that he arrived in Salerno on April 25th ult.

Having had a very useful exchange of views with the Italian military authorities with the aim of organizing the transfer of the Garibaldi Legion on the Italian front, Col. Panella is now ready to leave for Algiers to take the matter up with Allied Headquarters.

This Ministry would be very glad if the Political Section could arrange for the return trip of Col. Panella which should take place without undue delay and thanks in advance for its kind interest in the matter.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE POLITICAL SECTION A.C.C.

With reference to Memorandum of March 1st n.899 concerning the participation of the Garibaldi Legion in the war on the Italian front, it would be much appreciated if it would be possible to learn the decision of the Allied Authorities as to the voyage of Col. Panella, Chief of Staff of the Legion.

In this Ministry's opinion it would be useful to the common war effort, if, in the near future, the Legion were enabled to take its place alongside its Italian comrades of the regular Army on the line of battle. For this reason an exchange of views with Col. Panella would be necessary.

COPYMEMORANDUM FOR THE POLITICAL SECTION A.C.C.

In September 1939 General Sante Garibaldi founded in Paris a Garibaldi's Legion: its strength about 43,000 members; its object anti-fascist and anti-german. When the second World War broke out the Legion was partially mobilized and about 1500 Garibaldinians fought the Germans at Tours.

Following the Italo-French armistice of June 1940 and the total occupation of metropolitan France in 1943, the Legion scattered and many of them managed to reach North Africa; amongst the latter there was Colonel Panella, Chief of Staff of the Legion. Lately the French Committee of National Liberation invited Col. Panella to reorganize the Legion as a Unit of the Free French Army in order to take part in the common struggle.

The Legionnaires, however, now that Italy is a co-belligerent of the United Nations would naturally prefer to fight on Italy's soil alongside the Italian Army.

In the Garibaldinians request there is a moral and historical angle that cannot be overlooked: their fighting here would constitute a link between the past and the present, between the wars of Risorgimento and the present struggle against Italy's traditional enemy.

It is therefore proposed that Col. Panella should come to Salerno to discuss the technical aspect and necessary details of the Legion's participation in the war: a suggestion to this effect has already been cabled to him through General Castellano in Algiers.

This Ministry would, however, be very grateful if the Political Section (A.C.C.) could expedite Col. Panella's transportation from Algiers to Salerno.

TO MAKINS
Jung, Pascasio, + Panetta

MAC/and

In reply refer to:

9 December 1943

For some reason I only received last night your letter 30/150/4 of 27 November enclosing a telegram from P.M.B. about Jung, Pascasio, and Panetta.

I will not add anything about Jung; but I should like to repeat that he is one of the ablest as well as one of the best disposed of the present Government.

There must have been two Pascasios. Nicolo Pascasio was the Acting Editor of the "Gazzetta del Mezzogiorno" of Bari at the time of our landing in Italy and was shortly afterwards sacked at the insistence of P.M.B. He is a small town journalist and I doubt whether Mussolini had ever heard of him. I understand from Innocenti that another Pascasio was the Chief Editor of the "Giornale d'Italia" and must have been a deep-dyed Fascist to hold that post. But he has no post in the Badoglio Government and no one here knows even where he now is. It is presumed that he is in German-controlled Italy.

The P.M.B. telegram is equally off the mark about Panetta. There are three Panettas known by the authorities here known to be in Government service and I need scarcely say that the one to which P.M.B. presumably refers is known to be in German-occupied Italy. He is Spifanio Panetta who was the "Capo Divisione degli Affari Generali e Riservati della Pubblica Sicurezza" (i.e. not CIRA). According to such information as exists here, he was known to be strongly anti-German and probably on their black list. The other two Panettas are brothers and not relations at all of Spifanio. Tomaso was Questore, (i.e. head of local Police), at Bari and as there had been complaints in Bari that his attitude towards Fascism had been too warm, Badoglio decided to remove him. He has now got some sort of job to deal with Italian refugees coming down from the battle areas and we are pursuing the question whether even this employment is undesirable. The brother is a Lieutenant Colonel in the Police of whom nothing is known.

I am afraid that P.W.B. may have been reading too literally the D reports from Capt. Robertson of P.W.B. Bari. He is extremely useful in picking up every rumor that circulates in anti-Governmental circles. But his reports should be read as such and not as statements of fact. From what we have seen of the consolidated reports by P.W.B. in Algiers (I by Radford) we have been relieved to see that they are not always taken at their face value.

Dear Tom:

I have received a letter from Johnny Jones in reference to location of Second Lieutenant Leonardo Pasterin D'Antreves. His whereabouts is desired to be known by an official of the Italian Ministry of Foreign Affairs. Inquiries made by Johnny in Washington indicate that this officer is held by the American military authorities as a prisoner of war in North Africa, but the War Department record does not indicate at which camp he is being held. His prisoner of war number is 811/4934. He suggests perhaps you might ascertain from the military authorities the exact location of his whereabouts in North Africa.

I shall appreciate your kind assistance in this matter and with warm regards from both of us to both of you.

Dear Bill:

I have made some inquiries following the receipt of your letter of September 18, 1944, concerning the whereabouts of Second Lieutenant Leonardo Passerin D'Entreves. The Prisoner of War Information Bureau of the War Department has informed us that the young man is held by the American military authorities as a prisoner of war in North Africa. His prisoner of war number is 81174934. However, the War Department records do not indicate at which camp in North Africa he is being held.

It has been suggested here that you get in touch with Tom Yates in Caserta and ask him to ascertain from the military authorities the exact whereabouts of Passerin D'Entreves in North Africa. I am sorry that our information here is not more complete.

Dear John,

I have received from Count Marchetti, the Chef de Cabinet of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, a letter of which the pertinent part reads as follows:

"In Florence I found an old childhood friend of mine who for over a year had had no news of his son, Sub-Lieutenant Leonardo Tassarin d'Entrevos. He was made prisoner in May 1943 in Tunisia and taken to America where he was first sent to P.O. #, Camp N. 123 and later was transferred to Hospital N. 100; this was his last address.

"I am wondering whether you would be so good, if it is possible for you to do so, as to let me have some information concerning the P.O. # in question so that I can set their parents' mind at rest. I need hardly add that they, naturally, are very concerned at this lack of news of him."

If it is appropriate for you to do so, will you be so good as to have enquiry made regarding this P.O. # and forwarding it to me?

505 - Pazzi, Guido

Verbal Note confidential and urgent for the Allied Command in Naples.

Prof. Razzi, formerly Under Secretary for Informations, known to the Members of the Allied Control Commission at Brindisi and to the members of the Consultative Commission for Italy in Algier, wishes both the Commissions to know that he has the charge of meeting them urgently.

Prof. Razzi, in fact, possesses two letters of the Direction of the Italian Socialist Party for the two Commissions and other official documents.

The urgency is due to special Italian political conditions which are, in these days and before the end of the month, moving and needing a decision.

Prof. Razzi would be even ready to go to Algier, but thinks his presence necessary in this moment here, in Italy, for the purpose of controlling the situation.

He suggests that it would be opportune that ~~XXXXXXXXXXXX~~ Mr. Cassia and Mr. ⁶Neer should be so kind to disturb themselves and come at once to Naples to meet him; afterwards it will be decided how to meet the Algier Commission.

Prof. Razzi will remain in Naples until the 23rd of this month, but suggests to anticipate the meeting as soon as possible.
