8. DISINFECTION OF FRESH VEGETABLES AND FRUITS. a. Unit commanders and mess officers are reminded that Germicidal Rinse (QM item 51-C-1606, also known as Microklene), is somewhat superior to HTH for disinfecting fruits and vegetables intended to be eaten raw. After individual leaves or stalks of vegetables are separated, they or fruit should be carefully washed, and then soaked for 30 minutes in disinfecting solution (1 package of Germicidal Rinse powder in 2/3 or less of a G.I. can of water). It is important that each individual leaf be submerged and that all be agitated from time to time. The disinfection solution should be rinsed off with ordinary chlorinated water after soaking is finished.

b. Germicidal rinse is also intended for disinfection of dishes in situations where it is impossible or impractical to boil water. Dishes will be soaked 30 seconds after washing and rinsing.

c. For either purpose, 4 tablespoonfuls of HTH may be substituted for one package of Germicidal Rinse if necessary.

d. Basis of issue: 360 units per 1000 men per 30 days. G-4

9. PREPARATION OF GREEN STRING BEANS. a. String beans green currently issued by the Quartermaster are woody texture, however, they can be made palatable by the following method:

100 Rations

Break off tips of beans, break remainder of bean into one inch strips. Place in a closed boiler covering one third the beans with water. When brought to a boil add one cup of vinegar, boil slowly for one hour, or until tender. Add one cup of sugar, three lbs. of fried diced bacon, salt and pepper to taste.

b. Whenever possible aluminum pots should be used when cooking these beans. The fact that the green beans turn black while cooking is not an indication of poisoning or unpalatable food. They are palatable and nutritious. G-4

PARIS PEELING BACK AT THREE POINTS IN BELGIUM-LUXEMBOURG AREA; SHAEF, December 20--The picture of the Westfront last evening was more hopeful than at any time since Von Rundstedt began his push across Luxembourg and Belgium thirteen days ago. The enemy's 2,000-square-mile bulge was shrinking slightly but surely under organized Allied pressure from the north, the south and the west. The German News Agency itself reported to its listeners that, "A halt has been called to the German advance at every point where it could be most threatening." The Allied lines are now hardening, with each side sparring for openings in which to seize the initiative. The Americans appear to have three starts on such openings.

The greatest of these counter-drives was dramatically announced late last night after the six-day cloak of silence was lifted. It officially confirmed that General George S. Patton's 3rd Army had come to the assistance of the American 1st Army. The 3rd has regained sixteen miles during the past days. The 3rd was responsible for the freeing of the encircled garrison at Bastogne. In the past twenty-four hours, the 3rd advanced up to three and a half miles in some sectors, capturing 1,200 prisoners and leaving 1,000 German dead on the field. Enemy casualties are estimated at an additional 500. The 3rd is striking on a thirty-five mile front from the south, clawing into the flank of Rundstedt's force.

The line is quiet in the area north of St. Hubert, but the second American effort is turning back the western-most tip of the enemy salient at the point of greatest danger. West of Rochefort at the German nearest approach to the Meuse River, the enemy has been pushed back three valuable miles. SHAEF has announced the encirclement of a large enemy force which a late Reuters dispatch says surrendered under a heavy American artillery bombardment. SHAEF estimated the prisoners already taken at 1,500.

East of Marche on the northern flank, the third major attack is being made. News from this salient is brief but the attack is aimed at the two major supply routes to the forces in the west of Marche. A possible encirclement of all enemy forces west of the position and subsequent annihilation of a considerable portion of the enemy divisions is indicated by this Allied drive.

As SHAEF started loosening up in its security blackout, an announcement last night said that the Germans lost something like 1,000 tanks in the first twelve days of their offensive. The equivalent of two German Panzer divisions' tanks were lost to ground forces, which means 400 enemy tanks were destroyed, while Allied Air Forces claim 115 tanks destroyed and 319 damaged. During the twelve days, Allied aircraft dropped 35,000 tons of bombs over the area.

AERIAL ATTEMPT TO CHOKE ENEMY'S SUPPLY LINES CONTINUES FOR SIXTH DAY: London, December 20--Despite bad weather yesterday, the Allied attempt to strangle the German salient from the air by choking off its supply lines went into its sixth consecutive day yesterday. About 1,200 Liberators and Flying Fortresses, with fighter escort, hit key supply centers for the day while 500 RAF bombers went for other targets. No Luftwaffe opposition was reported for the first time in the six days' offensive from the air. Correspondents at SHAEF said the Allied air onslaught against von Rundstedt's armies has reached a capacity never known before while RAF reported German losses as high as 10 fighters a day

SECRETARY STIMSON'S COMMENT ON THE OFFENSIVE: Washington, December 20--The U.S. Secretary of War, Mr. Henry Stimson, said today: "The Germans have committed almost all their crack Panzer Divisions to their offensive. I am confident this German throw of dice will have disastrous consequences for them."

FIFTH ARMY YIELDS SLIGHTLY IN SERCHIO VALLEY AREA: AFHQ, December 20--Though official reports are brief, describing "slight" withdrawals involving only "leading elements," it is however apparent that the German counter-attack continues in the narrow Serchio Valley north of Lucca around the key road junction of Colli-cano, which is forty miles from the 5th Army's supply port of Leghorn. American troops have evacuated Barga, a town on the eastern end of the smaller, but six mile wide, enemy penetration. It was also reported that Allied aircraft bombed Gallicano itself yesterday, which is the first indication that American 5th Army troops have evacuated this town. American Negro troops are bearing the brunt of the German push which is supported by both medium and light artillery. From his snowbound mountain defenses, Marshall Kesselring is coordinating his attack with strong patrols south and southwest of Bologna, but these are reported repulsed.

The MAAF had a busy day Wednesday with a total of 2,800 sorties, while yesterday the enemy's communications were attacked for the third consecutive day by giant Liberators. Other heavy bombers attacked oil targets in Germany and Czechoslovakia. Targets included an oil storage area and freight yards at Regensburg, and oil refineries at Pardubic and Kolin, east of Prague. Further attacks were also made on the Brenner Pass railroad with good results.

RED ARMIES FIGHTING THROUGH STREETS OF BUDAPEST: Moscow, December 20--Moving forward over the areas of great tank battles, the Russians have captured about ten of the Hungarian capital's eighty-square miles. It is a house-to-house type of fight now, like the siege of Aachen, and destroys all before it.

Southwest of Budapest, the Red Armies also occupied more territory off the northern tip of Lake Balaton, while northwest of the Hungarian Capital, they moved up to the Hron River on a considerable stretch west of Sahy. The official Moscow communique also states that the first crossing of this river has been made, in the push on toward Austria and Vienna.

CHURCHILL HITS CONFERENCE IN GREECE: Athens, December 20--It was officially stated last night that Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Anthony Eden had left the Greek capital for London, after they will suggest to the Greek King that a regency be set up. This seems to be the overwhelming desire of those present at the three-day conference as the solution to the many problems of the politically ruptured country.

At a press conference later, Churchill said that he hoped to get together with President Roosevelt and Marshal Stalin soon, and that the Greek question would be "one of the most important items on the agenda."

CASUALTIES ANNOUNCED: From Washington, it was announced that U.S. combat casualties since Pearl Harbor reached 626,441 yesterday, or about a 60,000 gain over the figure released two weeks ago.

A BBC commentator last night stated that nearly 60,000 British civilians have been killed under fire, and 60,000 seriously wounded. One house in every three has been damaged, of which 200,000 were damaged beyond repair.

The German High Command announced the death of Field Marshal Guenther von Kluge, former commander-in-chief of the Westfront, a suicide, and the death of another German general in action on the Russian front. At the same time, Moscow broadcast the death of Lt. Gen. Eric von Rittenbach, another suicide. The order on von Kluge was dated in August and told of his handing over his command after the Normandy defeat, following which he took his own life. The Moscow report of the suicide of von Rittenbach said that a letter was left in which the general asserted that Germany's defeat was pending.
