

Declassified E.O. 12356 Section 3.3/NND No.

785015

ACC

10000/136/137

PROPOSALS FOR FORMATION
OCT. 1944 - APR. 1945

10000/136/137

PROPOSALS FOR FORMATION OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION
OCT. 1944 - APR. 1945

510/CC

Office of the
Chief Commissioner

ALLIED COMMISSION

LIST OF PAPERS

File under No. 510 PROPOSALS FOR FORMATION OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION

Page 1

SERIAL NUMBER	FROM—	DATE	TO—	SYNOPSIS
1				Dumbarton Oaks Plan

4496

HEADQUARTERS ALLIED COMMISSION

Ref. _____

Date

26 April 1945

Public Relations Branch

APR 26 RECD

Information Division

To

Initial

	Acting President
✓	Chief Commissioner	Tabell
	Chief of Staff
	Deputy Chief of Staff
	Chief Staff Officer to COS
	Executive Officer
	Section:
	Sub Commission

FOR:

Information retention ☒ Perusal and return _____

Remarks: _____

4490
Est. 14
Public Relations Branch

TRUMAN SPEECH TO SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE:

April 28th

Ladies and Gentlemen, the President of the United States:

Delegates to the United Nation's conference and international organization.

The world has experienced a revival of an old faith in the international moral force of justice. At no time in history has there been a more important conference or a more necessary meeting than this one in San Francisco which you are opening today. On behalf of the American people, I extend to you a most hearty welcome. President Roosevelt appointed an able delegation to represent the United States. We have complete confidence in its chairman, Secretary of State Stettinius, and in his distinguished colleagues, former secretary Cordell Hull, Senator Connelly, Senator Vandenberg, Representatives Diullen and Representative Edén, Governor Stasson and Dean Gildersleeve. They have my confidence, they have my support.

In the name of a great humanitarian, one who is surely with us here today in spirit, I earnestly appeal to each and everyone of you to rise above personal interests and to adhere to those lofty principles which benefit all mankind. Franklin D. Roosevelt gave his life by trying to perpetuate these high ideals. This conference owes its existence in a large part, to the vision, foresight and determination of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Each of you can remember other courageous champions who also made the supreme sacrifice serving under your flag. They gave their lives so that others might live in security. They died to insure justice. We must work and live to guarantee justice for all.

You members of this conference are the architects of a better world. In your hands rests our future. By your labors at this conference, we shall know if suffering humanity is to achieve a just and lasting peace. Let us ~~achieve~~ achieve a peace which is truly worthy of their great sacrifice. We must make certain by your work here that another war will be impossible. We who have lived through the torture and the tragedy of two world conflicts must realize the magnitude or a more necessary meeting than this one in San Francisco which you are opening today. On behalf of the American people, I extend to you a most hearty welcome. President Roosevelt appointed an able delegation to represent the United States. We have complete confidence in its chairman, Secretary of State Stettinius, and in his distinguished colleagues, former secretary Cordell Hull, Senator Connolly, Senator Vandenberg, Representatives Diullen and Representative Eden, Governor Stasson and Dean Gildersleeve. They have my confidence, they have my support.

In the name of a great humanitarian, one who is surely with us here today in spirit, I earnestly appeal to each and everyone of you to rise above personal interests and to adhere to those lofty principles which benefit all mankind. Franklin D. Roosevelt gave his life by trying to perpetuate these high ideals. This conference owes its existence in a large part, to the vision, foresight and determination of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Each of you can remember other courageous champions who also made the supreme sacrifice serving under your flag. They gave their lives so that others might live in security. They died to insure justice. We must work and live to guarantee justice for all.

510/cc
You members of this conference are the architects of a better world. In your hands rests our future. By your labors at this conference, we shall know if suffering humanity is to achieve a just and lasting peace. Let us ~~achieve~~ achieve a peace which is truly worthy of their great sacrifice. We must make certain by your work here that another war will be impossible. We who have lived through the torture and the tragedy of two world conflicts must realize the magnitude of this problem before us. We do not need farsighted vision to understand the trend in recent history. It's significance is all too clear.

With ever increasing brutality and destruction modern war fare its own self would ultimately crush all civilisation. We still have a choice between the alternatives continuation of international chaos, or the establishment of a world organisation for the enforcement of peace. It is not the purpose of this conference to draft a treaty of peace in the old sense of that term. It is not our assignment to settle specific questions of territory, boundaries, citizenship and reparations. This conference will devote its energy and its labors exclusively to the single problem of setting up the essential organisation to cheat the thief. You are to write the fundamental charter. Our sole objective at this decisive gathering is to create the structure. We must provide the machinery which will make future peace not only possible, but certain. The construction of this delicate machine is far more complicated than drawing boundary lines on a map or estimating reparations, or placing reasonable limits upon armament. Your task must be completed first. We represent the overwhelming majority of all mankind. We speak for people who have endured the most savage and devastating war ever inflicted upon innocent men, women and children. We hold a powerful mandate from our people. They believe/^{we} will fulfill this obligation. We must prevent, if human mind, heart and hope can prevent it, the repetition of the disaster from which the entire world must suffer for years to come. If we should pay merely lip service to the inspiring ideas and then later do violence to civil justice, we would draw down upon us the bitter wrath of generations yet unborn. We must not continue to sacrifice the flower of our youth merely to check madmen. Those who in every age plan world domination, The sacrifices of our youth today must lead to your efforts to the building for tomorrow of a mighty combination of nations founded upon justice for peace. Justice remains the greatest power on hearth. To that tremendous power alone will we submit.

449

Nine days ago, I told the Congress of the United States, and now I repeat it to you, nothing is more essential to the future peace world than citizenship and reparations. This conference will devote its energy and its labors exclusively to the single problem of setting up the essential organization to cheat the thief. You are to write the fundamental charter. Our sole objective at this decisive gathering is to create the structure. We must provide the machinery which will make future peace not only possible, but certain. The construction of this delicate machine is far more complicated than drawing boundary lines on a map or estimating reparations, or placing reasonable limits upon armament. Your task must be completed first. We represent the overwhelming majority of all mankind. We speak for people who have endured the most savage and devastating war ever inflicted upon innocent men, women and children. We hold a powerful mandate from our people. They believe we will fulfill this obligation. We must prevent, if human mind, heart and hope can prevent it, the repetition of the disaster from which the entire world must suffer for years to come. If we should pay merely lip service to the inspiring ideas and then later do violence to civil justice, we would draw down upon us the bitter wrath of generations yet unborn. We must not continue to sacrifice the flower of our youth merely to check madmen. Those who in every age plan world domination, the sacrifices of our youth today must lead to your efforts to the building for tomorrow of a mighty combination of nations founded upon justice for peace. Justice remains the greatest power on hearth. To that tremendous power alone will we submit.

2000

785015

4498

Nine days ago, I told the Congress of the United States, and now I repeat it to you, nothing is more essential to the future peace world than continued cooperation of the nations which had to muster the force necessary to defeat the conspiracy of the Axis powers to dominate the world. While these great states have a special responsibility to enforce the peace, their responsibility is based upon all states, large and small.

Not to use forces in international relation except in the defence of the law. The responsibility of great states is to serve and not dominate the peoples of the world. None of us doubt that with Divine guidance and cooperation and hardwork, we shall find an adequate answer to the problem history has put before us. Realizing the scope of our task and the imperative need for success we proceed with humility and determination. By our harmonious cooperation, the United Nations repair the onslaught of the greatest aggregation. Every nation now fighting for freedom is giving according to its ability and opportunity.

We fully realise today that victory in war requires a mighty united effort. Certainly victory in peace calls for, and must receive, an equal effort. Man has learned long ago that it is impossible to live unto himself. This same basic principle applies today to nations. We were not isolated during the war, we dare not now become isolated in peace. All will concede that in order to have good neighbors, we must also be good neighbors. That applies to every field of human endeavor. For lasting security, men of good will must unite and organize. Moreover, if our friendly policy should ever be considered by belligerent leaders as merely evidence of weakness, the organization we establish must be adequately prepared to meet every challenge. Differences between men and between nations will always remain. In fact, if held within reasonable limits, such disagreements are actually wholesome. All progress begins with differences of opinion and moves onward as the differences are adjusted to reason and mutual understanding.

In recent years, our enemies have clearly demonstrated the disaster which follows when freedom of thought is no longer tolerated. minds(?) can not long be regimented without protest. The essence of our problem here is to provide sensible machinery for the settlement of disputes among nations. Without this peace cannot exist. We can no longer permit any nation, or group of nations, to attempt to settle their arguments with bombs and bayonets. If we continue to abide by such decisions we will be forced to accept the fundamental philosophy now fighting for freedom is giving according to its ability and opportunity.

United Nations repair the outstanding

We fully realize today that victory in war requires a mighty united effort. Certainly victory in peace calls for, and must receive, an equal effort. Man has learned long ago that it is impossible to live unto himself. This same basic principle applies today to nations. We were not isolated during the war, we dare not now become isolated in peace. All will concede that in order to have good neighbors, we must also be good neighbors. That applies to every field of human endeavor. For lasting security, men of good will must unite and organize. Moreover, if our friendly policy should ever be considered by belligerent leaders as merely evidence of weakness, the organization we establish must be adequately prepared to meet every challenge. Differences between men and between nations will always remain. In fact, if held within reasonable limits, such disagreements are actually wholesome. All progress begins with differences of opinion and moves onward as the differences are adjusted to reason and mutual understanding.

In recent years, our enemies have clearly demonstrated the disaster which follows when freedom of thought is no longer tolerated. minds(?) can not long be regimented without protest. The essence of our problem here is to provide sensible machinery for the settlement of disputes among nations. Without this peace cannot exist. We can no longer permit any nation, or group of nations, to attempt to settle their arguments with bombs and bayonets. If we continue to abide by such decisions we will be forced to accept the fundamental philosophy of our enemies, Might makes right. To deny this, and we most certainly do deny it, we are obliged to provide the necessary means to refuse it. Words are not enough. We must reserve the order and prove by our acts conclusively that right has might. If we do not want to fight together in war, we must learn to live together in peace. With firm faith in our hearts to sustain us along the hard road to victory, we will find our way to secure peace for the ultimate benefit of all humanity. We must build a new world. A far better world. One in which the eternal dignity of man is respected. As we are about to undertake our heavy duties, we beseech almighty God to guide us in the building of a permanent monument to those who gave their lives that this moment might come. May He lead our steps in his own righteous path of peace.

4402

2003

Page 4

END

4482

A.C.C. MEMORANDUM

10 Nov 1944
(Date)

Fr.	A. G. Antolini	To
☒	ECONOMIC SECTION
	AGRICULTURE SUB-COMMISSION
	COMMERCE " "
	FINANCE " "
	FOOD " "
	INDUSTRY " "
	LABOR " "
	P.W. & U. " "
	REQUISITION DIVISION
	TRANSPORTATION SUB-COM.
	SHIPPING SUB-COMMISSION
	CHIEF COMMISSIONER	☒
	Commodore STONE
	CHIEF OF STAFF
	DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF
	CIVIL AFFAIRS SECTION
	ESTABLISHMENT SECTION
For:	Appropriate action
	Remarks/Recommendation
	Investigation & Report
	Information
	Noting and Return
	Noting and Retention
	Signature
	Dispatch
	File copy
	Noting & circulation

Remarks: Commodore: I have circulated this document throughout the Economic Section. You may find it interesting.

PROPOSALS FOR FORMATION OF INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION

There should be established an international organization under the title of the United Nations, the charter of which should contain provisions necessary to give effect to the proposals which follow:

Chapter I

PURPOSES

The purposes of the organization should be:

1. To maintain international peace and security; and to that end to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace, and to bring about by peaceful means adjustment or settlement of international disputes which may lead to a breach of the peace;
2. To develop friendly relations among nations and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace;
3. To achieve international cooperation in the solution of international economic, social and other humanitarian problems; and
4. To afford a center for harmonizing the actions of nations in the achievement of these common ends.

Chapter II

PRINCIPLES

In pursuit of the purposes mentioned in Chapter I the organization and its members should act in accordance with the following principles:

1. The Organization is based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states.
2. All members of the Organization undertake, in order to ensure to all of them the rights and benefits resulting from membership in the Organization, to fulfill the obligations assumed by them in accordance with the Charter.
3. All members of the Organization shall settle their disputes peacefully means in such a manner that international peace and security are not endangered.
4. All members of the Organization shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force in any manner inconsistent with the Charter.

4491

PURPOSES

The purposes of the organization should be:

1. To maintain international peace and security; and to that end to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace, and to bring about by peaceful means adjustment or settlement of international disputes which may lead to a breach of the peace;
2. To develop friendly relations among nations and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace;
3. To achieve international cooperation in the solution of international economic, social and other humanitarian problems; and
4. To afford a center for harmonizing the actions of nations in the achievement of these common ends.

Chapter II

PRINCIPLES

In pursuit of the purposes mentioned in Chapter I the organization and its members should act in accordance with the following principles:

1. The Organization is based on the principle of the sovereign equality of all peace-loving states.
2. All members of the Organization undertake, in order to ensure to all of them the rights and benefits resulting from membership in the Organization, to fulfill the obligations assumed by them in accordance with the Charter.
3. All members of the Organization shall settle their disputes ⁶⁴⁹²peaceful means in such a manner that international peace and security are not endangered.
4. All members of the Organization shall refrain in their international relations from the threat or use of force in any manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Organization.
5. All members of the Organization shall give every assistance to the Organization in any action and taken by it in accordance with the provisions of the Charter.
6. All members of the Organization shall refrain from giving assistance to any state against which preventive or enforcement action is being undertaken by the Organization.

The Organization should ensure that states not members of the Organization act in accordance with these principles as far as may be necessary for the maintenance of international peace and security.

Chapter IIIMEMBERSHIP

1. Membership of the Organization should be open to all peace-loving States.

Chapter IVPRINCIPAL ORGANS

1. The Organization should have as its principal organs:

- a. A General Assembly;
- b. A Security Council;
- c. An International Court of Justice; and
- d. A Secretariat.

2. The Organization should have such subsidiary agencies as may be found necessary.

Chapter VTHE GENERAL ASSEMBLYSection ACOMPOSITION

All members of the organization should be members of the General Assembly and should have a number of representatives to be specified in the charter.

Section BFUNCTIONS AND POWERS

1. The General Assembly should have the right to consider the general principles of cooperation in the maintenance of international peace and security, including the principles governing disarmaments and the regulation of armaments; to discuss any questions relating to the maintenance of international peace and security brought before it by any member or members of the organization or by the Security Council; and to make recommendations with regard to any such principles or questions. Any such questions on which action is necessary should be referred to the Security Council by the General Assembly either before or after discussion. The General Assembly should not on its own initiative make recommendations on any matter relating to the maintenance of international peace and security which is being dealt with by the Security Council.

2. The General Assembly should be empowered to admit new members to the organization upon recommendation of the Security Council.

c. An International Court of Justice; and

d. A Secretariat.

2. The Organization should have such subsidiary agencies as may be found necessary.

Chapter V

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Section A

COMPOSITION

All members of the organization should be members of the General Assembly, and should have a number of representatives to be specified in the charter.

Section B

FUNCTIONS AND POWERS

1. The General Assembly should have the right to consider the general principles of cooperation in the maintenance of international peace and security, including the principles governing disarmaments and the regulation of armaments; to discuss any questions relating to the maintenance of international peace and security brought before it by any member or members of the organization or by the Security Council; and to make recommendations with regard to any such principles or questions. Any such questions on which action is necessary should be referred to the Security Council by the General Assembly either before or after discussion. The General Assembly should not on its own initiative make recommendations on any matter relating to the maintenance of international peace and security which is being dealt with by the Security Council.

2. The General Assembly should be empowered to admit new members to the organization upon recommendation of the Security Council.

3. The General Assembly should, upon recommendation of the Security Council, be empowered to suspend from the exercise of any rights or privileges of membership any member of the organization against which preventive or enforcement action shall have been taken by the Security Council. The exercise of the rights and privileges thus suspended may be restored by decision of the Security Council. The General Assembly should be empowered, upon recommendation of the Security Council, to expel from the organization any member of the organization which persistently violates the principles contained in the charter.

4. The General Assembly should elect the non-permanent members of the Security Council and the members of the Economic and Social Council provided for in Chapter IX. It should be empowered to elect, upon recommendation of the Security Council, the Secretary General of the organization. It should perform such functions in relation to the election of the judges of the International Court of Justice as may be conferred upon it by the statute of the court.

5. The General Assembly should appropriate the expenses among the members of the organization and should be empowered to approve the budgets of the organization.

6. The General Assembly should initiate studies and make recommendations for the purpose of promoting international cooperation in political, economic and social fields and of adjusting situations likely to impair the general welfare.

7. The General Assembly should make recommendations for the coordination of the policies of international, economic, social and other specialized agencies brought into relation with the organization in accordance with agreements between such agencies and the organization.

8. The General Assembly should receive and consider annual and special reports from the Security Council and reports from other bodies of the organization.

Section 3

VOTING

1. Each member of the organization should have one vote in the General Assembly.

2. Important decisions of the General Assembly, including recommendations with respect to the maintenance of international peace and security; election of members of the Security Council; election of members of the Economic and Social Council; admission of members, suspension of the exercise of the rights and privileges of members, and expulsion of members; and budgetary questions, should be made by a two-thirds majority of those present and voting. On other questions, including the determination of additional categories of questions to be decided by a two-thirds majority, the decisions of the General Assembly should be made by a simple majority vote. 490

Section D

PROCEDURE

1. The General Assembly should meet in regular annual sessions

5. The General Assembly should apportion the expenses among the members of the organization and should be empowered to approve the budgets of the organization.

6. The General Assembly should initiate studies and make recommendations for the purpose of promoting international cooperation in political, economic and social fields and of adjusting situations likely to impair the general welfare.

7. The General Assembly should make recommendations for the coordination of the policies of international, economic, social and other specialized agencies brought into relation with the organization in accordance with agreements between such agencies and the organization.

8. The General Assembly should receive and consider annual and special reports from the Security Council and reports from other bodies of the organization.

Section C

VOTING

1. Each member of the organization should have one vote in the General Assembly.

2. Important decisions of the General Assembly, including recommendations with respect to the maintenance of international peace and security; election of members of the Security Council; election of members of the Economic and Social Council; admission of members, suspension of the exercises of the rights and privileges of members, and expulsion of members; and budgetary questions, should be made by a two-thirds majority of those present and voting. On other questions, including the determination of additional categories of questions to be decided by a two-thirds majority, the decisions of the General Assembly should be made by a simple majority vote. 490

Section D

PROCEDURE

1. The General Assembly should meet in regular annual sessions and in such special sessions as occasion may require.

2. The General Assembly should adopt its own rules of procedure and elect its President for each session.

3. The General Assembly should be empowered to set up such bodies and agencies as it may deem necessary for the performance of its functions.

Chapter VI

THE SECURITY COUNCIL

Section A

COMPOSITION

The Security Council should consist of one representative of each of 11 members of the organization. Representatives of the United States of America, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, the Republic of China, and, in due course, France, should have permanent seats. The General Assembly should elect six states to fill the non-permanent seats. These six states should be elected for a term of two years, three retiring each year. They should not be immediately eligible for re-election. In the first election of the non-permanent members three should be chosen by the General Assembly for one-year terms and three for two-year terms.

Section B

PRINCIPAL FUNCTIONS AND POWERS

1. In order to ensure prompt and effective action by the organization, members of the organization should by the Charter confer on the Security Council primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security and should agree that in carrying out these duties under this responsibility it should act on their behalf.
2. In discharging these duties the Security Council should act in accordance with the purpose and principles of the organization.
3. The specific powers conferred on the Security Council in order to carry out these duties are laid down in Chapter VIII.
4. All members of the organization should obligate themselves to accept the decisions of the Security Council and to carry them out in accordance with the provisions of the charter.
5. In order to promote the establishment and maintenance of international peace and security with the least diversion of the world's human and economic resources for armaments, the Security Council, with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee referred to in Chapter VIII, Section B, paragraph 9, should have the responsibility for formulating plans for the establishment of a system of regulation of armaments for submission to the members of the organization.

Section C

VOTING

(Note -- The question of voting procedure in the Security seats. The General Assembly should elect six state members to permanent seats. These six states should be elected for a term of two years, three retiring each year. They should not be immediately eligible for re-election. In the first election of the nonpermanent members three should be chosen by the General Assembly for one-year terms and three for two-year terms.

Section B

PRINCIPAL FUNCTIONS AND POWERS

1. In order to ensure prompt and effective action by the organization, members of the organization should by the Charter confer on the Security Council primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security and should agree that in carrying out these duties under this responsibility it should act on their behalf.
2. In discharging these duties the Security Council should act in accordance with the purpose and principles of the organization.
3. The specific powers conferred on the Security Council in order to carry out these duties are laid down in Chapter VIII.
4. All members of the organization should obligate themselves to accept the decisions of the Security Council and to carry them out in accordance with the provisions of the charter.
5. In order to promote the establishment and maintenance of international peace and security with the least diversion of the world's human and economic resources for armaments, the Security Council, with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee referred to in Chapter VIII, Section B, paragraph 9, should have the responsibility for formulating plans for the establishment of a system of regulation of armaments for submission to the members of the organization.

Section C

VOTING

(Note -- The question of voting procedure in the Security Council is still under consideration.)

Section D

PROCEDURE

1. The Security Council should be so organized as to be able to function continuously and each state member of the Security Council should be permanently represented at the headquarters of the organization. It may hold meetings at such other places as in its judgment may best facilitate its work. There should be periodic meetings at which each state member of the Security Council could if it so desired be represented by a member of the government or some other special representative.

2. The Security Council should be empowered to set up such bodies or agencies as it may deem necessary for the performance of its functions including regional sub-committees or the Military Staff Committee.

3. The Security Council should adopt its own rules of procedure, including the method of selecting its president.

4. Any member of the organization should participate in the discussion of any questions brought before the Security Council whenever the Security Council considers that the interests of that member of the organization are especially affected.

5. Any member of the organization not having a seat on the Security Council and any state not a member of the organization, if it is a party to a dispute under consideration by the Security Council, should be invited to participate in the discussion relating to the dispute.

Chapter VII

AN INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE

1. There should be an international court of justice which should constitute the principal judicial organ of the organization.

2. The court should be constituted and should function in accordance with a statute which should be annexed to and be a part of the Charter of the organization.

3. The statute of the court of international justice should be either (a) the statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice, continued in force with such modification as may be desirable or (b) a new statute in the preparation of which the statute of the Permanent Court of International Court of Justice should be used as a basis.

4. All members of the organization should ipso facto be parties to the statute of the international court of justice.

5. Conditions under which states not members of the organization may become parties to the statute of the international court of justice should be determined in each case by the General Assembly upon recommendation of the Security Council.

Chapter VIII

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY, INCLUDING PREVENTION AND SUPPRESSION OF AGGRESSION

Section A

PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

1. The Security Council should be empowered to investigate any dispute, or any situation which may lead to international friction

448

Chapter VII

AN INTERNATIONAL COURT OF JUSTICE

1. There should be an international court of justice which should constitute the principal judicial organ of the organization.
2. The court should be constituted and should function in accordance with a statute which should be annexed to and be a part of the Charter of the organization.
3. The statute of the court of international justice should be either (a) the statute of the Permanent Court of International Justice, continued in force with such modification as may be desirable or (b) a new statute in the preparation of which the statute of the Permanent Court of International Court of Justice should be used as a basis.
4. All members of the organization should ipso facto be parties to the statute of the international court of justice.
5. Conditions under which states not members of the organization may become parties to the statute of the international court of justice should be determined in each case by the General Assembly upon recommendation of the Security Council.

Chapter VIII

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE MAINTENANCE OF INTERNATIONAL PEACE AND SECURITY, INCLUDING PREVENTION AND SUPPRESSION OF AGGRESSION

Section A

PACIFIC SETTLEMENT OF DISPUTES

1. The Security Council should be empowered to investigate any dispute, or any situation which may lead to international friction or give rise to a dispute, in order to determine whether its continuance is likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security.
2. Any state, whether member of the organization or not, may bring any such disputes or situation to the attention of the General Assembly of the Security Council.
3. The parties to any dispute the continuance of which is likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security should obligate themselves, first of all, to seek a solution by negotiation, mediation, conciliation, arbitration or judicial settlement, or other peaceful means of their own choice. The Security Council should call upon the parties to settle their dispute by such means.

448

4. If, nevertheless, parties to a dispute of the nature referred to above in paragraph 3 fail to settle it by the means indicated in that paragraph, they should obligate themselves to refer it to the Security Council. The Security Council should in each case decide whether or not the continuance of the particular dispute is in fact likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security, and, accordingly, whether the Security Council should deal with the dispute, and, if so, whether it should take action under paragraph 5.

5. The Security Council should be empowered, at any stage of a dispute of the nature referred to in paragraph 3 above, to recommend appropriate procedures or methods of adjustment.

6. Justifiable disputes should normally be referred to the international court of justice. The Security Council should be empowered to refer to the court, for advice, legal questions connected with other disputes.

7. The provisions of paragraph 1 to 6 of Section A should not apply to situations or disputes arising out of matters which by international law are solely within the domestic jurisdiction of the state concerned.

Section B

DETERMINATION OF THREATS TO THE PEACE OF ACTS OF AGGRESSION AND ACTION WITH RESPECT THERETO

1. Should the Security Council deem that a failure to settle a dispute in accordance with procedures indicated in paragraph 3 of Section A, or in accordance with its recommendations made under paragraph 5 of Section A, constitutes a threat to the maintenance of international peace and security, it should take any measure in accordance with the purposes and principles of the Organization.

2. In general the Security Council should determine the existence of any threat to the peace, breach of the peace or act of aggression and should make recommendations or decide upon the measures to be taken to maintain or restore peace and security.

3. The Security Council should be empowered to determine what diplomatic, economic or other measures not involving the use of armed force should be employed to give effect to its decisions, and to call upon members of the Organization to apply such measures.

in fact likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security, and, accordingly, whether the Security Council should deal with the dispute, and, if so, whether it should take action under paragraph 5.

5. The Security Council should be empowered, at any stage of dispute of the nature referred to in paragraph 3 above, to recommend appropriate procedures or methods of adjustment.

6. Justifiable disputes should normally be referred to the international court of justice. The Security Council should be empowered to refer to the court, for advice, legal questions connected with other disputes.

7. The provisions of paragraph 1 to 6 of Section A should not apply to situations or disputes arising out of matters which by international law are solely within the domestic jurisdiction of the state concerned.

Section B

DETERMINATION OF THREATS TO THE PEACE OF ACTS OF AGGRESSION AND ACTION WITH RESPECT THERETO

1. Should the Security Council deem that a failure to settle a dispute in accordance with procedures indicated in paragraph 3 of Section A, or in accordance with its recommendations made under paragraph 5 of Section A, constitutes a threat to the maintenance of international peace and security, it should take any measure in accordance with the purposes and principles of the Organization.

2. In general the Security Council should determine the existence of any threat to the peace, breach of the peace or act of aggression and should make recommendations or decide upon the measures to be taken to maintain or restore peace and security.

3. The Security Council should be empowered to determine what diplomatic, economic or other measures not involving the use of armed force should be employed to give effect to its decisions, and to call upon members of the Organization to apply such measures. Such measures may include complete or partial interruption of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio and other means of communications and the severance of diplomatic and economic relations.

4. Should the Security Council consider such measures to be inadequate, it should be empowered to take such action by air, naval or land forces as may be necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security. Such action may include demonstrations, blockade and other operations by air, sea or land forces of members of the organization.

5. In order that all members of the Organization should contribute to the maintenance of international peace and security, they should undertake to make available to the Security Council, on its call and in accordance with a special agreement or agreements concluded among themselves, armed forces, facilities and assistance necessary for the purpose of maintaining international peace and security. Such agreement or agreements should govern the numbers and types of forces and the nature of the facilities and assistance to be provided. The special agreement or agreements should be negotiated as soon as possible and should in each case be subject to approval by the Security Council and to ratification by the signatory states in accordance with their constitutional processes.
6. In order to enable urgent military measures to be taken by the Organization there should be held immediately available by the members of the Organization national air force contingents for combined international enforcement action. The strength and degree of readiness of these contingents and plans for their combined action should be determined by the Security Council with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee within the limits laid down in the special agreement or agreements referred to in paragraph 5 above.
7. The action required to carry out the decisions of the Security Council for the maintenance of international peace and security should be taken by all the members of the Organization in cooperation or by some of them as the Security Council may determine. This undertaking should be carried out by the members of the Organization by their own and through action of the appropriate specialized organizations and agencies of which they are members.
8. Plans for the application of armed force should be made by the Security Council with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee referred to in paragraph 9 below.
9. There should be established a Military Staff Committee the functions of which should be to advise and assist the Security Council on all questions relating to the Security Council's military requirements for the maintenance of international peace and security to the employment and command of forces placed at its disposal, to the regulation of armaments and to possible disarmament. It should be responsible under the Security Council for the strategic direction of any armed forces placed at the disposal of the Security Council. The committee should be composed of the chiefs of staff of the permanent members of the Security Council or their representatives. Any member of the organization not permanently represented on the committee should be invited by the committee to be associated with it when the efficient discharge of the committee's responsibilities requires that such a state should participate in its work. Questions of command of forces should be worked out subsequently.
10. The members of the organization should join in affording mutual assistance in carrying out the measures decided upon by the Security Council.
11. Any state whether a member of the organization or not, which finds itself confronted with special economic problems arising from

48

6. In order to enable urgent military measures to be taken by the Organization there should be held immediately available by the members of the Organization national air force contingents for combined international enforcement action. The strength and degree of readiness of these contingents and plans for their combined action should be determined by the Security Council with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee within the limits laid down in the special agreement or agreements referred to in paragraph 5 above.

7. The Action required to carry out the decisions of the Security Council for the maintenance of international peace and security should be taken by all the members of the Organization in cooperation or by some of them as the Security Council may determine. This undertaking should be carried out by the members of the Organization by their own and through action of the appropriate specialized organizations and agencies of which they are members.

8. Plans for the application of armed force should be made by the Security Council with the assistance of the Military Staff Committee referred to in paragraph 9 below.

9. There should be established a Military Staff Committee the functions of which should be to advise and assist the Security Council on all questions relating to the Security Council's military requirements for the maintenance of international peace and security to the employment and command of forces placed at its disposal, to the regulation of armaments and to possible disarmament. It should be responsible under the Security Council for the strategic direction of any armed forces placed at the disposal of the Security Council. The committee should be composed of the chiefs of staff of the permanent members of the Security Council or their representatives. Any member of the organization not permanently represented on the committee should be invited by the committee to be associated with it when the efficient discharge of the committee's responsibilities requires that such a state should participate in its work. Questions of command of forces should be worked out subsequently. 48

10. The members of the organization should join in affording mutual assistance in carrying out the measures decided upon by the Security Council.

11. Any state whether a member of the organization or not, which finds itself confronted with special economic problems arising from the carrying out of measures which have been decided upon by the Security Council should have the right to consult the Security Council in regard to a solution of those problems.

Section C

REGIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

1. Nothing in the Charter should preclude the existence of regional arrangements or agencies for dealing with such matters relating to the maintenance of international peace and security as are appropriate for regional action, provided such arrangements or agencies and their activities are consistent with the purposes and principles of the organization. The Security Council should encourage settlement of local disputes through such regional arrangements or by such regional agencies either on the initiative of the state concerned or by reference from the Security Council.

2. The Security Council should where appropriate utilize such arrangements or agencies for enforcement action under its authority but no enforcement action should be taken under regional agencies without the authorization of the Security Council.

3. The Security Council should at all times be kept fully informed of activities undertaken or in contemplation under regional arrangements or by regional agencies for the maintenance of international peace and security.

Chapter IX

ARRANGEMENTS FOR INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COOPERATION

Section A

PURPOSE AND RELATIONSHIPS

1. With a view to the creation of conditions of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations the organization should facilitate solutions of international economic, social and other humanitarian problems and promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms. Responsibility for the discharge of this function should be vested in the General Assembly and under the authority of the General Assembly in an Economic and Social Council.

2. The various specialized economic, social and other organizations and agencies would have responsibilities in their respective fields as defined in their statutes. Each such organization or agency should be brought into relationship with the organization on terms to be determined by agreement between the Economic and Social Council and the appropriate authorities of the specialized organization or agency, subject to approval by the General Assembly.

Section B

COMPOSITION AND VOTING

The Economic and Social Council should consist of representatives of 18 members of the organization. The states to be represented for this purpose should be elected by the General Assembly for terms of three years. Each such state should have one representative, who should have one vote. Decisions of the Economic and Social Council should be taken by simple majority vote of those present and voting.

Section C

FUNCTIONS AND POWERS OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL

1. The Economic and Social Council should be empowered:

Chapter IX

ARRANGEMENTS FOR INTERNATIONAL ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COOPERATION

Section A

PURPOSE AND RELATIONSHIPS

1. With a view to the creation of conditions of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations, the organization should facilitate solutions of international economic, social and other humanitarian problems and promote respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms. Responsibility for the discharge of this function should be vested in the General Assembly and under the authority of the General Assembly, in an Economic and Social Council.

2. The various specialized economic, social and other organizations and agencies would have responsibilities in their respective fields as defined in their statutes. Each such organization or agency should be brought into relationship with the organization on terms to be determined by agreement between the Economic and Social Council and the appropriate authorities of the specialized organization or agency, subject to approval by the General Assembly.

Section B

COMPOSITION AND VOTING

The Economic and Social Council should consist of representatives of 18 members of the organization. The states to be represented for this purpose should be elected by the General Assembly for terms of three years. Each such state should have one representative, who should have one vote. Decisions of the Economic and Social Council should be taken by simple majority vote of those present and voting.

Section C

FUNCTIONS AND POWERS OF THE ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL COUNCIL.

1. The Economic and Social Council should be empowered:

- a. To carry out, within the scope of its functions, recommendations of the General Assembly;
- b. To make recommendations on its own initiative with respect to international economic, social and other humanitarian matters;
- c. To receive and consider reports from the economic, social and other organizations or agencies brought into relationship with the Organization and to coordinate their activities through consultations with and recommendations to such organizations or agencies;

- d. To examine the administrative budgets of such specialized organizations or agencies with a view to making recommendations to the organizations or agencies concerned.
- e. To enable the Secretary General to provide information to the Security Council.
- f. To assist the Security Council upon its request; and
- g. To perform other functions within the general scope of its competence as may be assigned to it by the General Assembly.

Section D

ORGANIZATION AND PROCEDURE

1. The Economic and Social Council should set up an economic commission, a social commission and such other commissions as may be required. These commissions should consist of experts. There should be a permanent staff which should constitute a part of the secretariat of the organization.
2. The Economic and Social Council should make suitable arrangements for representatives of the specialized organizations or agencies to participate without vote in its deliberations and in those of the commissions established by it.
3. The Economic and Social Council should adopt its own rules of procedure and the method of selecting its president.

Chapter X

THE SECRETARIAT

1. There should be a secretariat comprising a secretary-general and such staff as may be required. The secretary-general should be the chief administrative officer of the organization. He should be elected by the General Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council for such term and under such conditions as are specified in the charter.
2. The secretary-general should act in that capacity in all meetings of the General Assembly of the Security Council and of the Economic and Social Council and should make an annual report to the General Assembly on the work of the organization.
3. The secretary-general should have the right to bring to the attention of the Security Council any matter which in his opinion may threaten international peace and security.

Chapter XI

AMENDMENTS

Amendments should come into force for all members of the organization, when they have been adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the General Assembly and ratified in accordance with the procedures by the members of the

Section DORGANIZATION AND PROCEDURE

1. The Economic and Social Council should set up an economic commission, a social commission and such other commissions as may be required. These commissions should consist of experts. There should be a permanent staff which should constitute a part of the secretariat of the organization.
2. The Economic and Social Council should make suitable arrangements for representatives of the specialized organizations or agencies to participate without vote in its deliberations and in those of the commissions established by it.
3. The Economic and Social Council should adopt its own rules of procedure and the method of selecting its president.

Chapter XTHE SECRETARIAT

1. There should be a secretariat comprising a secretary-general and such staff as may be required. The secretary-general should be the chief administrative officer of the organization. He should be elected by the General Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council for such term and under such conditions as are specified in the charter.
2. The secretary-general should act in that capacity in all meetings of the General Assembly of the Security Council and of the Economic and Social Council and should make an annual report to the General Assembly on the work of the organization.
3. The secretary-general should have the right to bring to the attention of the Security Council any matter which in his opinion may threaten international peace and security.

448a

Chapter XIAMENDMENTS

Amendments should come into force for all members of the organization, when they have been adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members of the General Assembly and ratified in accordance with their respective constitutional processes by the members of the organization having permanent membership on the Security Council and by a majority of the other members of the organization.

Chapter XII

TRANSITIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

1. Pending the coming into force of the special agreement or agreements referred to in Chapter VIII, Section 3, paragraph 5, and in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 6 of the Four-Nation Declaration, signed at Moscow October 30, 1943, the states parties to that declaration should consult with one another and as necessary advise with other members of the organization as may be necessary for the purpose of maintaining international peace and security.
2. No provision of the Charter should preclude action taken or authorized in relation to enemy states as a result of the present war by the governments having responsibility for such action.

NOTE

In addition to the question of voting procedure in the Security Council referred to in Chapter VI, several other questions are still under consideration.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7, 1944

The Washington Post - Tuesday, October 10, 1944.

2. No provision of the Charter authorizes the Council to authorize in relation to enemy states as a result of the present war by the governments having responsibility for such action.

NOTE

In addition to the question of voting procedure in the Security Council referred to in Chapter VI several other questions are still under consideration.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 7 1944

The Washington Post - Tuesday, October 10 1944.

2025