Il "Referendum" istituzionale ha invece attribuito una netta maggioranza a favore della monarchia.

1581

L'annuncio dei risultati definitivi del "Referendum" che hanno portato alla Repubblica ha prodotto in un primo momento fra questa popolazione, prevalentemente monarchica, una deprimente impressione ed un certo disorientamento.

Le successive polemiche della stampa e le varie voci divulgate, hanno alquanto eccitato gli animi e dei simpatizzanti per la monarchia si é imprecato contro il Nord Italia, a cui si fa carico l'aver imposto alle popolazioni meridionali prima il fascismo ed ora il mutamento istituzionale non desiderato dalla maggioranza della popolazione siciliana.

Ne sono derivati propositi di agitazioni e di tumulti, che non sono poi stati effettuati, nonché idee di fusione dei monarchici con il movimento indipendentista siciliano per accelerare la separazione della Sicilia dal resto d'Italia e sottrarsi così a tutte le conseguenze della riforma istituzionale.

Per l'esame appunto della situazione venutasi a creare a seguito delle recenti votazioni é stato tenuta ad Enna una riunione da parte del M.I.S., che é stata seguita da altra riunione dei dirigenti locali del movimento stesso a Milazzo e alla quale hanno partecipato esponenti di altri partiti.

In detta adunanza il movimento indipendentista ha sostenuto la tesi che la Sicilia si unì all'Italia in virtù di plebiscito popolare sotto la monarchia di S.M. il Re Vittorio Emanuele II per costituirsi in regno con la Penisola. Caduta ora la monarchia, l'unione con l'Italia si intende risoluta di fatto e di diritto, in quanto sarebbe venuta a mancare con l'istituto monarchico una delle condizioni pregiudiziali poste al popolo siciliano nel predetto plebiscito di unione all'Italia.

Tale quistione sarebbe stata già posta dai dirigenti regionali del M.I.S., entro i termini della legalità, all'esame della Corte di Cassazione, alla Presidenza del Consiglio dei Ministri, allo Stato del Vaticano, all'O.N.U. ed a tutte le ambasciate e legazioni estere.

Il M.I.S. ha chiesto quindi la cooperazione di tutti i partiti affinché subordinando le ideologie politiche di ciascuno di essi ai supremi interessi della Sicilia, diano il loro appoggio a tale causa.

Nella stessa riunione si é poscia passato a discutere sulla forma istituzionale del futuro stato siciliano e, scartata la possibilità di un regno sotto Umberto II, che non accetterebbe il trono della Sicilia perché da Re d'Italia non scenderebbe a Re di una regione, é stata vagheggiata l'idea di una repubblica federata con l'Italia, nella quale la Sicilia non sarebbe più schiava della volontà del Nord ma avrebbe la propria sovranità di stato indipendente, un proprio parlamento, una costituzione e liberi scambi e commerci con l'estero.

In detta adunanza la questione é stata posta soltanto per [illegible] orientamento, affinché [illegible]

Non é possibile fare previsioni circa lo sviluppo che la questione sollevata potrà avere, ma si ha motivo di ritenere fin d'ora che specie i partiti di massa, i quali si sono sempre dichiarati unitari difficilmente daranno il loro appoggio alla tesi sostenuta dal M.I.S. =

OGGETTO: ____

Durante il mese non si sono avute azioni od iniziative illegali da parte dei vari partiti politici.

Non si sono verificate manifestazioni di elementi del disciolto partito fascista.

L'attività sindacale viene esplicata dalla locale Camera del Lavoro, la quale si interessa delle masse lavoratrici, ma tende sempre a dare ad esse un indirizzo prevalentemente social-comunista, mentre l'organizzazione dovrebbe essere apolitica.

La situazione economica alimentare durante il decorso mese ha segnato un ulteriore aggravamento causato sopratutto dalle difficoltà di potere assicurare il minimo indispensabile per la vita durante il periodo di saldatura e per cui per diversi giorni si é dovuto sospendere anche la distribuzione della modesta razione di pane, sostituendola con razione di gallette, di provenienza alleata.

I generi alimentari indispensabili continuano a scarseggiare e per la maggior parte di essi é necessario ricorrere al mercato libero, che mantiene prezzi elevati ed inaccessibili ai ceti medi e a reddito fisso.

A ciò si aggiunga la disoccupazione che ci mantiene tuttora in una percentuale elevata, per quanti sforzi si facciano quotidianamente per cercare di avviare al lavoro quanti più operai sia possibile.

Le poche industrie esistenti sono sempre in crisi per mancanza di materie prime, per insufficiente erogazione di energia elettrica e deficienza di carbone.

Contribuisce a mitigare ed alleviare una tale situazione le notizie e le speranze di un prossimo miglioramento delle condizioni alimentari dal raccolto in corso che si annunzia ovunque abbondante.

zione fatta all'Italia dalle potenze alleate nel campo internazionale.

La ripresa della vita politica Nazionale, dopo l'espletamento delle recenti elezioni é valso a determinare una notevole distensione degli animi dei cittadini, che attendono i benefici effetti dell'affermarsi attraverso le consultazioni elettorali della volontà del popolo.

L'ordine pubblico non é stato turbato e per quanto notevoli e numerosi siano i motivi che fanno sempre considerare delicata la situazione in tale settore, si ha motivo di ritenere che sia ormai nelle aspirazioni della maggioranza delle popolazioni l'avvento di un periodo di tranquillità, di pace e di lavoro, che purtroppo non si riesce ad assicurare per mancanza di lavoro, minacciante disoccupazione e deficienza produttiva della zona.

Le condizioni della pubblica sicurezza come si é già avuto occasione di riferire con separati rapporti hanno subito in quest'ultimo mese un notevole aggravamento sopratutto in conseguenza dell'azione di vere e proprie bande armate di fuori legge, che provenienti dal territorio delle provincie viciniori, hanno compiuto con grande audacia numerose rapine e sequestri di persone a scopo di ricatto, gettando vivo allarme specie tra le popolazioni rurali.

D'altra parte come si é già riferito non sempre le forze di polizia hanno potuto assicurare il loro pronto ed efficace intervento, sia per la loro deficienza numerica e sopratutto per la mancata dotazione di adeguati mezzi, sia per quanto concerne l'armamento, sia per mezzi di trasporto che possano consentire un'azione rapida nella quasi flagranza delle azioni delittuose.

Comunque l'annuncio dato anche attraverso la stampa delle intenzioni del Governo per stroncare la delinquenza in Sicilia con l'impiego in massa di larghe forze di polizia é valso non poco a rincuorare le popolazioni, che nutrono fiducia nella pronta azione degli organi preposti alla salvaguardia della sicurezza pubblica.=

L'azione contro dette forme di delinquenza in questi giorni ha cominciato a intensificarsi secondo piani ben preordinati.

L'azione contro dette forme di delinquenza in questi giorni ha cominciato a intensificarsi secondo piani ben preordinati.

Grava, in genere, nella Provincia di Messina una situazione di eccezionale e grave disagio, in confronto anche alle altre provincie siciliane - perché, per la sua consistenza orografica, produce pochissimi cereali e perché manca affatto di industrie e di commerci rilevanti.

D'altra parte la massa dei reduci ed ex combattenti é in continuo aumento col ritorno di prigionieri e la disoccupazione riflette non soltanto manovalanza, ma anche specializzati, meccanici e rilevante numerosi giovani anche provvisti di titolo di studio.

21 JUN 1946

Subject:Period between voting and declaration of Results
Ref:AC/S/C CI/5
Date:19 June 1946

Ref your AC/45/6/LG dated 21 May 1946

1. The political temperature in Sicily has remained very high after the elections of 2 and 3 June 1946,but almost entirely over the institutional question.
2. The victory of the DC gave general satisfaction and there were no noteworthy demonstrations by any political parties to show satisfaction or resentment on this score.
3. The first results of the referendum were awaited with great anxiety by the authorities, and even now the formal declaration of a republic is awaited with trepidation.Sicily is very strongly in favour of the monarchy(eight to one monarchic in Palermo and Messina cities) and the separatists have laboured to take advantage of this.The EVIS chiefs met at Enna when the result became a foregone conclusion and passed resolutions to the effect that Sicily had joined the rest of Italy on the understanding that it would be under a monarchy;that Sicily still wanted to be under a monarchy;that the mainland of Italy had dismissed the monarchy without Sicily's approval, and indeed in the face of Sicily's declared desire to keep the monarchy;and that therefore Sicily was free to separate as soon as a republic was formally declared.
4. The moderate monarchists,headed by Count Perrier of Palermo,were and are eager to prevent any coup d'état or general disorder and have cooperated regularly with the authorities and the parties of the left, especially the communists, with a view to avoiding situations which might have resulted in uncontrolled mob action.

5. Matters were boiling up to a crisis on 7 June 1946 when the moderate monarchists became aware of the intention of the strong arm branch to rouse the crowd to burn the Palermo municipio(seat of a nonelected Socialist republican sindaco), questura, and prefettura. Discussions were held with the leader of the local communist party and the High Commissioner as a result of which they decided to try to placate and calm the monarchistcrowds by sending a delegation to inform ~~in English~~ the Allied Commission in English of the complaints which they were also putting up in Italian to the Italian High Commissioner's Office.

6. As soon as I heard of this proposed delegation I confered with the Questore of Palermo and the High Commissioner for Sicily, and only on the latter's expressing a desire that I should receive the delegation did I do so in order to assist in the preservation of law and order. My action has since been disapproved and the papers are being returned to the delegation, but the crisis in Palermo was passed succesfully and the planned outbreak did not take place.

7. Several monarchist processions did take place in Palermo, Catania, Messina, and Trapani, but there were no serious disorders and there was no truth in the fantastic stories of ~~mass~~ bloodshed in Palermo which appeared not only in Roman but also in English newspapers. The police, and especially the Carabinieri, kept their heads and tempers well. The only serious incident occured at Palermo when a municipal policeman became ruffled and in his excitement shot himself in the leg.

8. A big parade of national solidarity on the occasion of the republic was planned for 16 June 1946 in Palermo by the sindaco, and had it taken place, might easily have touched off the explosion. The authorities were in a state of high nervous alarm, but fortunately the central government prohibited all demnstrations and the parade was cancelled.

9. The present crisis will not be passed until the final formal declaration of a republic has come and gone peacefully. Even then tension will be ~~high~~ great and much will depend on the new government's ability to give Sicily more satisfaction than the old, especially as regards the bread ration. EVIS are wellarmed and determined to move at the most propitious moment; and even the friends of union with Italy make the same complaints against the central government as do the separatists.
10. An interesting feature has been the attitude of many Army officers. Previously they declared themselves monarchists almost to a man, and spoke of resigning rather than serve a so and so republic. Today they are still serving and appear to have conveniently forgotten their intention to resign.

1. Further to previous correspondence on this subject, I am pleased to be able to report the continuance of good order in this Region.

2. On Wednesday, 5th June, demonstrations were held in Turin, Vercelli and other Provincial cities to celebrate the victory of the republic. All political parties participated and the demonstrations passed off in a spirit of good will and without incident.

3. Today, an official celebration inaugurating the republic was held in the Piazza Castello, Turin, where a crowd of over a hundred thousand persons assembled. The crowd was addressed by the Sindaco, ROVEDA, and afterwards proceeded in procession through the principal streets of the town. The procession was headed by the representatives of the Armed Forces, including the Carabinieri and the Police, and the proceedings passed off, as on other occasions, in perfect good order.

4. I was informed that although the republic has not been officially proclaimed, this is the final demonstration that will be held in Turin in connection with the institution of the republican form of government.

5. The state of public order in this Region, as I have stated above, is thoroughly satisfactory and I do not anticipate any trouble of any kind. Any unusual occurrence, however, will be notified immediately.

I also enclose a Republican metal seal, which seal was on the boxes containing certificates.

This rather assumes that the Republicans anticipated their election.

The above were handed to me by the Capt. of Carabinieri Bari, to whom I explained that if any one had any complaints they should make it to the appropriate Authority for transmission to the Minister concerned.

It only now transpires that many of the polling stations officials indulged in subterfuge favouring the Republican Party.

SUBJECT: Observation of Political Elections
Milan and Pavia

TO : Director LG S/C

Diary of my visit to Milan: 31 May - 4 June 1946

31 May. Accompanied by Dr. Cesare Rizza, Inspector General of the Ministry of the Interior, I paid a visit to the Prefect of Milan, Avv. Troilo. He gave us a brief review of the electoral situation of the Province and in particular of Milan. He stated that 25,000 electoral certificates had not yet been delivered, but number would be decreased by 1200 hours of 2 June. Later we found out from the Head of the Electoral Service that the figure given by the Prefect was not an accurate one (see Appendix). No trouble was anticipated for the election days. Asked whether the "reduci" had received in time their electoral certificates, the Prefect assured us that he was taking personal care of them and that the situation could be described as satisfactory.

1 June. Dr. Rizza and I visited the Officer in charge of the Electoral Service, Vice Prefect Alcaponte. He seemed very worried. He tried, however, to oblige and gave us the information we wanted. The Inspector General of the Province, Prefect Ales, who happened to be there, told us that during his inspection of the Province he did not come across any irregularities. Later in the afternoon we saw the Questore and the Sindaco. The latter said that if we wanted any information about the procedure followed in the preparation of the electoral lists and the way the electoral certificates had been distributed we could pay a visit to the electoral office of the Commune at the Castello Sforzesco. Dr. Rizza had actually been at the Castello the day before, and the impression reported to me was good.

2 June. From early in the morning until late in the evening we drove through the streets of Milan where 898 polling stations were located. That Sunday in Milan could be described as a summer week-end in London. One could not tell whether people were going to church or to vote. That was in complete contrast with what we saw the previous day when meetings and gatherings were going on everywhere accompanied by shouts and speeches from the numerous microphones placed at every square. Several polling sections were placed in one building. The entrance was guarded by Agents of P.S. on duty in civilian clothes with a carbine and a brassard and one or two Carabinieri. Order was perfect and no large queues were observed at the polling stations. Dr. Rizza, who entered a few of them, reported to me that the voting was progressing very smoothly.

3 June. Dr. Rizza and I paid a very short visit to Pavia. We saw the Prefect and the Questore. Dr. Rizza entered two polling stations. In Pavia we had the same impression of order reigning everywhere.

5 June 1946

1. Reference Folio 1--I telephoned you from Naples at about 1630 hours on Monday 3 June to give a preliminary report of my observation of the political elections there. You then read Folio 1 to me over the phone.

2. As instructed, I spoke to Col Pennycuick, AC CLO Naples, and told him I was going to see the Prefect and refer the matter to him.

3. At about 1800 hours I saw the Prefect, Dott. Ventura, and told him of these allegations. I said we were unable to say what credence (if any) should be given to this story but we passed the matter on to him for such action as he might think fit to take.

4. The Prefect confirmed that a certain number of employees of the Istituto Centrale di Statistica were being sent to Naples to assist in the scrutiny and had actually arrived at the Court of Appeal. He added, however, that they had a much larger number of employees of the Commune and the courts of justice who were known and trusted and that he would speak to the First President of the Court of Appeal and arrange for these clerks from Rome to be:

a. employed on minor duties towards the end of the proceedings, such that they would not be able to falsify any figures;

b. employed in pairs with a local clerk who could be trusted to check their work and see that it was honestly done.

5. The Prefect then got in touch with the First President by telephone and also sent one of his officials around to see him about the matter.

3. At about 1800 hours I saw the Prefect, Dott. Ventura, and told him of these allegations. I said we were unable to say what credence (if any) should be given to this story but we passed the matter on to him for such action as he might think fit to take.

4. The Prefect confirmed that a certain number of employees of the Istituto Centrale di Statistica were being sent to Naples to assist in the scrutiny and had actually arrived at the Court of Appeal. He added, however, that they had a much larger number of employees of the Commune and the courts of justice who were known and trusted and that he would speak to the First President of the Court of Appeal and arrange for these clerks from Rome to be:

a. employed on minor duties towards the end of the proceedings, such that they would not be able to falsify any figures;

b. employed in pairs with a local clerk who could be trusted to check their work and see that it was honestly done.

5. The Prefect then got in touch with the First President by telephone and also sent one of his officials around to see him about the matter.

SUBJECT: REPORT ON COSTITUENTE ELECTIONS IN TOSCANA.

TO: HEADQUARTERS,
ALLIED COMMISSION,
APO 794, U. S. ARMY.
(ATTN: LOCAL GOVERNMENT SUB-COMMISSION).

LAST SUNDAY'S ELECTIONS, AS USUAL IN TOSCANA, WERE FEATURED BY COMPLETE ORDER, AND DECORUM, WITH NO FUSS, MUSS, NOR UNPLEASANT WORD OBSERVED BY, OR REPORTED TO THIS LIAISON GROUP UNTIL TO-DAY.

THE PEACEFUL ASPECTS OF THE ELECTION HAS BEEN SLIGHTLY MARRED IN PISA. THIS MORNING AT 0.45 HRS. SOME PERSON, STILL UNKNOWN, THREW A HAND GRENADE IN A PUBLIC SQUARE, OF THAT CITY, KILLING ONE PERSON, AND INJURING SEVENTEEN OTHERS. THE POLICE OFFICIALS ARE DOING EVERYTHING POSSIBLE TO APPREHEND THE GUILTY PARTY.

THE RULES OF PROCEDURE FOR THE ELECTIONS WERE CAREFULLY OBSERVED BY THE VOTERS; THE ELECTION OFFICIALS; AND, THE RESPECTIVE POLICE AGENCIES.

THE COOPERATION AMONGST THE LOCAL TOSCANA LEADERS OF THE VARIOUS POLITICAL PARTIES, WAS INDEED COMMENDABLE.

THE POLLING STATIONS WERE WELL GUARDED, AS WERE THE BALLOTS AND ELECTION DOCUMENTS WHILE IN TRANSIT.

NO INTIMIDATION, NOR BRIBERY NOR OTHER ATTEMPTS TO INFLUENCE THE VOTING CAME TO OUR NOTICE.

PRIOR TO ELECTION DAY THE REGION WAS LITERALLY COVERED WITH POSTERS AND LEAFLETS; SOME OF THESE WERE BITTER IN THEIR WORDING. MEETINGS WERE HELD, LOUD SPEAKERS, AND SOUND TRUCKS WERE EXTENSIVELY USED.

UNTIL SATURDAY EVENING, THE FIRST OF JUNE, THE EXCITEMENT AND TENSION ON THE PART OF OFFICIALS PARTICULARLY, AND OF ALL THE POPULATION, IN GENERAL, WAS NOTICEABLE. HOWEVER, ON SUNDAY THE VOTING STARTED, AND CONTINUED ALL DAY, UNDER AN ATMOSPHERE OF EXTREME CALM.

VOTERS WERE QUEUED UP IN PRACTICALLY EVERY POLLING PLACE FROM EARLY MORNING UNTIL LATE IN THE EVENING. THEY APPEARED TO BE SOLEMN AND DETERMINED, BUT SEEMED TO SHOW UNUSUAL PATIENCE, AND TOLERANCE.

THE RESULTS OF THE ELECTION HAVE APPARENTLY BEEN WELL RECEIVED BY THE POPULATION. EACH OF THE PRINCIPLE PARTY GROUPS FEEL THAT, IN SOME WAY, THE RESULTS WERE A VICTORY FOR WHAT THEY STOOD FOR, AND ARE OBVIOUSLY HAPPY ABOUT IT ALL.

EVERY PROVINCIAL CAPITAL CITY WAS VISITED BY A REPRESENTATIVE OF THIS HEADQUARTERS ON SUNDAY, 2 JUNE 1946, AND MOST WERE AGAIN VISITED AND/OR CONTACTED ON MONDAY, 3 JUNE 1946.

Subject: Final report on elections in Venezie Region

To : Local Government Sub-Commission, Allied Commission APO 394

File : CLO/V/EL/29

1. Attached herewith is the final tabulation of votes cast in this region (all provinces complete except Belluno which still had one small mountainous area to report at 1500 hrs 8 June) covering elections of June 2 - 3 .

2. The entire election procedure in this region was conducted orderly and in compliance with regulations from the actual voting, through the transit of the votes to the Courts of Appeals and the final and complete tabulation of all votes. No unusual disagreements over the counting of the votes was reported. Your attention is called to our CLO/V/EL/29 of 6 June 46 covering percentages of registered voters participating in the elections and numbers of certificates and duplicates obtained on election day.

3. The results of the elections continue to be taken calmly but with intense interest by the entire public. All sections of the press representing the various political parties appear to analyze the results constructively and in a reasonably cooperative spirit.

There were strong rumours that the communists would stage a coup d'état in Venice on either the night of June 7th or 8th but as usual nothing whatscever happened. However all such rumours are being closely watched. In view of the calm character of the people, the reasonably good local food situation and the presence of Allied troops in this area, I do not anticipate that any trouble will arise in Venezie Region. If there is trouble it will first arise in some other region and then spread to this area.

SUBJECT: Observation of Political Elections--
NAPLES and District

TO : Director LG S/C

1. The following is a brief diary of my movements:-

31 May:- inspected Electoral Office of Naples Commune and arrangements for delivery of electoral certificates and duplicates--viewed the arrangements of several polling stations, and arrangements for scrutiny at the Court of Appeal and for collection and communication of results to the Prefecture.

1 June:- similar inquiries and inspections at Salerno.

2 June:- visited numerous polling stations in typical quarters of Naples--in the evening made similar observations at PORTICI and RESINA.

3 June:- continued observations in Naples--collected further information and figures at the Prefecture.

2. Figures are given in the Appendix.

3. Electoral lists. I made a full inquiry into the preparation of the lists with Comm. ANGIUS, the Inspector-General of the Ministry of Interior who for the last two months has been controlling the work of the Communal Electoral Office. The lists are not in as perfect order as one would like. The number of undelivered certificates is higher than it should be. I was unable to get any reliable details as to returned prisoners of war or persons excluded from the lists.

4. It is clear that from the beginning the Communal administration has not dealt with the problem with that precision and drive which it requires. This dates back 18 months ago when all Communes were directed to bring their registers of population up to date in anticipation of the coming into force of the law for the preparation of the electoral lists. This was not done with sufficient care and attention at Naples, and it is of course impossible in the last month or two to correct fundamental errors of this kind. However, Comm. ANGIUS has done everything possible since he has been there to bring the lists into as good order as circumstances permit.

5. It is to be borne in mind that the practical difficulties in preparing the lists accurately which have been met with in greater or less degree all over Italy have been particularly troublesome in Naples. I allude to such problems as:-

(a) The homeless who have left the Commune and never bothered to notify the authorities, so that they remain on the registers of population and therefore on the electoral lists. There has of course been much destruction in Naples, especially in the populous quarters near the port.

(b) Numbers of the homeless have not left the Commune but gone to live 15 lines in another part of it, again without notifying the authorities of the change of address. The result is that their electoral certificates cannot be delivered and they get posted to polling districts away from the neighborhood where they now live.

(c) In the last 2½ years many refugees and homeless have come back to Naples but not to their previous homes. The results in these cases are the same as in (b).

(d) Appreciable numbers refused to take delivery of their electoral certificates, denying their identity and in a number of cases pretending they were dead.

Declassified E.O. 12356 Section 3.3/NND No. 759121

(e) The lists, certificates, etc. have all had to be written by hand, and the temporary clerks employed often write illegibly or make mistakes in transcription. The haste which has had to be employed in the last 2 months to get Naples ready for voting has multiplied errors of this type.

6. In my opinion, however, the state of the electoral lists at Naples can be regarded as reasonably satisfactory taking into account the special difficulties of the locality.

7. Electoral certificates. A large school in Piazza Dante had been taken over as the office for the delivery of electoral certificates. On the opposite side of the square (where the electoral offices are) a large hall on the ground floor had been allotted for the distribution of duplicates. We visited both these places several times on 1 and 2 June. On Saturday 1 June the counters in both offices with their windows were lined 2 or 3 deep, but there were no queues and no one had to wait for more than a few minutes for attention. On Sunday 2 June there were very few people in either office. There is no doubt that electors were slow in coming forward to claim their certificates or duplicates. The Commune had done everything they could by posters, the press, the radio, and loudspeaker vans, to urge the electors to apply. They had even announced that those who did not obtain their electoral certificates would not receive their ration cards on the next distribution, which is not true but which it was hoped would bring the public forward.

8. The number of certificates remaining undelivered is somewhat high, but in the special circumstances of Naples I regard it as not unsatisfactory. It is 7% of the electorate capable of voting, as near as one can ascertain. I watched many individual cases dealt with in the office. In most of them the certificate was found and delivered fairly quickly. In only one case where the certificate could not be found could the officials give no satisfactory explanation: in others it was found, e.g. that the applicant had been struck off the lists as disqualified.

9. In accordance with the Ministry's instructions arrangements were made for opening special additional lists for the registration of troops upon a certificate from their CO that application had been made to the commune of residence for an electoral certificate and that Commune had replied that the soldier was not registered there. 3,861 troops were registered in this way. At the same time civilians were registered in additional lists, a proceeding authorized by the Ministry owing to the inadequate preparation of the lists at an earlier stage. 7,825 civilians were so registered. An individual took proceedings before the Court of Appeal to have this registration annulled, but as regards troops only. The case was heard on 31 May. The Court decided that the appeal was factious, as the appellant had made no objection to the similar registration of civilians to which exactly the same arguments were applicable, and the appeal was accordingly rejected.

10. Party Propaganda. I gathered that party meetings had been held regularly and that there had been no attempt to disturb them. Every possible building was covered with manifestos, etc., the Monarchist ones being in much the greater majority. During the two days of election no attempt at any form of political propaganda in public places or near polling stations was noted by me or reported to the authorities.

During the two days of election no attempt at any form of political propaganda in public places or near polling stations was noted by me or reported to the authorities.

11. Polling stations. The furniture and arrangement of those I inspected were good. The voting booths in particular were well made of good solid timber. Their number varied between 3 and 4 per station, which appeared adequate. All polling stations had been readied by 31 May. In some cases the premises selected were inconvenient, e.g. small rooms up 2 or 3 flights of stairs. This is to be expected. Great difficulty had been experienced in finding suitable premises, owing to the extent of war damage and the extreme density of population in the populous quarters. The Prefecture's map of the polling stations showed how the density of population had forced the concentration of as many as 10 to 14 polling stations in the same building.

Declassified E.O. 12356 Section 3.3/NND No. 765021

12. Voting procedure: There were large queues at all polling stations I observed throughout Sunday 2 June. Electors had been standing in line since 0500 hours. At some polling stations the voting went quite expeditiously; at others it was very slow. The Sindaco of Naples and my Inspector-General entered the polling stations, and from what they tell me I judge that the speed with which electors are dealt with depends entirely on the president of the polling station. If he is a good organizer and divides up the various duties among his 10 polling clerks, things go quite smoothly. But many presidents, especially judicial officials, try to do everything themselves and are over-scrupulous in their attention to unimportant detail. For instance, at one polling station presided over by a judge of tribunal two electors in succession spoiled their ballots. It took the president one whole hour to give them new ballots and make the prescribed record, during which time voting was at a standstill. At this station there were many loud complaints from electors who had stood in the sun for over 6 hours. The Sindaco arranged for the women in the queue to be accommodated in a waiting room on the ground floor.

13. From discussions with my Inspector-General and other officials the following criticisms of the voting procedure laid down in the law appear:-

(a) Ten voting clerks are too many. Some of them had little or nothing to do, even at the counting of votes.

(b) A major cause of delay is the requirement that the elector must fold and gum up the ballot papers and do so within the polling booth. Many cases were reported of electors having to be sent back to the booth time after time until they got the ballots correctly folded and sealed. One frequent error was the sealing of the referendum ballot within the constituent assembly ballot. One woman had to go back to the polling booth 10 times. It would have been much better to adopt the system used at the administrative elections where the ballot was delivered to the elector already folded into four and the elector had merely to refold it in the same way without having also to gum down a flap.

(c) Some polling clerks still continued the practice--noted during the administrative elections--of signing the register against the name of every elector who voted. A clerk should only do this when he personally guarantees the identity of an elector, and the majority of electors of course prove their identity by the production of identity cards.

(d) I doubt whether many electors gave preference votes or, if they did, whether they gave them intelligently. There were cases of electors having to come out of the polling booth several times to have a look at the lists. They did not seem able to remember the names or numbers of the candidates to whom they wanted to give their preference votes.

14. All the 707 polling stations in the Commune of Naples contain over 500 electors. Therefore they were all open for voting on Monday 3 June. Up to the close of the poll on 2 June (2200 hours) the poll was estimated at 64%. The Prefecture thought it would be 75% by midday on 3 June. Actually I believe it will be higher. The fact remains that there was heavy polling right through Sunday, but very few people were observed at the polling stations on Monday. ~~By Nico~~ I gather that most people did not realize they could vote on the Monday.

15. My own view is that the carry-over of the voting to Monday was unneces-

15. My own view is that the carry-over of the voting to Monday was unnecessary IF all presiding officials had organized the work properly and not passed over unimportant details. No one seems to have thought of calling a meeting of presiding officials and giving them a drill to follow. 1546

16. Public order. I can only describe this as excellent. On 2 June the streets of Naples presented an appearance curiously like a Victorian English Sunday. In spite of the long waits for many hours in the hot sun, there was no disorder. There was a lot of shouting in some sections, but it was all good humored and mere Neapolitan exuberance. Only one "incident" was reported to the Questura and that in a small country village of the province where a few members of two prominent families, always in opposition, met in the street and came to blows. The incident was solved by the removal of all the contestants to the hospital with cuts and bruises.

17. Police were very scarce. A number of polling stations had only one guard, and very few had more than two. Four hundred troops, 150 sailors, and 150 additional police had been drafted in, but even with these reinforcements the Questura had had to send forces out of Naples to the communes of the Province. There were large numbers of Agenti di P.S. on duty in civilian clothes with merely a carbine and a brassard. Nevertheless, I consider the polling stations were adequately guarded at night because of the way they were grouped several in one building so that the Questura could arrange for the group of stations to be patrolled at night by 4 to 6 guards. There was no sign of any attempt upon the security of the polling stations.

18. The arrangements for the scrutiny at the Court of Appeal, which I visited on 31 May, seemed adequate, and proper provision had been made for the public. The arrangements at the Prefecture for collecting figures and reporting them by wireless to Rome were very well thought out and functioned smoothly. Figures were reported to the Prefect hourly and within 20 minutes after the hour. All polling stations finished their scrutiny operations by the time prescribed, i.e. 1200 hours on 4 June.

19. Salerno. I paid a visit to this Commune on 1 June, but owing to difficulties with my car and other reasons I was not able to visit Salerno on either of the actual voting days. The electoral lists appeared to have been well prepared, and arrangements for the issue of electoral certificates to be adequate. I visited several polling stations. The Commune had been forced to use buildings without doors or windows and otherwise in a very bad state of repair. They had been very ingenious in carrying out temporary repairs, and while the furnishing of the polling station was hardly adequate, I consider the authorities have done the best possible in the circumstances. Figures for Salerno are given in the Appendix.

20. Portici and Resina. The Inspector-General and I made a quick visit to some half dozen polling stations in these two Communes in the afternoon of 2 June. No special comment required. Public order was excellent as in Naples, and the voting seemed to be expeditious everywhere.

18. The arrangements for the scrutiny at the Court of Appeal visited on 31 May, seemed adequate, and proper provision had been made for the public. The arrangements at the Prefecture for collecting figures and reporting them by wireless to Rome were very well thought out and functioned smoothly. Figures were reported to the Prefect hourly and within 20 minutes after the hour. All polling stations finished their scrutiny operations by the time prescribed, i.e. 1200 hours on 4 June.

19. Salerno. I paid a visit to this Commune on 1 June, but owing to difficulties with my car and other reasons I was not able to visit Salerno on either of the actual voting days. The electoral lists appeared to have been well prepared, and arrangements for the issue of electoral certificates to be adequate. I visited several polling stations. The Commune had been forced to use buildings without doors or windows and otherwise in a very bad state of repair. They had been very ingenious in carrying out temporary repairs, and while the furnishing of the polling station was hardly adequate, I consider the authorities have done the best possible in the circumstances. Figures for Salerno are given in the Appendix.

Subject:Elections of 2 and 3 June 1946
Date:3 June 1946

1. The elections of 2 and 3 June 1946 have been held in Sicily without any untoward incidents or irregularities being observed or reported by myself,the American consul, the British consul,or the Italian authorities,and complete cala continues at this moment.
2. Various stories of the usual nature circulated about one party or another trying to hoodwink persons who could not read or write into voting for symbols which they did not understand,or trying to bribe them to vote one way or another;however no proofs were forthcoming and in any case it is unanimously agreed that most persons would gladly pocket the bribe and vote just as they pleased all the same - per fregare gli altri in the good old Italian manner.
3. Monarchist propaganda has been very predominant,and the separatists and the democratic christians the most productive of the parties.Banners and inscriptions on walls or road surface were the chief means,the paper war being not nearly so pronounced as on the mainland.
4. Apart from minor clashes of rival processions of republicans and monarchists in the last days electioneering was orderly.
5. Great interest,even anxiety,is being shown in the results;no one anticipated trouble during the days of voting;everyone expects it during the days of the results.
6. The poll was heavy and preliminary reports suggest a 75% vote for the monarchy at least in Palermo Province.
7.I spent the greater part of the two days in Palermo City and the rest between Termini Imeresi and Mondello along the coast;for the other eight provinces police cooperated.
8. All other Allied military personnel were confined to barracks land 2 June.

1. Ref your AC/45/8/LG of 21 May 1946, in the Province of Udine the period immediately prior to the election passed very quietly; indeed there was a complete absence of what might be described as normal election excitement. Such electioneering as went on was conducted with the utmost decorum.

A fair amount of poster propaganda was observed, it was all of an inoffensive nature and by no means unskilful.

The actual voting days were characterized by a solemn respectability that was positively awe inspiring. It was abundantly clear that the people felt they were discharging a serious responsibility and they behaved accordingly.

Some of the more ignorant people of the peasant class seem to have been rather confused and frightened by the ballot papers and the number who unintentionally recorded their votes for parties they had no intention of supporting is a matter for speculation.

2. The following particulars indicate the results of observation throughout the Province on polling days:

a. Behaviour of the people ..... Calm and orderly.
b. State of public order ..... Excellent.
c. Whether many electors applied personally to the Municipio on election day for electoral certificates or duplicates ..... A few applicants only.
d. Electioneering within 200 metres of polling booth ..... None observed.
e. Any election meetings in public places on election day ..... None observed.
f. Any other type of political activity.... None observed.
g. Intimidation, bribery etc..... None observed.

SUBJECT : Observation of National Elections

1. Reference Confidential Directive AC/45/C/IG dated 21 May 46 and in confirmation of signal of 3rd June the following report is submitted on the National Elections held on the 2nd and 3rd June.

2. All Provincial capitals in Emilia Region were visited by officers of this Liaison Group, in addition to many other Communes.

The behaviour of the population on the polling days was exemplary, and no cases of disorder were reported. Bologna City was very quiet in the morning of 2nd June but polling became heavier during the day. Queues were observed at a few of the polling stations.

Few electors applied personally for certificates on the 2nd June.

There was apparently no electioneering within 200 metres of the polling stations.

No public meetings or processions were held on the 2nd or 3rd June.

Propaganda by means of posters was particularly intensive by all parties, practically every square inch of wall in the towns being covered. Some leaflets were distributed prior to the date of the elections.

The steps to guard polling stations when closed were adequate, as were those for guarding ballots etc. in transit.

Much interest was taken by the public in the counting, crowds of people stood in the main piazza to watch a board showing the results hour by hour.

3. There were no really serious incidents during the ~~elections~~ week prior to the elections. Two bombs exploded outside the offices of the Camera di Lavoro, Bologna, and one outside the Casa del Popolo, Bologna. No one was hurt and only minor damage was caused.

The Monarchists attempted to hold a meeting in the Piazza Maggiore; Bologna on 30th May, but were shouted down. This is the only meeting of the Group attempted in Bologna.

Bombs were also thrown at the AMPI Building in Ravenna.

Liguria Region.

1. Reference previous reports LOP.560 of the 3/6/46 and LOP.560 of the 4/6/42, relating to the above quoted subject, I attach a return showing the final results of the election, and the referendum.

2. Certain details of the numbers of undelivered certificates will not be available for a few days, and no record of the numbers of persons who applied personally at Municipio on Election days for certificates or duplicates is yet to hand.

3. From observation and information received no electioneering took place within 300 metres of voting booths, and no meetings were held in public places on the Election days.

4. The election campaign was conducted with all the usual forms of propaganda for the parties concerned, and it was a surpri--sing factor that in general most parties respected and did not interfere with the efforts of their opponents. No evidence of intimidation or bribery have come to light, and there is no information that illegal attempts were made to influence voters.

5. General Police arrangements have been excellent, and great credit is due to the officers in charge of the respective provinces for the measures they adopted. All voting stations were under armed guard; with a double guard of CC.RR. Questura during closing hours, and a double guard accompanied the Ballot boxes in transit.

6. The counting of votes, and the publishing of the final figures have been the subject of keen interest by the Public, who throughout the election campaign and the days of the election have behaving with tolerence and discipline.

7. Not one incident of public disorder during the Elections period has been observed or reported.

Executive Commissioner, A.C., APO 794.

1. Further to telephone message and confirming telegram to Local Government Sub-Commission today.

2. Arrangements were made in consultation with the British and American Consuls for Liaison Officers of this Group and Officers of the Consular staffs to circulate in all Provinces of this Region and observe the National Elections.

3. All reports received speak of the extreme quietness in which the elections were held. In every town and village the electors went to the poll in an orderly, disciplined manner of which it is impossible to speak too highly. There was some delay at many of the polling stations and some complaints of the lack of organisation causing this delay but, when one recalls that the electoral system, besides being complicated, was entirely a novel system, the delay is easily understood.

4. Very few electors applied at the Municipio for election certificates on election day.

5. No electioneering was observed anywhere and no distribution of leaflets or affixing of posters. There were so many posters already affixed in Turin itself that it would have been extremely difficult to find additional sites for others.

6. No instances of intimidation, bribery or other unlawful incidents came to notice and one must characterise the conduct of the people as excellent.

7. A further report will be submitted on the final phases of the elections and on the reception of the results, etc.

SUBJECT: Observation of Political Elections--Rome, 2-3 June 1946

4 June 1946

PRE-ELECTION MATTERS

1. My Inspector General, Prefetto Gaetano Mastrobuono, and I visited the Prefettura, Municipio, and the Palazzo dell'Esposizione on 31 May to get some pre-election information. We spoke with the Prefect, Chief of Cabinet, the Head of the Provincial Electoral Service, the Sindaco, the Vice Sindaco, the Head of the Communal Electoral Service, the Secretary General, the Questore, and other municipal and provincial officials. All confirm the general impression that the pre-election meetings had taken place with calmness and they did not anticipate too much difficulty in handling the election. The Questore pointed out that some 7,400 men were at his disposal to preserve order in the province of Rome including the city, of which 5,100 were agents of public security, 1,550 were carabinieri, the rest being guardie di finanza and other public units. Only 4,700 soldiers were available in the 7 provinces in the Command in which Rome is included. The Questore planned to have two men for each polling station. Rome city had 1,028 polling stations; the rest of the province had 342. Mobile forces were to be concentrated at certain points in and outside of Rome. The same men who had patrolled the polling places would also guard the polling boxes during the night and act as escorts for the ballots as they were transferred to the Court of Cassation and the Court of Appeal. The Palazzo Montecitoria would be the seat of the Court of Appeals, and the Palazzo Sapienza the seat of the Court of Cassation.

2. 910,000 electors were inscribed originally, and 46,500 recently added make a total of 956,500 inscribed. Some 80,000 had not been delivered, but the delivery was going on personally at the Palazzo dell'Esposizione daily, and by the time the voting closed at 1200 hours on 3 June the number of undelivered certificates had been reduced ~~to 596~~.

3. Three women had been arrested Thursday, 30 May for having in their possession electoral certificates--one had 14, the other, 25. The chief causes for the failure of delivery of certificates were: People had moved, were dead or not found. Many had changed their names, such as Jews, to avoid persecution. There were errors in the Anagrafe. Married women had failed to make proper changes in the Anagrafe.

4. The Palazzo dell'Esposizione, a very large building on Via Nazionale, had been arranged so that there were about 200 windows for the distribution of certificates on the first floor. On the second floor were administrative offices and arrangements for the telephonic receipt of information from the various districts in Rome.

5. Pre-election activity in Rome was rather extensive, all means of propaganda being utilized including press, radio, and good old posters on the walls. Hardly a building remained untouched, and even some of the most notable Hardly a building remained untouched, and even some of the most notable statues in town have their bellies plastered with political manifests. Large public meetings were held at the principal squares--all without any disorder. The day before election was quiet. At night about 10 o'clock I made a tour of the city, and except for various small meetings in a few spots there was no political activity at all. Even the poster pasters either ran out of glue or paper or were just tired.

VOTING ON 2 AND 3 JUNE

6. Inspector General Mastrobuono and I started on a tour of the city early Sunday morning. It was soon apparent to us that crowds had gathered in the very early hours of the morning to line up for the polling stations. At

Declassified E.O. 12356 Section 3.3/NND No. NR 031

Section 970 at Via 4 Novembre there was a huge crowd of soldiers gathered. This section had been reserved for the military. The soldiers blocked the door so that it was almost impossible to enter or leave the building. There were several officers around. They explained they could do nothing to keep the crowd orderly because they were instructed not to speak to the men. However, one Italian captain got on top of a truck and after securing the attention of the soldiers, mildly reprimanded them for their lack of display of discipline, pointing out that he had passed several other polling stations where civilians were gathered and he had observed their orderliness was exemplary. He asked the soldiers to display similarly a sense of discipline. His talk seemed to have some effect for a little while. Later on in the afternoon when we returned there were no soldiers gathered outside--apparently all had managed to get in and vote.

7. At other polling sections that we visited great crowds were gathered outside, and in some places there was a little confusion in that people tried to get in and out of the same exits. In most sections, however, the crowds, although numerous, were orderly and patient.

8. Voting was slow during the morning due to various reasons, the chief one being the scrupulousness with which the presidents of sections examined electoral certificates and identity documents. Many voters took time in folding the ballots. At noon only about 172,000 or about 19% of voters had cast their ballot. Because of the slowness in voting the Ministry of Interior issued an instruction giving the presidents of sections discretion to keep the polls open until 1200 o'clock midnight in sections of over ~~1000~~ 500 electors each to permit the persons who were gathered by 1000 o'clock to cast their ballot. As a result of this instruction voting continued until late.

9. In the afternoon voting continued heavy. There was a noticeable pick up during the afternoon and by about 8 o'clock from 60 to 90% of electors in many sections had voted. Some sections, however, were still far behind, one in particular, namely, Section 327, in which the president of the section had insisted upon doing all the work without delegating any to the other scrutatori.

10. General calmness continued throughout the evening. Only three cases were brought to our attention of persons who had attempted to vote only to find out that someone had voted under their name sometime during the day. In the morning of June 3 voting continued but was very light, most sections only reporting less than 50 having turned up to vote.

11. Special Sections 1021-1028, which had been set up to handle military and refugees, reported that only two refugees had presented themselves with certificates but found that they had not been inscribed on the lists. They were sent to the Palazzo dell'Esposizione to have the matter straightened out.

12. When the polls closed after 1200 hours the city remained calm, and except for the posters that were still on walls it was impossible to tell that a history-making event had taken place. All was quiet and serene.

AFTER THE ELECTIONS

13. The Commune had set up an organization to receive telephonic reports of the results of the elections in the Palazzo Mi

It was impossible to re-observe all of the larger cities on Monday morning 3 June but telephone reports were received from all Provincial capitals through the Carabinieri Headquarters.

2. On both 2nd and 3rd of June no incidents or violations of regulations were observed or reported anywhere in the region. All Allied troops were confined to their quarters on 2 June and with the exception of queues on Sunday morning at the voting booths in some of the larger cities, there was no outward evidence on any unusual occasion. In fact one was impressed with the quietness of it all as being as near to a quiet normal pre-war Sunday as the Italians have not seen in many years. On Monday 3rd of June the troops were no longer confined to their barracks but to all outward appearances the voting had been completed the preceeding day and everyone is now going about their business and awaiting the outcome with considerable interest.

3. Electioneering, speeches and the posting of political notices was all completed by Saturday the 1st of June. 1513

All parties produced their leaders and best campaign orators for meetings throughout the region prior to the elections. But all such meetings were conducted without incident, with the possible exception of the visit of Umberto to Venice on Saturday afternoon June 1st.

The King flew to Venice from Milan and Proceeded to St.Mark's Square where he appeared from a Balcony of the Royal Palace. He made no speech but was greeted by cheers from a loyal crowd of sailors from the Italian Navy as well as civilians. At the same time a group of alleged Communists gathered some distance away and whistled and booed. However, nothing more happened at this time and the King departed. Later, when the Monarchists succeeded in hoisting the Royal banner, the Communists tried to pull it down, while one party succeeded in placing a Republican flag on the other pole. A small fight began and some chairs were broken, a Monarchist's flag was burned, and a few shots were fired into the air but there were no casualities and the mob soon dispersed.

The only outward political activity observed on election day was the hauling of voters to the polls in trucks and automobiles, but there was never at any time any evidence of intimidation or undue influence observed anywhere in the vicinity of the polls.

From indirect but reasonably reliable sources came information that the elections and political programs of the various parties were discussed from the pulpit by most of the clergy throughout the week prior to elections, and even on the Sunday of election. The clergy urged support of those parties opposed to communism and by innuendo expressed preference for the Monarchy.

It was also reported that some of the clergy even threatened excommunication to those voting for communism.

4. All Civilian Police Agencies were alerted for the occasion including the Italian Army. The Carabinieri stood guard night and day over all voting booths observed, but due to the calm attitude of the public they were never called upon to show force.

5. It is estimated that a higher percentage of voters went to the polls in this election than in the one of two months ago. In many cases as high as 95% of the voters participated. The urban vote will no doubt be higher that in the smaller communities

1. Complete arrangements for the observation of the elections had been made by Col. Hancock prior to his departure. The eventual availability of Lt.Col. Gardner and Capt. Hodges enabled additional tours to be made.

2. Officers were therefore allocated as follows:

Brescia and Bergamo: Major Holland with whom was associated Mr. Phillipps of the British Consulate;
Mantova and Cremona: Capt. Dare;
Pavia : Capt. Lomax;
Como Varese and Sondrio : Capt. Maldock.

The Province of Milan, by reason of its population and importance was specially thoroughly covered, Lt.Col. Gardener accompanied by Ten. Sabetta, toured the northern part of the Province, including some communes in Varese. Capt. Forster and Capt. Hodges toured independently the South East portion of Milan Province. Major Fleetwood and Lt. De Thomasis were responsible for Milan City. The Regional Commissioner's Office and the Public Safety Office were kept manned throughout the day, and the latter office was in regular telephone communication with all Provincial Questori. No Officers entered polling booths.

3. Constant touch was also maintained with Area Headquarters, with Mr. Bay, the American Consul General, Mr. Goldie the British Consul General and with the Comando Militare Territoriale (General Marras). Capt Vella of the local Government sub-Commission accompanied by Dr. Cesare Zizza Inspector General were in Milan and conducted tours of the City, Pavia and Como. An interesting cross reference was provided by conversation with Mr. Lucas, correspondant of the Daily Express.

4. The weather on Sunday was dull and unsettled in the South, with some drizzle in Milan City, in Como, Varese and Sondrio there was heavy rain. In General the weather was unfavourable to crowds, not that there was the slightest indication of crowd being formed. On Monday morning the weather was warmer and sunny.

5. Reports, from whatever source received, were all in the same strain. The behaviour of the voting population was exemplary. Lt.Col. Gardner, on his return from a Sunday morning tour in the north of Milan Province, used a striking phrase "as far as the demeanour of the people was concerned you could not tell, till you saw the actual building, wether they were going to church or to vote". At the voting stations of Milan, visited by the writer, there was the same evidence of real earnestness. Frail, elderly people to whom the visit must have been an effort were being assisted up the steps to vote.

6. The percentage of voting was high, reaching 96% in some country districts. 90% was the normal figure. In the same way some small Communes had, in the end, few undelivered certificates, in Milan the final figure had dropped to below 30.000.

7. Voting was generally early, except in Milan, were some of the voters quite clearly took Sunday as a holiday and went out of town, doing their voting on Monday morning. The Sunday evening figure for Milan City showed that 70% of the electorate had voted by that time.

8. The services of public order were well organized. Carabinieri were in general held concentrated and in particular the local mobile battalion of Carabinieri was all day long, standing by in barracks. It was interesting to hear that members of the Carabinieri, presenting themselves to vote, were immediately passed to the head of the queue and thus got through their visit in very quick time. There was no sign of display of public security forces during the day. Men of the Vigili Urbani had been taken off their usual traffic control duty to help with election duties. Fortunately traffic was very light. Practically no allied troops were seen in the streets.

9. The organization of the voting stations themselves appeared to be excellent. Certainly there were, at no time, in Milan, the long queues which, according to the papers, took place in Rome. In the afternoon, when the writer made a tour of the Milan polling stations, there was a steady arrival of voters but at only one place was there a short queue . All the observers remarked on the lack of party transport, as compared with that used at the administrative elections.

9242

10. There were no signs of any attempt to intimidate electors, there was no electioneering near polling stations, and no political meetings were held on election day. In the course of a very detailed tour of the polling stations at Milan, Major Fleetwood found only two cases of irregularity. At one station, two of the six authorised D.C. representatives, four were wearing Communist party badges. At another station a group of three or four Communists and one Christian democrat all wearing the authorised armband were outside the building and the authorised delegation were inside. In neither case was there any suggestion of intimidation resulting from the irregularity.

11. This report might with advantage end on a lighter note, with a slight, and strictly true story. As the writer strolled in the streets of Milan on Saturday evening, he overtook a singularly attractive young couple, walking hand in hand, apparently supremely content with each other's company. As the writer was about to draw level with them the young fellow turned to the girl and, with an accent of supreme earnestness, said "e poi tu voterai per la monarchia?" Truly the all absorbing subject.

SUBJECT : Elections.

(Attention Civil Affairs Section)

REPORT ON ELECTION PROCEDURE UP TO THE CLOSE OF THE POLLS ON 3rd JUNE 1946, NAPLES.

Reference your AC/45/8/LG of 21st of May 1946.

1. In continuation and confirmation of short report by telephone on 3rd June, the following is a report to the time polls closed.

Owing to reduction of staff, it has been only possible to make visits on election day to Naples, Santa Maria and the Provincial capitals of Avellino, Benevento, Caserta and Salerno. a-d CAMPO BASSO.

Major Williams and an Italian Govt. special inspector visited Naples for the period of the elections.

2. Naples itself is far the most important centre, and as the traditional home of Italian royalty, is regarded as perhaps the capital city of monarchist hopes. It has been visited by most of the personalities during May, and the San Carlo Opera House has been the usual venue for speeches, with loud speakers installed in the Galleria Umberto to cater for overflow.

3. The principal visitors to Naples have been:

(a) - TOGLIATTI	Communist	on the 8th May;
(b) - CORBINO	Liberal	" " 8th	"
(c) - The New KING of ITALY		" "19/20th	"
(d) - DE GASPERI (Prime Minister)
	Chr. Democ.	" " 25th	"
(e) - FERRUCCIO PARRI	Action Party	" " 26th	"
(f) - GIANNINI GUGLIELMO	Uomo Qualunque	" " 28th	"
(g) - GIOVANNI PORZIO	Monarchist	" " 30th	"

One of the biggest gatherings was drawn by Giannini of the Uomo Qualunque who was critical of other parties and the Government. Parri who was outspokenly republican got a poor reception and the Prime Minister De Gasperi was hooted by the Monarchists and gave the reply that it was not for him or for his Party to decide on the Referendum.

4. The Monarchist element seems to be showing not only strength but unexpected good organization. It is also in strength in Salerno and the country districts down to Casalbuono, the junction with Potenza Province.

5. ORDER. The Election campaign has produced a good deal of oratory and much placarding of slogans on walls, roads, etc. There have also been minor incidents reported from a number of country districts, but good order and good temper has been the general rule (See appendix for list of small incidents reported on polling days).

On the 15th trouble broke out in Naples between Communists and several other factions with the result that two grenades were thrown by alleged Communists. The subsequent panic resulting in injuries to 30 persons but this incident did not give rise to further trouble.

The Italian Army Command have arranged for military protection for all the ballot boxes which has been a big undertaking.

6. PRE-ELECTION PROCEDURE. A number of cases were reported of bad procedure before the elections; i.e. members of the same family being given directions to vote in widely separated Sezioni, undelivered voting certificates, even a few cases of persons being bluffed or paid to give up their voting certificates. The number of undelivered voting certificates which had been very high, over 60,000 in Naples towards the end of May was considerably reduced by the day of the elections to about 35,000. The energetic action of the Italian Government Election Inspector Dott. Angius in collaboration with the new Prefect, dott. Ventura had a most beneficial result.

No organized sabotage of procedure has come to light, but there is some doubt as to the completeness of the lists in the Communes. Benevento in particular showed signs of confusion.

Declassified E.O. 12356 Section 3.3/NND No. 785021

7. PROCEDURE DURING ELECTIONS. On the 2nd June the procedure in the Sezioni was somewhat slow. There are over 500 in Naples and Sezioni catering for more than 500 voters were opened again on Monday the 3rd of June. There was general good order but as expected, in spite of the importance of the occasion, the enthusiasm for local candidates shown in the Administrative Elections was lacking. The tendancy to slowness particularly among rather uneducated electors, is the feature most likely to lead to minor trouble.

8. PERCENTAGE OF ELECTORS VOTING. By 1300 hrs on Sunday the 2nd of June less than 40 % of the electors in Naples had recorded their votes. In the country districts the voting seemed more lively but the poll did not give the impression of being as heavy as in the Administrative elections. Women voters were much in evidence and showed great interest in proceedings.

When the polls closed on Sunday 60 % had recorded their votes in Naples city and over 70 % in the Province

On Monday 3rd of June at the closing of the polls the percentage had risen to just over 74 % in both Naples and the Province.

9. GENERAL REMARKS. The organization in the Prefect's office was excellent and the Prefect and Dott. Angius have complete and exact arrangements for keeping in touch with proceedings at the many sezioni. They made efforts to hurry procedure when there were signs of a hold up.

The general good order reported throughout has been a feature of the election though it is almost universally agreed that the latter half of June after the results are known is likely to be a greater strain on public order than the period of the elections itself.

Following signal 42/11R., we communicate other incidents which occurred on 2nd June 1946:-

NAPLES PROVINCE

At 1800 hours in S.Antimo at the 4th electoral section presided by Avv. NICLO, Ing. COLASANTO candidate for the Costituente in the Demochristian list, with Republican tendency, protested for the slowness of the electoral operations. Between the president NICLO and Ing. COLA SANTO a heated argument arose; no consequences ensued.

Always in S.Antimo at about 1600 hrs, two P.S. Agents from the Naples Questura, on duty at the third and eighth electoral section, in order to prevent disorders caused by quarrels of the electors, each fired a musket shot in the air without consequence.

In Torre del Greco area some electoral sections were invaded by the crowd due to a large number of voters and slowness of the president. The crowd was immediately controlled by the intervention of the reserve P.S. Agents.

CASERTA PROVINCE

Some communists of S.Maria Vetere denounced to the CC.RR. that an unidentified man was going around giving to some of the electors a specimen of the voting certificate for the list of the National Democratic Union, and 100 lire to each person to encourage them to vote for that list. CC.RR. quickly intervened and traced the man later identified as GATTABIANCA Giuseppe, aged 71, who was denounced

CC.RR. of Caiazzo received from the Assessore delegato DE ANGELIS Eugenio a denounciation against brothers SEVERINO Loreto, magistrate and Antonio, because they incited the voters to leave the polling stations stating the vote was not compulsory. Also DE FILIO Stefano denounced PERRONE Giovanni scrutinizer, for irregularities committed. Denounciation proceeding.

Some communists of S.Maria Vetere denounced to the CC.RR. that an unidentified man was going around giving to some of the electors a specimen of the voting certificate for the list of the National Democratic Union, and 100 lire to each person to encourage them to vote for that list. CC.RR. quickly intervened and traced the man later identified as CATTABIANCA Giuseppe, aged 71, who was denounced

CC.RR. of Caiazzo received from the Assessore delegato DE ANGELIS Eugenio a denounciation against brothers SEVERINO Loreto, magistrate and Antonio, because they incited the voters to leave the polling stations stating the vote was not compulsory. Also DE FILIO Stefano denounced PERRONE Giovanni scrutinizer, for irregularities committed. Denounciation proceeding.

BENEVENTO PROVINCE 1500

In Cusano Mutri, Civitella Vicigno fraction, Finance Guard N.C.O. on vigilance duty arrested socialist CIVITILO Luigi aged 26, for propaganda in favour of his party, in the vicinity of the polling station.

In Pontelandolfo an unidentified man, in the crowd awaiting in front of the polling station, without any apparent reason, hit with his fist Carabiniere MASELLA Giuseppe on duty there, causing him a serious injury on the nose. The injurer protected by the crowd escaped. Incident did not disturb public order.

In Montesarchio, criminal FRIZZA Carmelo aged 35, lunatic, in the first station of the polls hit with his fist Carabiniere DONISE Pietro, who following request by the president of the polling station, was trying to get the man out of the room, because he was disturbing with shouts and incomprehensible words the electoral operations. FREZZA was immediately arrested and was later released due to his abnormal condition.

In Torrecuso, Finance Guard N.C.O., on duty at the polling station, after denounciation went to nearly station in the vicinity of the Socialist Party and seized a bottle of wine which was being gratuitously to the electors of said party. Some socialists intervened and tried to have the wine returned. The N.C.O. refused, so one of the socialists broke the bottle? The Sindaco arrived, he was a member of the Liberal Party and was threatened by the crowd, but without any consequence. At the arrival of CC.RR. re-inforcements the situation became normal.

In S.Leucio del Sannio during the closing operations of the second electoral section, CC.RR. arrested FURNO Eduardo, aged 34, for abusive carrying of automatic pistol.

Everywhere the elections continued with large crowds at each polling station. In many sections complaints were made against the slowness of the prodedure mostly due to the stupidity of the voters, to the difficulty of entering the sections which were placed in the same premises and to the fastidiousness of the procedure.

In the Island of Ischia the operations continued more speedly. Due to the slowness of some presidents in the communes of Sarno, Pagani and Angri it is foreseen that some of the electors will not be able to vote within the time established.

The operations were suspended at 2200 and will continue today.

Naples, 3 June 1946

The electoral operations, which started yesterday at 0800 hrs, are proceeding smoothly. A large crowd is awaiting at each polling station, formed mostly by women. In a few sections of Naples and in various communes of the provinces complaints are being received concerning the slowness of the procedure, this causes discontent amongst the voters who fear they will not be able to vote before closing time. In the Island of Ischia said slowness is attributed to obstructionism in order to eliminate voters. Outstanding incidents hereunder:-

1) In Fontanarosa (Avellino) at 1400 hrs a violent dispute arose between members of the Demochristian and Labour Parties, caused by supposed electoral propaganda made by the former. In the incident a demochristian was seriously injured and other 6 persons were slightly injured. CC.RR. arrested responsible persons. Public order re-established.
2) In Frazione Sirico (Commune of Saviano) Naples, near the 5th polling station between two groups of opposite tendencies a discussion arose, which ended in a fight, causing 3 persons to be injured, one seriously. Author arrested.
3) In Melito (Naples) on 2nd June at 0900 hrs local parish priest during a sermon held in his church affirmed that the Pope would excommunicate the Communist, Socialist and Liberal Parties. The priest added that whoever votes for the a/m Parties will commit mortal sin. This caused great resentment amidst members of the 3 a/m Parties. The quick and prompt intervention of the CC.RR. prevented for the moment violent reaction.
4) In San Giovanni a Teduccio and Barra (Naples) Demochristian lawyers Ugo and Diego RODINO' were fined for having made propaganda with loud speakers and threw leaflets within 200 meters of the polling station.
5) In Boscotrecase (Naples) CIRILLO Giuseppe was arrested for having attempted to use electoral certificate which was not his.

1. Ref A.C. Directive AC/45/8/46 of 31 May 46.

(a) The election was held in the Region of Liguria (Provinces of GENOA, LA SPEZIA, SAVONA and IMPERIA) on 2nd and 3rd June, 46. No public disorder resulted.

(b) The election regulations were observed fully by Administration Officials, and the population generally.

(c) Police arrangements were excellent and reflected the greatest credit on all Services.

(d) A very outstanding feature was the extremely small number of civilian motor vehicles in circulation.

2. The election campaign prior to the voting, was conducted calmly and accepted with interest by the public. The police were not called on to disperse meetings or demonstrations.

3. The visit of the King to GENOA on Friday 31st May 46 (Reported to ALCOM vide signal No. 1907 of 1 June 46) resulted in a mixed demonstration outside the Prefecture, chiefly anti-Monarchist. When the King left the building, minor scuffles took place, but no serious incident developed.

On 30th May 1946 I visited the Provinces of Latina and Frosinone.

I was received with every courtesy by the Prefects of these Provinces and they offered me a detailed and satisfactory account of all the arrangements made to ensure an orderly development of all election proceedings.

On Sunday morning after having visited a few polling stations in various sectors of Rome I made the following tour in the Provinces : Albano - Genzano - Velletri - Cisterna - Latina - Prossedi - Frosinone - Ferentino - Anagni - Valmontone; No unusual features have drawn my attention, everywhere there was large and orderly attendance and I personally ascertained that adequate supervision had been provided by the Prefects for the polling stations compatibly with the not very large Police Forces put at their disposal.

On Monday I visited the following Communes of Viterbo Province :

Monterosi - Capranica - La Quercia - Vetralla - Viterbo - Soriano.

Here again I could see that everything proceeded with the utmost calm and tranquillity and in the whole Province there had not been the slightest disorder.

As regards to Rome city in particular during the last week preceding the elections reports of the Questore indicate that there have been slight disorders owing to the appeal of the political struggle, which however were always promply controlled by the Police and did in no instances assume relavant proportion.

Complaints of people who have not received electoral certificate were numerous; there have been also cases of issuance of certificate in duplicate and even in triplicate.

Declassified E.O. 12356 Section 3.3/NND No. 770021

Also other irregularities were reported.

Special electoral office at Palazzo dell'Esposizione has worked at full shift dealing with these complaints, but only a part of these could be rightened.

There have been also cases of black marketing of certificates which have been dealt with by the Police.

The CC.RR.s of Parrocchietta Police Station arrested three women, members of the Communist Party while collecting from electors electoral certi icates, fifteen of which were found in their possession. They admitted that they were acting on orders received from the Communist Party.

A search therefore was made by the CC.RR.s at the local Section of said Party and twenty five more certificates were discovered there.

The Salario Police Station, acting on information received, raided the Poligrafico dello Stato (the Govt official Printing Plant) and confiscated plates of ballot papers similar to the official ones safe for same propaganda markings on them.

Elections in the city were carried out in comparatively good order.

The attendance was very large but arrangements were not always satisfactory and there have been instances where people have waited some five or six Hrs. their turn to vote.

Attempts have also been discovered to vote twice under certificates bearing different names and several arrests were effected.

CONFIDENTIAL.
Subject is Naples elections. Electoral lists in reasonably good order considering exceptional difficulties. Good arrangements for obtaining electoral certificates and duplicates. Electoral certificates remaining undelivered at close poll estimated at 10% of electorate of which 4% due to electors own fault. Consider this figure reasonable. Appeal against legality of inscription soldiers in additional lists rejected by court appeal on first June. Public order excellent. No incidents in city. One trifling one province. Police very scarce. No crowds in streets. No breach of law as to political meetings and propaganda. Monarchist propaganda prevails. Arrangement of polling station good large crowds waiting to vote since 0500 hours Sunday. Waits of several hours at some sections due to excessive business of judicial officials acting as president heavy voting till close of polls Sunday.
Very light voting today vote by 220.

Call from Major Williams from Naples

Major Williams reported that delivery of electoral certificates was very much improved by the time of elections. On the day of elections 10% of the certificates were undelivered. Of these 4% was due to the electors own fault since they had left town without informing the proper authorities.

Public order was excellent , no incidents having been reported.

People gathered in lines in front of the polling stations from 5 o'clock in the morning. There was very light polling this morning, June the 3rd. Estimated percentage of people that had voted in Naples was 75%. Some delay has been occasioned at the polling stations by the difficulty that some had in folding ballots. Another case of delay was th e tende cy of the Presidents o sections to be very finecky about their jobs. No falsification of certificates was reported.

Voting in Naples was calm with a few incidents. As of late last night, voting was light with 40%, however when polls closed today voting had increased to 74% for both the city and province of Naples.

There was one small incident at Fontanaros in the province of Avellino. There was a dispute between demo-christians and labourites. Carabinieri intervened and arrested some of the disputants. At San Giovann near Naples, two demo-christina lawyers were arrested and fined for having loudspeakers issuing propaganda within 200 meters of the polls. At Melito near Naples two local parish priests caused a commotion by speeches saying that the Pope will excommunicate everybody that voted for the communist, socialist or liberal parties. Carabinieri intervened and stopped the disturbance.

People in Naples were a little impatient because they had to wait long time in order to vote. The organisation of the Prefecture for the receipt of information is excellent.

Telephone Call from Capt. VELLA on Milan pre-election situation:

Ca pt. Vella called at 1030 hours, Saturday, 1st June from Milan and reported that he had already spoken with the Prefect, who anticipates no trouble during the elections. If there is any difficulty, it may come after the elections.

Capt. Vella also reported that today 24.000 were the undelivered electoral certificates for Milan city.

He reported that there is some difficulty expected in the Ravenna and Forli area.

June 3rd - 0900 hrs.

Telephone Call from Col. MAVIS - LO Venezia on election in Venice and province.

Col. Mavis said polling was quiet in Venice and Province.- No r eports of any incident or violation of the law. Affluence of electors at polling stations seemed to be heavier than in the local elections, but v oting went on smoothly.

Col. Mavis said he will call again later in the afternoon.

Nice.

0930 hrs.

Dott. Strano, Head of the Electoral Service, Ministry of Interior, informs that no incidents have been reported in Rome and throughout Italy dur ing yesterday, with the exception of a small fray of no consequence in the Province of Naples. As regards the custody of the urns during the night, Dott. Strano said he didn't hear of any attempts having been made against electoral seats.

Dott. Strano could not give any numerical figures as to the percentage of electors that voted yesterday. He added howeveer that, judging from the data of some sections that completed the polling yesterday it is anticipated that 80% of the electorate will have voted by the endo of polling today.

No extension of the time for polling has been authorized as this is not provided by the law. Instructions have been given to Presidents of electoral seats to allow only an extra quarter of an hour or half an hour.
