Reason for Arrest

Subject claims to have been employed by the Germans at forced labour from when he escaped on 13 December 1944. The arresting agency suspected subject because of the ease with which he returned to AGI, sum of money carried by subject and the quality of tactical information obtained from him. Subject is a peasant type of individual who would probably attempt to return to his home if released at this time. Since his home is in no man's land it is felt that he is a security hazard and should be interned until the lines move forward.

Recommendation for length of Internment

Until Bologna is taken by the Allies;

Reason for Arrest: CIO Det

Subject was first interrogated by the 85th Div CIO, several inconsistencies were found in his story and he was sent to RIF as an agent suspect. Further interrogation was conducted at RIF, and subject was kept at RIF for some time for possible identification by others from BOLAGNA, but the original inconsistencies in his story were not corrected. Subject was in the possession of detailed terrain maps of area around Bologna; he had 3 blank identity cards. In returning from southern Italy, subject followed a route which kept him off the travelled routes and took him for considerable lengths of time in the mountains near the front lines; he crossed behind the front lines from east to west. It is felt that subject intended to cross the front lines into RIF and return to BOLAGNA. Although it cannot be proved that subject was at any time in the employ of the GIs (over) it cannot be proved that subject was at any time in the employ of the GIs (over)

Subject has intense German sentiments. His son Archimede is with the Republican Guard at Bologna and son ENZO went voluntarily to work in Germany. His anti-allied sentiments were best expressed in April 1944, when an Allied pilot parachuted lifeless to the ground at Forretta Terme and he was heard to say. "This dead man must not be buried, he must be thrown into a latrine hole or better still eaten raw". Since his home is so close to the front lines he is considered a potential danger to security.

Reason for Arrest

CIG, 1st Army Div.

Subject has intense German sentiments. His son Archimede is with the Republican Guard at Bologna and son NICO went voluntarily to work in Germany. His anti-Allied sentiments were best expressed in April 1944, when an Allied pilot parachuted lifeless to the ground at Forreth's fence and he was heard to say, "This dead man must not be buried, he must be thrown into a latrine hole or better still eaten roasted". Since his home is so close to the front lines he is considered a potential danger to security.
