LIST OF ARCHIVESNotes

1. In accordance with ANHQ 141 Instruction No. dated the following list includes the principal collections of archives in the former Reichsgau of Greater Vienna. It is intended primarily to secure the preservation of archives of permanent interest; and is arranged accordingly. Attention, however, should be drawn to the very great immediate interest and importance for Intelligence and Military Government purposes of those indicated in para. 4 and (particularly) para 5 of the present Notes.
2. The following points are to be noted:-
 - (a) It has been impossible in this list to specify all accumulations of archives, since those of certain types are far too numerous.
 - (b) Only experts can decide whether any particular papers are of value.
 - (c) Written papers (unlike printed ones) are unique. Once destroyed, they cannot be replaced.
 - (d) Since any single accumulation consists of related papers, its value may be destroyed almost as effectively by dispersal or by the loss of one or two papers as by total destruction.
3. Chief Types of Archives.

The principal varieties of Public Administration and Business producing archives of importance which figure individually in the present list are as follows.

Public Administration by Reich Government, through Ministries and other offices, with their various Sections and Departments, in Berlin, and their District Offices in Vienna and other large towns. The archives of Public Authorities before the 'Anschluß' are presumably either with the new bodies which have taken over their functions or (the older ones) in the Haus - Hof- und Staatsarchiv at Vienna.

Provincial Administration. Archives of the older Austrian organization are to be found in the Landesarchiv in each of the nine Länder; though some of the more modern documents, taken over along with the functions they represent, are doubtless with the authorities of the seven modern German Reichsgaue headed by the Reichsstatthalter.

Legal Administration (again assimilated in recent years to the German model) includes the Supreme or High Courts (in Berlin and one or two other towns) and the Courts of Appeal etc. ('Oberlandesgerichte') and, below these, 'Landgerichte') in large towns. The modern archives are preserved at the Courts concerned, the older in Landesarchiv. It is to be noted that the 'Landgerichte' represent Austrian Courts, called alternatively 'Landesgerichte' or 'Kreisgerichte' and may retain those names.

*i.e. Wien; Nieder- and Ober-Donau (formerly N. and O-Österreich); Kärnten; Salzburg; Steiermark; and Tirol-Vorarlberg. The above are seven of the ancient Länder, the Gau of Wien having been cut out of Nieder-Donau; modern re-arrangement has divided the eight - Burgenland - between Nieder-Donau and Steiermark.

Police Administration, at all the above-mentioned administrative levels; archives in offices concerned.

Town Administration, ancient and modern 'Stadtkarte' generally in Books in every town of importance.

Nazi Party Administration, through Head Offices (in Vienna and elsewhere), Chief District Offices ('Gaue') and District H.Q. of 'Hitler Jugend', 'S.S.' etc.

Semi-Public Administration, i.e. that of Institutions which, though private in origin, do work of a public character; such as Universities and Educational or Charitable Institutions, Great Banks and Insurance Companies, Public Utility Companies and large Industrial Concerns. Archives normally preserved at Head Offices.

Private Administration whether by Individuals or Bodies; archives most frequently listed here are those of Families possessing or having once possessed large estates and considerable control of local government; generally preserved at Family Seat ('Schloss').

Church Administration: Higher Authorities below Roman Catholic and of Lutheran and other Protestant Commissions; archives preserved at Seats of Dioceses and of 'Landeskirchen'; also in Catholic Chapter and important Monasteries of which Austria should contain still a considerable number. Also archives at a few Jewish Centres.

4. Important Archives not set out individually in the List.

(a) LOWER COURTS OF LAW ('Amtsgerichte'): known under Austrian organisation as 'Bezirksgerichte'. Their archives include, besides Court Records, those of the Land Registry ('Grundbücher') and the Registers of Cooperatives ('Genossenschafts-register'), Merchants, Firms, etc. ('Handelsregister') and Non-profit Associations ('Vereinsregister').

(b) LOWER DIVISIONS OF LOCAL ADMINISTRATION, Rural and Urban ('Landkreise' and 'Stadtkreise'). Besides the archives of ordinary District Administration kept at the office of the Landrat or Oberbürgermeister, the Stadtkreis or the Chief Town of a Landkreis

Private Administration whether by Individuals or Bodies; archives most frequently limited here are those of families possessing or having once possessed large estates and considerable control of local government; generally preserved at Family Seat ('Schloss').

Church Administration: Higher Authorities both Roman Catholic and of Lutheran and other Protestant Commissions; archives preserved at Seats of Dioceses and of 'Landeskirchen'; also in Cathedral Chapters and important Monasteries of which Austria should contain still a considerable number. Also archives at a few Jewish Centres.

4. Important Archives not set out individually in the List.

(a) LOWER COURTS OF LAW ('Landgerichte'): known under Austrian organisation as 'Bezirksgerichte'. Their archives include, besides Court Records, those of the Land Registry ('Grundbuch') and the Registrars of Cooperatives ('Genossenschaftsregister'), Merchants, firms etc. ('Handelsregister') and Non-profit Associations ('Vereinsregister').

(b) LOWER DIVISIONS OF LOCAL ADMINISTRATION, Rural and Urban ('Landgemeinden' and 'Stadtkreise'). Besides the archives of ordinary District Administration kept at the office of the Landrat or Oberbürgermeister, the Statthaus or the Chief Town of a Landkreis will contain the Land Survey ('Katasteramt') and Police H.Q.; and normally the local Offices and Registrars of Finance and Taxation ('Finanzamt', 'Kämmerei', 'Bezugsamt'), Food Administration ('Verkostungsamt'), Labour Administration ('Arbeitsamt'), and Births, Deaths and Marriages ('Standesamt'), Voters ('Wahlamt'), and Social Insurance ('Wohlfahrtsamt') all of considerable immediate importance.

(c) Nazi Party Organizations, whose archives will normally be found in the Party Offices of 'Gau', 'Kreis', or 'Landkreis'. Examples are: - H.S., People's Welfare Organization ('N.S. Volkswohlfahrt'); Winter Help Organization ('Winterhilfswerk'); Central Office for the Victims ('Zentralamt für Kriegsgefangene'); N.S. Motor Corps ('N.S. Kraftfahrkorps') and N.S. Flying Corps ('N.S. Fliegerkorps').

5. Archives too numerous to be listed.

Note particularly the possible importance of those of

- (a) smaller Town or Commune and Parishes ('Gemeinden'); which include the Registers of Births, Marriages and Deaths, both Civil and Ecclesiastical;
- (b) the smaller Local Offices of Food and Labour Registration; or Police, where will be found important personal Records ('Heidenkartei', 'Volkkartei', and 'Kontakarte'); and of the Post, Finance (Taxation), and other divisions of Government;
- (c) all Notaries: whose collections cover the Records of Private Contracts and Business of all kinds and go back in some cases to very early dates;
- (d) Branch Offices of Reichsbank and Head Offices of other Banks; and
- (e) any considerable Commercial or Industrial Organizations.

6. Archives unaccounted for or destroyed.

It is to be expected that the information on to addresses furnished by this list may in many cases have been rendered incorrect by military operations: but two points are particularly to be noted.

- (a) It is not to be assumed because a building is in ruins that the archives stored in it (possibly in a specially protected room or safe, possibly even without that protection) may not be intact beneath the debris.
- (b) Any information which can be obtained from Local Officials etc. in regard to listed archives which have been evacuated in whole or in part, or confined which have been deposited elsewhere, may be most valuable.

(d) Branch Offices of Reichsbank and Head Offices of other Banks; and

(e) any considerable Commercial or Industrial Organizations.

6. Archives evacuated or destroyed.

It is to be expected that the information as to addresses furnished by this List may in many cases have been rendered incorrect by military operations; but two points are particularly to be noted.

(a) It is not to be assumed because a building is in ruins that the archives stored in it (possibly in a specially protected room or safe, possibly even without that precaution) may not be intact beneath the debris.

(b) Any information which can be obtained from Local Officials etc. in regard to Listed archives which have been evacuated in whole or in part, or contents which have been deposited elsewhere, may be most valuable.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE LISTS.

In each section of the Lists of Protected Monuments and Archives (except that for Greater Vienna), the Capital (cap.) of the Reichsgau is listed first, followed by the other towns in alphabetical order. Monuments and archives are arranged by categories under the town in which they lie.

The name of each town is followed by an indication of its local government status, taken from the Ämtliches Gemeindeverzeichnis für das Deutsche Reich (1941 edition), and by its map reference.

The local government status is shown thus:-

Kr. = Kreis.

KrSt. = Kreisstadt.

Stad. = Stadtkreis.

The first group of letters and figures in the map reference gives the co-ordinates on the British (Modified) Military Grid. The second group, in brackets, indicates the sheet letter and number of the appropriate map. Maps referred to are:-

Sheet No. 4346. Army/Air Service, Germany, 1/250,000
(War Office, Ed I 1943).

Sheet No. 4230. Army/Air Service, Italy, 1/250,000
(War Office, Ed I 1943).

Sheet No. 4413. Army/Air Service, Yugoslavia, 1/250,000
(War Office, Ed I 1944).

The local government status is shown thus:-

Kr. = Kreis.

Krst. = Kreisstadt.

Stkr. = Stadtkreis.

PART III

LIST OF ARCHIVESNotes

1. In accordance with ARHC Adm Instruction No. the following list includes the principal collections of archives in the former Reichsgau of Oberdanau (Upper Austria). It is intended primarily to secure the preservation of archives of permanent interest; and is arranged accordingly. Attention, however, should be drawn to the very great immediate interest and importance for Intelligence and Military Government purposes of those indicated in para. 4 and (particularly) para 5 of the present Notes.

2. The following points are to be noted:-

- (a) It has been impossible in this list to specify all accumulations of archives, since those of certain types are far too numerous.
- (b) Only experts can decide whether any particular papers are of value.
- (c) Written papers (unlike printed ones) are unique. Once destroyed, they cannot be replaced.
- (d) Since any single accumulation consists of related papers, its value may be destroyed almost as effectively by dispersal or by the loss of one or two papers as by total destruction.

3. Chief Types of Archives.

The principal varieties of Public Administration and Business producing archives of importance which figure individually in the present list are as follows.

Public Administration by Reich Government, through Ministries and other offices, with their various Sections and Departments, in Berlin, and their District Offices in Vienna and other large towns. The archives of Public Authorities before the Anschluss are presumably either with the new bodies which have taken over their functions or (the older ones) in the Haus - Hof- und Staatsarchiv at Vienna.

3. Chief Types of Archives.

The principal varieties of Public Administration and Business producing Archives of importance which figure individually in the present list are as follows.

Public Administration by Reich Government. through Ministries and other offices, with their various Sections and Departments, in Berlin, and their District Offices in Vienna and other large towns. 6977
The archives of Public Authorities before the 'Anschluss' are presumably either with the now bodies which have taken over their functions or (the older ones) in the Haus - Hof- und Staatsarchiv at Vienna.

Provincial Administration. Archives of the older Austrian organization are to be found in the Landesarchiv in each of the nine Länder; though some of their more modern documents, taken over along with the functions they represent, are doubtless with the authorities of the seven western German Reichsgaue headed by the Reichstatthalter.

Legal Administration (again assimilated in recent years to the German model) includes the Supreme or High Courts (in Berlin and one or two other towns) and the Courts of Appeal etc. ('Oberlandesgerichte' and, below these, 'Landgerichte') in five towns. The modern archives are preserved etc the Courts concerned, the older in Landesarchive. It is to be noted that the 'Landgerichte' represent Austrian Courts called alternatively 'Landesgerichte' or 'Kreisgerichte' and may retain those names.

i.e. Wien; Nieder- and Ober-Donau (formerly N. and O-Österreich); Kärnten; Salzburg; Steiermark; and Tirol-Vorarlberg. The above are seven of the ancient Länder, the Gau of Wien having been cut out of Nieder-Donau; modern re-arrangement has divided the eight-Burgenland - between Nieder-Donau and Steiermark.

Police Administration, at all the above-mentioned administrative levels; archives in offices concerned.

Town Administration, ancient and modern 'Stadterhau'; generally in Rathaus in every town of importance.

Nazi Party Administration, through Head Offices (in Vienna and elsewhere), Chief District Offices ('Caenel') and District H.Q. or 'Hitler Jugend', 'S.S.' etc.

Semi-Public Administration, i.e. that of institutions which, though private in origin, do work of a public character; such as Universities and Educational or Charitable Institutes, great Banks and Insurance Companies, Public Utility Companies and large Industrial Concerns. Archives normally preserved at Head Offices.

Private Administration whether by Individuals or Bodies; archives most frequently listed here are those of Families possessing or having once possessed large estates and considerable control of local government; generally preserved at Family Seat ('Schloss').

Church Administration: Higher Authorities both of Roman Catholic and of Lutheran and other Protestant Commissions; archives preserved at Seats of Dioceses and of 'Kathedralkirchen'; also in Cathedral Chapters and important Monasteries of which Austria should contain still a considerable number. Also archives at a few Jewish Centres.

4. Important Archives not set out individually in the List.

(a) LOWER COURTS OF LAW ('Justizämter'): known under Austrian organisation as 'Bezirksgerichte'. Their archives include, besides Court Records, those of the Land Registry ('Grundbuch') and the Registers of Cooperatives ('Genossenschaftsregister'), Merchants, Firms etc. ('Handelsregister') and Non-Profit Associations ('Vereinsregister').

(b) LOWER DIVISIONS OF LOCAL ADMINISTRATION, Rural and Urban ('Landgemeinden' and 'Stadtkreise'). Besides the archives of ordinary District Administration kept at the office of the Landrat or Industrial Concerns. Archives normally preserved at Head Offices.

Private Administration whether by Individuals or Bodies; archives most frequently listed here are those of Families possessing or having once possessed large estates and considerable control of local Government; generally preserved at Family Seat ('Schloss').

Church Administration: Higher Authorities both of Roman Catholic and of Lutheran and other Protestant Commissions; archives preserved at Seats of Dioceses and of 'Landeskirchen'; also in Cathedral Chapters and important Monasteries of which Austria should contain still a considerable number. Also archives at a few Jewish Centres.

4. Important Archives not set out individually in the List.

(a) LOWER COURTS OF LAW ('Landesgerichte'): known under Austrian organisation as 'Bezirksgerichte'. Their archives include, besides Court Records, those of the Land Registry ('Grundbuch') and the Registers of Cooperatives ('Genossenschaftsregister'), Merchants, Firms etc. ('Handelsregister') and Non-profit Associations ('Vereinsregister').

(b) LOWER DIVISIONS OF LOCAL ADMINISTRATION, Rural and Urban ('Landkreise' and 'Stadtkreise'). Besides the archives of ordinary District Administration kept at the office of the Landrat or Oberbürgermeister, the Stadtkreis or the Chief Town of a Landkreis will contain the Land Survey ('Katasteramt') and Police R.O.; and normally the local Offices and Registers of Finance and Taxation ('Fiskusamt', 'Kämmerei', 'Rechnungsamt'), Food Administration ('Ernährungsamt'), Price Administration, Labour Administration ('Arbeitsamt'), Births, Deaths and Marriages ('Standesamt'), Voters ('Wahlamt'), and Social Insurance ('Wohlfahrtsamt') all of considerable immediate importance.

(c) NAZI PARTY ORGANISATIONS, whose archives will normally be found in the Party Offices of 'Gau', 'Kreis', or 'Gemeinde'. Examples are: - N.S. People's Welfare Organisation ('N.S. Volkswohlfahrt'), Winter-Helm Organisation ('Winterhilfswerk'), Central Office for War Victims ('Hilfsamt für Kriegsgenossen'), N.S. Motor Corps ('NSKK') and N.S. Flying Corps ('NSFK').

5. Archives too numerous to be listed

Note particularly the possible importance of those of

- (a) smaller Town or Communes and Parishes ('Gemeinden'); which include the Registers of Births, Marriages and Deaths, both Civil and Ecclesiastical;
- (b) the smaller Local Offices of Food and Labour Registration; of Police, where will be found important personal Records ('Meldescheine', 'Volkskartei', and 'Kartei'); and of the Post, Finance (Taxation), and other divisions of Government;
- (c) all Notaries: whose collections cover the Records of Private Contracts and Business of all kinds and go back in some cases to very early dates;
- (d) Branch Offices of Reichsbank and Head Offices of other Banks; and
- (e) any considerable Commercial or Industrial Organisations.

6. Archives evacuated or destroyed.

It is to be expected that the information to all sources furnished by this List may in many cases have been rendered incorrect by military operations: but two points are particularly to be noted.

- (a) It is not to be assumed because a building is in ruins that the archives stored in it (possibly in a specially protected room or safe, possibly even without that precaution) may not be intact beneath the debris.
- (b) Any information which can be obtained from Local Officials etc. in regard to listed archives which have been evacuated in whole or in part, or copies of which have been deposited elsewhere, may be most valuable.

(d) Branch Offices of Reichsbank and Head Offices of other Banks; and

(e) any considerable Commercial or Industrial Organizations.

6. Archives evacuated or destroyed.

It is to be expected that the information as to addresses furnished by this list may in many cases have been rendered incorrect by military operations; but two points are particularly to be noted.

(a) It is not to be assumed because a building is in ruins that the archives stored in it (possibly in a specially protected room or safe, possibly even without that precaution) may not be intact beneath the debris.

(b) Any information which can be obtained from Local Officials etc. in regard to listed archives which have been evacuated in whole or in part, or copies of which have been deposited elsewhere, may be most valuable.

ARRANGEMENT OF THE LISTS.

In each section of the Lists of Protected Monuments and Archives (except that for Greater Vienna), the Capital (cap.) of the Reichsgau is listed first, followed by the other towns in alphabetical order. Monuments and archives are arranged by categories under the town in which they lie.

The name of each town is followed by an indication of its local government status, taken from the Antlrichs Gemeindeförzeichnis für das Deutsche Reich (1941 edition), and by its map reference.

The local government status is shown thus:-

Kr. = Kreis.

KrSt. = Kreisstadt.

Stkt. = Stadtkreis.

The first group of letters and figures in the map reference gives the co-ordinates on the British (Modified) Military Grid. The second group, in brackets, indicates the sheet letter and number of the appropriate map. Maps referred to are:-

PART III

LIST OF ARCHIVESNotes

1. In accordance with ARMA 100 Instruction No. 1, dated the following list includes the principal collections of archives in the former Reichsgau of SALZBURG. It is intended primarily to secure the preservation of archives of permanent interest; and is arranged accordingly. Attention, however, should be drawn to the very great immediate interest and importance for Intelligence and Military Government purposes of those indicated in para. 4 and (particularly) para 5 of the present Notes.
2. The following points are to be noted:-
 - (a) It has been impossible in this list to specify all accumulations of archives, since those of certain types are far too numerous.
 - (b) Only experts can decide whether any particular papers are of value.
 - (c) Written papers (unlike printed ones) are unique. Once destroyed, they cannot be replaced.
 - (d) Since any single accumulation consists of related papers, its value may be destroyed almost as effectively by dispersal or by the loss of one or two papers as by total destruction.
3. Chief Types of Archives.

The principal varieties of Public Administration and Business producing archives of importance which figure individually in the present list are as follows.

Public Administration by Reich Government, through Ministries and other offices, with their various Sections and Departments, in Berlin, and their District Offices in Vienna and other large towns. The archives of public authorities before the Anschluss are presumably either with the new bodies which have taken over their functions or (the older ones) in the Haus - Hof- und Staatsarchiv at Vienna.

5. Chief Types of Archives.

The principal varieties of Public Administration and business producing archives of importance which figure individually in the present list are as follows.

Public Administration by Reich Government, through Ministries and other offices, with their various Sections and Departments, in Berlin, and their District Offices in Vienna and other large towns. The archives of Public Authorities before the 'Anschluss' are presumably either with the new bodies which have taken over their functions or (the older ones) in the Haus - Hof- und Staatsarchiv at Vienna.

Provincial Administration. Archives of the older Austrian organization are to be found in the Landesarchiv in each of the nine Länder; though some of their more modern documents, taken over along with the functions they represent, are doubtless with the authorities of the seven western German Reichsgaue* headed by the Reichsstatthalter.

Local Administration (again assimilated in recent years to the German model) includes the Supreme or High Courts (in Berlin and one or two other towns) and the Courts of Appeal etc. (Oberlandesgerichte) and, below these, 'Landgerichte' in large towns. The modern archives are preserved at the Courts concerned, the older in Landesarchive. It is to be noted that the 'Landgerichte' represent Austrian Courts called alternatively 'Landesgerichte' or 'Kreisgerichte' and may retain those names.

*-i.e. Wien; Nieder- and Ober-Danau (formerly N. and O-Österreich); Kärnten; Salzburg; Steiermark; and Tirol-Vorarlberg. The above are seven of the ancient Länder, the Gau of Wien having been cut out of Nieder-Danau; modern re-arrangement has divided the eight Provinzenland - between Nieder-Danau and Steiermark.

Police Administration, at all the above-mentioned administrative levels; archives in offices concerned.

Town Administration, ancient and modern 'Stadterchiv'; generally in Rathaus in every town of importance.

Nazi Party Administration, through Head Offices (in Vienna and elsewhere), Chief District Offices ('Gau') and District H.Q. of 'Hitler Jugend', 'S.S.' etc.

Semi-Public Administration, i.e. that of Institutions which, though private in origin, do work of a public character; such as Universities and Educational or Charitable Institutes, great Banks and Insurance Companies, Public Utility Companies and large Industrial Concerns. Archives normally preserved at Head Offices.

Private Administration whether by Individuals or Bodies; archives most frequently listed here are those of Families possessing or having once possessed large estates and considerable control of local government; generally preserved at Family Seat ('Schloss').

Church Administration: Higher Authorities both Roman Catholic and of Lutheran and other Protestant Commissions: archives preserved at Seats of Dioceses and of 'Landeskirchen'; also in Cathedral Chapters and important Monasteries of which Austria should contain still a considerable number. Also archives at a few Jewish Centres.

4. Important Archives not set out individually in the List.

(a) LOWER COURTS OF LAW ('ALTSCHERICHTE'): known under Austrian organisation as 'Bezirksgerichte'. Their archives include, besides Court Records, those of the Land Registry ('Grundbuche') and the Registers of Cooperatives ('Genossenschaftsregister'), Merchants, Firms etc. ('Wandelerregister') and Non-Profit Associations ('Vereinsregister').

(b) LOWER DIVISIONS OF LOCAL ADMINISTRATION, Rural and Urban ('Landgemeinden' and 'Stadtegemeinden'). Besides the archives of ordinary District Administration kept at the office of the Landrat or Oberbürgermeister, the Stadttraktat or the Chief Town of a Landkreis will contain the Land Survey ('Katasteramt') and Police H.Q.; and

(b) LOWER DIVISIONS OF LOCAL ADMINISTRATION, Rural and Urban ('Landgemeinden' and 'Stadtkreise'). Besides the archives of ordinary District Administration kept at the office of the Landrat or Oberbürgermeister, the Stadtrats or the Chief Town or Landkreis will contain the Land Survey ('Katasteramt') and Police H.Q.; and normally the Local Offices and Registers of Finance and Taxation ('Finanzamt', 'Kämmerei', 'Rechnungsamt'), Food Administration ('Ernährungsamt'), Price Administration, Labour Administration ('Arbeitsamt'), Births, Deaths and Marriages ('Standesamt'), Voters ('Wahlamt'), and Social Insurance ('Wohlfahrtsamt') all of considerable immediate importance.

(c) NAZI PARTY ORGANISATIONS, whose archives will normally be found in the Party Offices of 'GAU', 'KREIS', or 'GEMEINDE'. Examples are: - N.S. People's Welfare Organisation ('N.S. Volkswohlfahrt'); Winter Help Organisation ('Winterhilfswerk'); Central Office for War Victims ('Hilfsamt für Kriegsgefangene'); N.S. Motor Corps ('NSKK') and N.S. Flying Corps ('NSFK'),

- 13 -

5. Archives too numerous to be listed

Note particularly the possible importance of those of

(a) smaller Towns or Gemeinden and Parishes ('Gemeinden'); which include the Registers of Births, Marriages and Deaths, both Civil and Ecclesiastical;

(b) the smaller Local Offices of Food and Labour Registration; of Police, where will be found important personal Records ('Meldscheine', 'Volkskartei', and 'Kennkarte'); and of the Post, Finance (Finanzen), and other divisions of Government;

(c) all Notaries: whose collections cover the Records of Private Contracts and Business of all kinds and go back in some cases to very early dates;

(d) Branch Offices of Reichsbank and Head Offices of other Banks; and

(e) any considerable Commercial or Industrial Organisations.

6. Archives evacuated or destroyed.

It is to be expected that the information as to addresses furnished by this List may in many cases have been rendered incorrect by military operations: but two points are particularly to be noted.

(a) It is not to be assumed because a building is in ruins that the archives stored in it (possibly in a specially protected room or safe, possibly even without that precaution) may not be intact beneath the debris.

(b) Any information which can be obtained from Local Officials etc. in regard to Listed archives which have been evacuated in whole or in part, or copied of which have been deposited elsewhere, may be most valuable.
