1. The recent increase in the number of offenses involving fraud and dishonesty by officers is causing serious concern. Many officers now-a-days are faced with considerable temptation owing to the opportunities which exist for making large sums of money by dishonest means. Owing to the dislocation in administration caused by war it is sometimes difficult for an adequate degree of supervision to be exercised. Also many cases of seriously lost or deliberately falsified accounts are now coming to light for the first time when the officers responsible for them are landing over preliminary to going on release.

2. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that an officer in the Army is in a position of trust, and a officer who is guilty of an offence involving fraud or dishonesty deserves a heavier punishment than a soldier convicted of a similar offence, since he has abused in a greater degree the particular trust placed upon him and has also in many cases discredited the Service in the eyes of the civil population. These offences are criminal, and courts martial will have to deal with them when considering sentences that a purely military punishment such as cashiering or dismissal may be quite inadequate to meet the case. An officer who is tempted to commit a fraud such as selling, or illegally disposing of Government property, or falsifying accounts, should realize that he is making himself liable to a long term of Penal Servitude or Imprisonment, which may wreck the whole of his future life.

3. Commanding Officers will bear in mind the increased opportunities for fraud which now exist and insist on a tighter supervision of Government property and accounts. Before signing a clearance certificate for an officer going on release they will carry out adequate investigations and if any illegal transaction are brought to light they will hold the officer concerned for enquiry and apply immediately for his discharge on disciplinary grounds.

It is directed that this letter be brought to the

Owing to the dislocation in administration caused by release it is sometimes difficult for an adequate degree of supervision to be exercised. 2. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that an officer in the Army is in a position of trust, and an officer who is guilty of an offense involving fraud or dishonesty deserves a heavier punishment than a soldier convicted of a similar offense, since he has assumed a greater degree of the particular trust placed upon him and has also in any case discredited the Service in the eyes of the civil population. Cases of crimes are criminal, not only to the officer himself but also to the Government, for that a purely military punishment such as cashiering or dismissal may be quite inadequate to meet the case.
