MEMORANDUM

Signal Communications within Italian Government Territory

1. In conjunction with (a) Communications S/C A.C. (b) The Italian Posts & Telegraph Department (c) The Military Mission to the Italian Army (d) The Italian State Railways and (e) The Italian Min of Marine, the following are the alternative methods of signal communication at present available within Italian Government Territory.

(a) Italian Posts & Telegraph Department (civil)

Full telegraph facilities are available between all Ports and Rome with the following exceptions:-

Fiumicino : has no telegraph facilities, but has a public telephone to Rome.

LIVORNO, Rimini and Ravenna : Facilities at present not permitted by AFHQ to Italians.

Fiombino : Line exists but service is permitted to the Italian Navy only in connection with the operation of the Port. Arrangements can be made with the Italian Navy for its use.

Ortona: Entirely controlled by the military. There are no civil facilities. Permission could probably be obtained locally to use the military line to Pescara, and dictate telegrams to the Italian Telegraph Office at Pescara. Should not take more than five hours.

Senigallia, Fano, Pesaro: No facilities at present. Should be in about six weeks time. Permission might be obtained locally to make special calls via military system to Ancona and dictate telegrams to the Italian Telegraph Office at Ancona. Should not take more than five hours.

(b) The Italian Army Network

Teleprinter communication available only South of Rome to Naples and Bari with further extensions to Palermo & Brindisi no wireless communication available.

all Ports and Rome with the following exceptions:

Tivulino: has no telegraph facilities, but has a public telephone to Rome.

LIVORNO, Rimini and Ravenna: Facilities at present not permitted by APHQ to Italians.

Fiombino: Line exists but service is permitted to the Italian Navy only in connection with the operation of the port.

Arrangements can be made with the Italian Navy for its use.

(b) The Italian Army Network

Teleprinter communication available only South of Rome to Naples and Bari with further extensions to Palermo & Brindisi no wireless communication available.

(c) The Italian State Railways

Complete network of communication ^{South} of Rome (appendix "A" attached) In addition already working to capacity with Rail Division and M.R.S. traffic.

(d) The Italian Ministry of Marine Network

Complete network of communication between Ports

as per [unclear]

and a central office in Rome as per attached diagram (appendix "B" attached).

2. Of the above methods of communication, in view of the security can placed on shipping information being passed over open lines by both G (Intell) AMHQ and C. in C. Med., this rules out (a) the Italian Ports & Telegraph, (b) the Italian Army and (c) the I.S.B. network as a means of transmitting daily port working information.

The Italian Ministry of Marine network (p) would appear to cover our requirements, provided that an Italian cypher be accepted by C in C (Med). It is confirmed by Gen. Matteini that he will undertake to introduce a code in as much that shipping information if required to be passed over any of the Ministry of Marine network in clear, will not constitute any breach of security. In addition, he has the staff to form a central "Sitrep Centre" in Rome, which will be responsible for collecting, de-cyphering, and delivering the daily shipping information.
